Russia Refuses to Pay a Cent for Indemnity, but Is Willing to Cede Part of the Captured Island.

MUST NOT BE FORTIFIED.

President Roosevelt Expected to Plead with Mikado to Make Concessions in Regard to Money Demanded.

BY JOHN CALLAN O'LAUGHLIN.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's pressure upon Russia and Japan has been productive of results which were considered impossible a few days ago.

The conference will not break up tomorrow. Russia will not submit a categorical refusal to the demands of the Japanese. On the other hand, M. de Witte, speaking in the name of his government, will give an answer to the Japanese proposal for the repurchase by Russia of the northern half of Sakhalin island, in about these words:

Russia will not make any contribution, direct or indirect, to the treasury of Japan.

Russia appreciates that Japanese troops are partially in occupation of the island of Sakhalin. She will recognize this situation and the right of Japan to profit by it by agreeing to cede the southern portion to the government of the mikado. In other words, she will agree to return to the condition which existed in 1875, provided neither country fortifies.

The various commercial, industrial, and mining rights which Japan desires in the island will be granted also, but not one cent of cash will be paid to Japan.

It is hardly necessary to point out the immense importance of this decision of the Russian government.

Due to Roosevelt's Move.

There is always the possibility, of course, that it may be modified before the conference, but this is hard to believe in view of the fact that it was taken after the audience which Mr. Meyer, the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, had with the czar. Had the president not interested himself with the energy and adroitness which has characterized his entire handling of the peace negotiations the conferences would by now have been at an end. M. de Witte continues to speak of his lack of plenipotentiary powers, and this indeed is the case. He has been unable to take one step, to make the slightest advance by his own volition, since his rejection of the preliminary demands of Japan on last Friday.

It is extremely difficult to ascertain the reasons which have prompted the Russian government to make this important concession. Only the fact is known here. The collateral information which is in the possession of M. de Witte and Baron Rosen indicates that the czar, in order that he might prove to the world the sincerity of his desire to comply with the universal wish for peace, decided to give way in connection with the question of territory.

Russians Slowly Giving Way.

Since some days—from the time, in fact, that Japan showed a purpose to bargain over Sakhalin—there has been a notable insusposition on the part of the Russian mission to insist upon the retention of the entire island. There is no recanting, even now, of the opinions expressed in regard to its strategical value. But it is sought to make the territory harmless in a military point of view by requiring Japan not to fortify the section which Russia is willing to cede to her.

Russia is prepared to make a like declaration in regard to the northern half.

There is no doubt as to the action Japan will take upon Russia's proposal. In fact, it would not be surprising should it develop that Tokio has already been informed of it. From Ambassador Meyer the president, of course, learned of the czar's reluctant consent to make another concession. He arranged to see Baron Kaneko today. From Oyster Bay dispatches have come announcing that the Japanese confidential agent called upon the president. What the president said has been communicated to the Japanese mission, but the plenipotentiaries refuse to say what it is.

Roosevelt Pressure on Japan.

Nevertheless, there is reason to believe that the president, having pressed Russia to go a little farther in order to come to an agreement with Japan, is now working earnestly to induce Japan to make as great an advance.

It will be a miracle the president will perform if he induces the Tokio authorities to surrender a part of Sakhalin without payment therefor. Japan has considered the island a means of bargaining for cash ever since its occupation. It was understood in Tokio when Rojestvensky's fleet was destroyed that peace pourparlers would immediately be initiated. While the president was arranging the preliminaries of the negotiations, Japan sent an expedition to Sakhalin and effected the conquest of the island, the completeness of which, however, is denied by the Russians. Russia had declared there was no precedent in history for the payment of an indemnity by a nation whose soil was not occupied, and Japan took the territory easiest to conquer, an island, which could be defended only by a fleet.

Japs Didn't Want Island.

The Russians have suspected that Japan did not mean to retain Sakhalin; that she wanted money, and that she would retire from the Russian possession if given a cash equivalent. The Japanese proposal for the partition of the island confirmed their suspicion, and undoubtedly this has had much to do with the decision of St. Petersburg to consent to divide the territory, but to refuse to pay money.

Mr. Sato, the spokesman of the Japanese mission, tonight said that Japan would make a reply to the Russian proposal. If the mikado's envoys negotiate further it will show that talking for publication is as much of a diplomatic game as anything else, because the Japanese proposal regarding the repurchase of Sakhalin was described, after its presentation, as an ultimatum. There is, as a matter of fact, no final limit to the concession either side may make. It all depends upon the pressure which the president and the heads of other neutral states exert.

M. de Witte was shown tonight a report from St. Petersburg that an agreement in principle had been reached with the Japanese, upon all points save that of money. He declared in the strongest language that the report was untrue and that it was made upon the same authority as the statement

RUINS HIS CAREER TO SAVE A WOMAN'S

University Student Confesses Burglary to Shield Name of Person He Had Compromised.

THREE YEARS IN STRIPES.

Husband Now Dead, His Widow, Who Has Suffered Agonies of Mind, Wants Prisoner Pardoned.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—That a young man of fine family and a student in a large American university deliberately confessed a burglary which he did not commit and willingly went to Sing Sing prison in order to protect the name of a married woman of equally high social standing whom he had compromised in the eyes of her husband is the amazing tale of self-sacrifice told today by Carl Fischer-Hansen, a wealthy young lawyer and philanthropist who does a good deal of work among the prisoners about the Criminal Courts building.

The woman's husband now being dead she wishes to have the wrong righted, and confesses to having been in an agony of mind ever since the incident happened.

It further is stated that the woman, who is said to belong to one of the oldest families in the city, has been compelled to submit to blackmail to the extent of $86,000 on the part of an old servant who knew the true circumstances.

Lawyer Hansen refuses to divulge any names until he has thoroughly investigated the story. The erring wife is now at Narragansett Pier, it is said. She is described as an earnest church worker.

Widow Appeals to Lawyer.

"Last Wednesday," said Mr. Fischer-Hansen, "a handsome widow came down to my office and asked to be shown into the library, where no one but myself would see her. She then told me the following extraordinary story. I cannot tell you her name, but you certainly would know it if I did. She does not belong to the smart set, but comes from one of the best old families of New York, her late husband, though living in Manhattan, owned several large factories in New Jersey. She is handsome, does not look more than 25, though she probably is, and has a child.

"She told me that a young man, while not prominent in a business way, had good social standing and was calling on her. Her husband was not aware of the fact that friendship existed between them. Neither wanted the husband to know it. The husband did not know the man. The husband came home unexpectedly and his appearance created considerable confusion, in the midst of which the man arose to the situation. He assumed a rough manner when asked by the husband what he was doing there. He said he was a burglar, that he had forced an entrance to the apartment, and that he was willing to take his medicine. He gave an assumed name to the husband and a fictitious address.

"A hurry call for the police was sent over the telephone by the husband and the man made no attempt to escape. All this happened before the wife could say or do anything. She was in such a quandary that she did not know what to do, so she blindly followed the lead of the supposed burglar.

Pleads Guilty to Burglary.

"There was prompt response by the police and the man was marched around to the police station. He was arraigned the next day in the police court. He pleaded guilty to the charge of attempted burglary. The husband was complainant and the woman was the chief witness against him.

"No time was lost in placing the matter before the grand jury, which found an indictment against him. He was arraigned in the Court of General Sessions, where he again pleaded guilty. The secret of his identity was not disclosed in any of the proceedings, and his name is not known to the prison authorities today.

"At his own request judgment was pronounced by the court without the loss of a minute. He was sentenced to three years in Sing Sing. Without a word he turned, went back to his cell in the Tombs, packed up a few belongings, and that night wore a striped suit in Sing Sing prison. His friends wondered what had become of him and thought he had gone on a vacation trip without saying anything to them about it. Later they wondered that nothing had been heard of him.

"The woman now wishes to save the young man from the disgrace and punishment under which he is suffering, and came to me to ask me to try to get a pardon from Gov. Higgins."

Woman Much Agitated.

Asked for more details of the story, the lawyer declared it was impossible to give them.

"The woman," he said, "was much agitated. She is on the verge of a nervous breakdown, and it will be necessary to be cautious in these matters. She is coming back to see me on Monday with a written statement. Then I shall be able to speak more certainly about the matter."

"You call the prisoner a boy?"

"Well, he is not old. It is a curious coincidence that a student disappeared from one of the colleges just at the time he was tried—no, I won't tell you whether it was Harvard, Yale, or Princeton—and no one ever will know what became of him. He has the same social rank as the widow, but you would not know his name."

"Will there be a new trial?"

"There may be on the ground of new evidence. The governor is in Europe just now, and I must be more sure of my facts before I act.

Pays $86,000 Blackmail.

"When I have seen the boy and have the woman's statement, I shall know better what to think of it. But the worst of the matter is she has been subjected to heavy blackmail, and she declares she never has had a night's sleep since. When I tell you she had to pay no less than $86,000 to some old servant of hers, who knew something about the facts, you will understand how serious the business is."

"I will do anything," she said to Hansen, "and suffer any disgrace if you will only petition the governor to pardon this man, who suffered all this humiliation to save my honor. I couldn't confess then, but now that my husband is dead, I am willing to do anything to have him pardoned."

Attorney Hansen reiterated his belief that the woman's story is true in every detail. He said he certainly would petition Gov. Higgins to pardon the young man who gave such a remarkable example of this rare quality of self-sacrifice in order to shield a woman's honor.

THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE.

A Hard Combination to Beat.

CHEAPER INSURANCE COMING.

Levi P. Morton, Bishop Potter, and Vanderbilts in New Company.

EQUITABLE HEADS CONFESS.

Admit Many of the Charges of Mismanagement in Company.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Details of plans for the formation of a new life insurance company, obtained today simultaneously with the admission by the Equitable's counsel that its individual officers were guilty of the charges made by the attorney general in his suit to compel restitution, caused much talk in the financial district.

It was learned that $3,000,000 already has been subscribed toward the formation of the new company and the names of Levi P. Morton, Bishop Henry C. Potter, Alfred G. Vanderbilt, and W. K. Vanderbilt were mentioned as some of those who are largely interested in the enterprise.

The organization of the company, it was learned, has been placed in the hands of O. P. Dorman, who has charge of the corporation department of the Mutual Life, with offices at 398 Broadway.

It is planned to sell nonparticipating policies and to make the cash value of these policies practically the full reserve.

Equitable Heads Admit Charges.

Forty-nine directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, accused by the state of alleged wrong doing in connection with the management of the society, today answered thirteen of these charges. Many of the charges were admitted unreservedly; others were admitted, with reservations, and still others were alleged to have concerned deals not known to the entire directorate, but carried out by individual directors who are said to have profited thereby.

Some officials, the directors say, were guilty of improper acts, among which was the Depew Improvement Investment company loan of $250,000. The directors waived the responsibility for this, and indicate Alexander, Jordan, and Deming as having the most intimate knowledge of the loan.

The forty-nine directors joined with the state asking a complete investigation in court of the Equitable's alleged wrong doing.

The charge that excessive salaries were paid is not directly answered, but admission is made that under the guise of salaries excessive fees were given to certain officials who were directors in other companies. In defense the answer states that these practices were not known to the whole board of directors.

Admit Inadequate Rental Received.

The first charge specifically answered is that premises on Broadway were let at inadequate rental to the Mercantile Safe Deposit company. This is admitted. But it is denied that at the time this lease was made James H. Hyde, James W. Alexander, William Alexander, Gage E. Tarbell, Valentine P. Snyder, Thomas D. Jordan, Charles B. Alexander, Henry R. Winthrop, Alvin W. Kretch, and William H. McIntyre were stockholders and directors in the Mercantile Safe Deposit company.

With certain reservations, admission is then made that the capital stock of the Missouri Safe Deposit company was acquired by the Equitable society, which paid $250 a share for shares of a par value of $100, but that the alleged purchases were never made known to the whole board of directors.

As to excessive and unwarranted loans to agents, the reply admits that they were made. Instances are mentioned in which the advances to agents are necessary and proper within reasonable limits.

The consolidation of the Western National bank of New York City with the National Bank of the United States of New York, by which a money loss resulted to the Equitable society and a profit to some of its directors, is also admitted, but the responsibility for these losses is divided among those individual defendants who "directly participated in or had knowledge of the transactions."

The table of alleged improper salaries to Equitable officers, which was embodied in the state's charges, is declared to be a true statement of the figures.

Pensions and Fat Fees Admitted.

Admissions are made on the subject of pensions and to the charges that money, under the guise of fees, was received by directors and stockholders who were simultaneously officers of other corporations. The reply states:

"Many of these defendants were ignorant of said transactions, which were not of a character necessarily known to the whole board of directors. Some of said pensions were justifiable, others excessive, and some improper."

Denial is next made of any knowledge or information sufficient to form a belief concerning the payment of attorneys' fees which were disproportionate to the services rendered.

Taking up the $685,000 loan of the Mercantile Trust company, an admission of its existence is made, but the directors deny that they improperly permitted this transaction, and say:

"These transactions never came before this defendant's board of directors, and were known only to the defendants, James W. Alexander, Thomas D. Jordan, Henry C. Deming, and perhaps to a few others of the individual defendants.

On Books, but Unintelligible.

"As this defendant is informed that there are certain entries in some of its books which do relate to these transactions, but are obscure and unintelligible, this defendant denies that it became bound to pay to the Mercantile Trust company $685,000 or any part thereof."

Finally admission of the payment of this $685,000 to the Mercantile Trust company on July 14 last, after the trust company had asserted a claim against the Equitable.

The directors announced that an examination of all facts in connection with the Depew Improvement company is now being prosecuted with a view to recovering any sums that may be found due to the Equitable society.

Charges of the existence of excessive deposits in the twenty-two banks are admitted, but the admission is restricted to those directors and officers who actually had charge of or knowledge of these transactions.

Don't Know Rights Regarding Surplus.

The same restricted admission is made concerning the officers of the American Deposit and Loan company, organized for lending money to policy holders upon policies held in the Equitable.

The $10,000,000 surplus is the final item, and in substance their reply is that they do not know what their rights are and that they are willing to leave this matter to the courts.

EVEN THE REBELS IN CRETE WHIP THE RUSSIAN TROOPS.

Insurgents on Mediterranean Island Defeat Czar's Soldiers Sent to Help Keep Order.

CANEA, Island of Crete, Aug. 25.—The Russian troops sent here to assist forces of England, Italy, and France in preserving the status quo have been defeated by the insurgents. Twenty of the Russian soldiers were killed, the rebels losing only six.

KILL 38 JEWS FOR REVENGE.

Cossacks Slay Innocent Persons to Pay for Bomb Throwing.

NO PUNISHMENT METED OUT.

Government Condones Bialostok Massacre—Tales of Revolting Cruelty.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

LONDON, Aug. 26, 3 a. m.—Details of the massacre of Jews at Bialistok on Aug. 12 have just reached London in mail advices.

Thirty-eight were killed and 137 wounded by soldiers, who raided the Jewish quarters to take revenge for a bomb outrage in which three soldiers were killed.

The massacre was as appalling as the one at Kisheneff two years ago, although at Bialistok the populace stood by and watched the soldiers do the killing, while at Kisheneff the soldiers were the spectators.

Jewish Plo. Precipitated Crisis.

Bialstok is a city of 65,000 persons on the railway from Warsaw to Odessa. There are 15,000 Jews among the inhabitants. The town is an important military garrison.

The trouble began in the last week in August, during a strike, in which Jewish workingmen were brutally treated by the police, aided by the troops.

At a secret meeting of Jewish socialists three men were designated to secure revenge upon the soldiery.

As the result of the plot an unknown man threw a bomb from a crowd which a detachment of troops was dispersing on the afternoon of Aug. 12. Three soldiers were killed by the explosion and several injured.

Shoot at Crowds Indiscriminately.

The soldiers raised the cry of "Death to the Jews," and a general move was made for the Jewish quarter of the city.

Several vodka shops were raided and the soldiers, inflamed with liquor, marched through the streets, shooting at Jewish men, women, and children indiscriminately.

Jewish houses were broken into, the inmates killed or slashed with knives, the furniture smashed, feather beds ripped open, and filth from the gutters thrown through the broken windows.

The savagery of the drunken soldiers was without parallel.

A little Jewish girl, 11 or 12 years old, was shot down in front of her father's home. As she lay dying in the street, a soldier stamped upon her chest with his heavy boots while others slashed her body with sabers and bayonets.

Scenes of Revolting Cruelty.

An old man, 75 years old, was shot while coming out of the synagogue.

A woman, standing in the doorway of her own home, was stabbed in the breast with a bayonet. A doctor who arrived to dress her wounds was beaten by the soldiers.

Another old man, nearly 80 years old, was attacked in the street. The soldiers pulled out his beard and then killed him.

The young son of a merchant was severely wounded by a bullet through his abdomen. The surgeon brought by his father was prevented from attending the wounded youth. On his persisting the doctor was attacked by the soldiers and driven away.

Two Jews were discovered carrying a wounded man to his home. The soldiers killed one of them and wounded the other.

In nearly every case the dead were slashed with bayonets as they lay in the streets. It is admitted that the soldiers were drunk; but so far no steps have been taken to punish them.

PRESIDENT UNDER SEA 50 MINUTES.

Roosevelt Goes Down in Submarine Plunger and Cruises About Long Island Sound.

PILOTS VESSEL HIMSELF.

Remains in the Boat Three Hours and Manifests the Greatest Interest in Its Workings.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt could not resist the temptation of going down in the submarine Plunger, and today, after he was assured by Lieut. Nelson that all secrecy would be observed, he boarded the vessel and made the trip, remaining submerged once fifty minutes.

The president had not intended to make the experiment. After it was first announced that the Plunger was being prepared here he said he believed he would not go down. Jacob A. Riis said he had lain awake nights worrying about it. Mr. Roosevelt told him not to worry, as he had no intention of making the descent.

But Lieut. Nelson, who lunched with the president yesterday, is enthusiastic on the submarine, especially where the Plunger is concerned. An early intimation that the president might wish to make the descent and realize an ambition dating back to the days when he was a reader of Jules Verne stuck in the young commander's mind, and he did all that in him lay to induce the president to do so now. Mr. Roosevelt, however, according to Lieut. Nelson's statement, gave him no assurance he would make the trial.

Today the dawn broke gray and gusty, a thick rain kept falling from the leaden sky, and a brisk northeaster kept lashing the bay. In short, it was the kind of day the president likes to be out.

Couldn't Withstand Temptation.

Now, day before yesterday Mrs. Roosevelt had observed the plungings of the Plunger from the Sylph's launch. So easily and dextrously did Lieut. Nelson and his crew of eleven men on that occasion handle the boat that she was convinced of the utter safety of the thing. That was exactly what the president desired. Today he notified Lieut. Nelson that he had decided to go down.

The Sylph's fast launch Dart took the president in his rainy day clothes from the J. West Roosevelt pier and put him aboard the Plunger. Then the submarine with the naval tug Apache as a tender left its anchorage opposite the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club and proceeded to the point where Oyster Bay harbor joins Long Island sound.

At that point the depth varies between thirty and forty feet, and there it was decided to submerge the boat. In the conning tower is a set of buttons which absolutely control the movements of the little diver. Lieut. Nelson explained all these buttons to the president, who, under the commander's guidance, pressed the proper one and the boat slowly sank until it rested on the sandy bottom.

Put Through Various Evolutions.

Then Lieut. Nelson began to put the Plunger through its paces. He sent it scudding through the water at various depths in various directions and at varying rates of speed.

The Plunger then would be brought almost to the surface, then made to dive about twenty feet, then swiftly the engine would be reversed, and the boat would return to the surface without any perceptible stop.

One stunt that greatly impressed the president was what is called porpoise diving. This comprises coming up to the surface for barely five or six seconds, just long enough to enable the man in command to sight any warship either through the periscope or in the ordinary way, then dive down again at once.

That particular performance, more than any other, pleased the president, and it was repeated several times.

Steering Gear About Perfect.

Another thing the Plunger did was this: Several times it dived to a depth of about twenty feet and by manipulation of the steering gear turned completely around, going in the opposite direction in exactly one minute. The gear of the Plunger is almost perfect. It turned three times its own length.

The process of suspending the boat at a certain depth and keeping it stationary there also interested the president. The boat was suspended in this manner, the engines stopped, and the boat sunk to the requisite distance. There it hung motionless for any time desired. This was done to show how the submarine can be kept motionless for hours at a time submerged, waiting for the blockading squadron that is passing and repassing a given point.

Throughout all these maneuvers the president pressed the buttons and handled the levers, enjoying the experience greatly. One of the jackies said he pressed the button which discharged the torpedo that the Plunger carriers, but this could not be confirmed.

Worked Perfectly in Night.

At one time Lieut. Nelson suddenly put all the lights out by pressure of a button. But he did not stop with that. He went on pressing buttons and giving commands. And so thoroughly was the crew familiar with every detail of the work, and so securely grounded was every one in his duties that they worked the boat perfectly in abysmal darkness.

By the time the boat had gone through all these evolutions it had been submerged for nearly an hour. It came to the surface and finally the president again breathed the salt air of the choppy bay. It was pitch dark by that time. He told the lieutenant he was tremendously impressed by the experience he had gone through.

Never for a moment did he feel, he said, the slightest sensation of danger. It had been merely a thrilling and pleasant experience. The Plunger proceeded swiftly back to the place of anchorage under its own power. The rain had ceased when the president stepped back into the Sylph's launch Dart.

Even Forgot Peace Conference.

He expressed himself as highly pleased at his experience. For three hours he had forgotten all about the peace conference at Portsmouth, the deadlock, and all the grave matters of state that have engaged him of late. He returned home to dinner with a hearty appetite.

Late this evening the fact that the president made the descent was announced officially.

It also was announced that tomorrow, shortly after 9 o'clock, the public tests of the Plunger will take place at the same place. The president and his family will watch the tests from the deck of the Sylph.

SEVEN AGED MEN TELL OF GRAFTING

Sweepers Testify in Inquiry Into Twenty-sixth Ward Street Cleaning.

CITY'S DIRT DISPOSED OF.

All the Witnesses Accuse the Superintendent and His Assistants.

Seven veteran street sweepers told of systematic graft in the street cleaning department of the Twenty-sixth ward at the civil service commission hearing yesterday afternoon. Another incident of the day was the filing of charges against Nicholas E. Murray, chief sidewalk inspector.

The use of city material and labor for private purposes, the sale of dirt collected from the streets, and the stuffing of the pay roll of the ward formed the substance of the testimony of the seven old men, and each corroborated the story of his comrades. Their testimony accused Felix Mitchell, superintendent; Joseph Kennedy, assistant superintendent; and Moses Levis, foreman, of the ward street cleaning, of muleting the city, and they told freely of the conditions which existed.

Eager to Tell of Wrongdoing.

Louis Falk, 1894 North Leavitt street, was the principal spokesman of the seven veterans. He was the brightest and the most active of the lot, and he was eager to explain the wrongdoing he asserts he witnessed. He told how Levis in a burst of confidence had shown him money collected from property owners and contractors for the sale of the city's dirt, and how he has been forced to work for Kennedy while the city paid for his time. With every declaration he made he said: "We watched; we saw it all."

"They sell dirt to any one who wants to buy," Falk told the civil service commission in response to the questioning of Frank X. Busch, attorney for the board. "I helped unload the dirt. Levis once showed me $260 he got for filling a lot at Lawrence and Western avenues and $40 more that he wouldn't tell me where it come from. This all was within two weeks. Mitchell and Kennedy would go around in a buggy and see where lots were to be filled."

Testimony Pleases the Old Men.

Here the other old men stroked their beards and laughed as the secrets were disclosed.

"They took the planks that belonged to the city and I had to build fences for Kennedy and fix up the barn. And all the time Kennedy paid me nothing. But the city paid for it," continued Falk. "Everything the city paid for. They took the blocks and the wood and piled it on wagons to take downtown and sell. Those wagons cost the city $4.50 a day. O, I can tell you lots of things. I put lots in the book."

James H. Colby told how the ward officials had received $10 for moving a fruit stand with the city's wagons and employes.

Albert Teska, 507 Roscoe street, testified that 600 loads of dirt had been sold to fill a lot at Perry street and Sunnyside avenue, and Frederick Schmidt, a druggist at Roscoe boulevard and Robey street, had purchased twenty-five loads of the sweepings. The prices charged varied from 25 cents to 35 cents, and one woman was asked to pay $1 a load, it was said. Joseph Simer, Joseph Becker, Michael Schettler, and Henry Rutz gave similar testimony.

Sidewalk Inspector Under Fire.

Three prominent city employes may be involved as the result of an investigation of charges against Nicholas E. Murray, 2006 Jackson boulevard, chief sidewalk inspector of the board of local improvements. The accusation was made to the civil service commission that he is heavily interested in a corporation capitalized at $100,000, and called the White Brass Casting company, and that he has used his position with the city to induce sidewalk contractors and others with whom he comes in contact in his official position to purchase stock in the company.

BOYS' TRAVELS ARE CUT SHORT

Two Brothers Found Asleep in Box Car on Their Way "to See Grandma."

Two small boys were found fast asleep on top of a box car at Pine, Ind., last night. Depot Agent George Sayres saw four little feet sticking over the edge of a car as a freight train pulled into the sidetrack, and found the children. For a time their only explanation was that they were "going to see grandma."

Sayres telegraphed to the Chicago police and found that they were Jesse and Willie Hough, the 6 and 7 year old sons of John Hough, 612 West Forty-fifth place. The father went to Pine to bring them back.

Alexander Rynowitz, 12 years old, was reported to the police as missing from his father's house at 733 West Eighteenth street.

Emanuel Johnson, 15 years old, came into the Harrison street police station in the evening and asked for shelter and food. He said he had come from Duluth, Minn., in a freight car.

NOTE TELLS OF TWO DROWNING

Missive Found in Bottle in Lake Causes Life Saving Crews to Search for Bodies.

Search is being made by the life saving crews of South Chicago and Jackson park for the bodies of two men who are thought to have perished in the lake Thursday night off the foot of Seventy-fifth street. The following note was found in a bottle at the Seventy-fifth street pier last evening:

"Farewell to all. We are lost. Notify our folks in Whiting. Axel and Charles Johnson, Whiting, Ind."

The police at Whiting were told of the case. It is thought by the police that the missive may have been written as a hoax.

A letter in which the writer, Theodore Smith, said he was going to end his life in Lake Michigan was found in Lincoln Park in the afternoon.

FORGES AN ORDER FOR WHISKY.

Negro Uses Young Woman's Name in Trying to Get Liquor at Drug Stores.

Because some one signed Miss Susan Hitchcock's name to an order for a quart of whisky, the police are looking for a negro they intend to charge with trying to obtain liquor under false pretenses.

The order was presented at Miss Margaret Isgrig's drug store, 144 Park avenue, Austin. The clerk was suspicious and used the telephone. Miss Hitchcock, who lives at 5704 Ontario street, said she wanted no whisky. The negro faded away.

The same negro went into another drug store belonging to Miss Isgrig at 1001 Lake street, Oak Park, where he presented an order bearing the name "Edward H. Pitkin, 234 East avenue, Oak Park."

SCOUTS JOHANN HOCH'S HOPES.

Prosecutor Lindley Says Bigamy Charges Will Be Pressed if Prisoner Escapes the Gallows.

The contentions of Johann Hoch and his lawyers that he cannot be tried on the bigamy charges because those cases have not been called within four terms of court are derided by Assistant State's Attorney Lindley.

"Hoch cannot take advantage of the four term law, because he did not ask for or demand a trial on the bigamy charges," Mr. Lindley said. "Furthermore Hoch was in jail for murder, a charge which is not bailable, and for this reason alone he cannot escape prosecution on the bigamy charges.

"We are convinced that Hoch will expiate his crime of murder on the gallows. His guilt has been established clearly."

Woman Who Knocked Down Masher Wants Society for Suppression of Ilk.

MRS. FRANK J. GILBERT

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. Frank Gilbert, who punched a masher into insensibility on a Euclid beach car Wednesday night, favors the organization of a society for the suppression and annihilation of mashers. "Such a society," said Mrs. Gilbert today, "would be for women only. They could meet, say, once every two weeks and some authority could give short talks on exercise and self-defense.

"I have taken lessons in boxing, own a set of gloves, and every morning punch a pillow, which I hang from the center of the ceiling as a punching bag. I also walk three miles briskly every day. I used but little science on that fellow Wednesday night. I did not need to. I just hit quick and hard. A woman, to protect herself from mashers, does not need to be a scientific boxer, but she must have muscle enough to hit a blow that will hurt."

READY TO FORCE STRIKE.

EMPLOYING JOB PRINTERS SET MONDAY FOR ACTION.

"Open Shop" Notices Are to Be Posted in Ten of the Largest Establishments, Thus Opening the War Over the Eight Hour Workday—Both Sides Long Prepared for the Struggle — Nonunion Compositors Trained to Take Places Vacated.

The eight hour day struggle between the printers and their employers in the book and job shops of Chicago will begin Monday morning at the latest. It may start today. It will begin with the posting on Monday in ten of the largest establishments in Chicago in the typothetæ membership of "open shop" notices.

This will lead at once to the strike of the union printers, according to the leaders in the Chicago Typographical union No. 16. These men have said that they will not work with nonunion men. The walkout of the pressmen also may follow, although this is not at all certain.

As rapidly as the printers leave the shops the employers will seek to place nonunion compositors in their place. The typothetæ members have had a school for typesetters in operation for months, preparing for the struggle. It is believed enough compositors will be available to keep the affected shops going.

When these first shops have recovered from the effects of the initial walkout, as they expect they will before many months, the others will follow their course until all have inaugurated the new system.

Employer Tells of Situation.

"The notices will be posted in ten of the largest printing establishments in Chicago Monday morning," one of the leaders in the Chicago Typothetæ said last evening. "These shops employ more than half of the 600 printers who will be affected by the fight. We will declare for the right to hire whom we will and without regard for union affiliations. Our shops will continue to run on the existing nine hour basis. Wages will not be changed.

"I do not expect trouble with the other printing trades. We have an open shop agreement with the pressmen. If the stereotypers, photo-engravers, and others join, I will be surprised. If they do, we will have to fill their places, that is all.

"We did not start this struggle. It began on the printers' initiative. They demanded that eight hours be the working day in all shops after Jan. 1, 1906, and insisted that agreements to that effect be signed. As we could not agree to this, and the compositors would make no terms with us except on this basis, it was only wisdom on our part to prepare for a fight. We are ready and see no reason for postponing action."

Both Sides Long Ready for Struggle.

The International Typographical union and the National Typothetæ began to get ready for the eight hour day struggle nearly two years ago. The printers started an agitation for the shorter work day. The members soon were given opportunities to vote on the proposition and the returns were strong in favor of the change. This stand has been reaffirmed repeatedly, the latest indorsement coming from the recent convention of the union.

With their decision to ask fewer hours of work the printers began to collect a defense fund. Each member has paid a percentage of his wages until now the total is more than $500,000.

In addition to their training school for printers, the employers have been preparing in other ways. They have strengthened their national organization and have demonstrated their power in tests with the pressmen.

The last agreement between the typothetæ members and the printers expired on July 1. Long before that time conferences were held looking toward an adjudication of the dispute. At times tentative agreements were drawn up, but nothing of a permanent nature has been accomplished.

PEACE MOVE BY GOMPERS.

APPOINTS MAN TO SETTLE CHICAGO FEDERATION STRIFE.

Thomas I. Kidd Is the Chosen Mediator Who Will Hear the Grievances of Both the Dold and Madden Factions, Which, It Is Said, Will Abide by His Decision—Cutters and Trimmers Declare Boycott Against Manufacturing Tailors.

Thomas I. Kidd was yesterday morning appointed by President Gompers as the official representative of the American Federation of Labor to settle the long standing factional disputes which have threatened the disruption of the Chicago central labor body. Immediately after the appointment was made known a harmony meeting was called, and the delegates to the Chicago Federation of Labor, without regard to factions, decided to accept the decision of Kidd.

The call for the "harmony" meeting was drawn up and signed by men who are known to have been neutral in the Dold-Madden fight, then the names of President Dold and Secretary Nockels were added. The names of the men who signed the call are as follows:

John Fitzpatrick,	John Brittan,
John C. Harding,	Charles Dold,
Charles A. Wheeler,	E. N. Nockels,
Barney Berlyn,	Arthur McCrackin.
Thomas Podzimek,

Kidd to Hear Both Sides.

John Brittan presided at last evening's meeting and neither Dold nor Madden was present. It was decided that unless President Dold returns to Chicago by Sunday, Sept. 3, when the decisive meeting of the federation will be held, Kidd will take the chair. He will then listen to the stories of both Dold and Madden adherents and will decide as to the legality of the much disputed election which made Dold president.

Nobody will be barred from the meeting, which will be held at Bricklayers' hall. There will be no policemen, and the delegates will not be questioned as to whether or not they carry concealed weapons. For the first time in many months all of the delegates seemed to be of one mind, that is, that peace is desired, and that the decision of a representative of the national labor body would be accepted.

Boycott by Garment Workers.

The fight between the garment workers and firms belonging to the National Wholesale Tailors' association began in real earnest when, in the morning, the Clothing Cutters and Trimmers' association declared a boycott on the product of the firms belonging to the manufacturers' organization. A circular letter was sent to every retail clothing house handling clothing made by firms belonging to the association, calling attention to what are termed "the anarchistic demands" of the employers.

The letter declared the employers had interfered with the right of a worker to belong to a union, and had insisted on his withdrawal from his union before giving him employment. All union men have been asked to "refuse to spend their hard earned money with firms who seek to take the bread out of the mouths of their wives and children."

In a meeting in the evening at their headquarters the garment workers voted to continue their strike.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Stabs His Son-in-Law.—P. C. Hostler, 314 Giddings street, objected yesterday when his daughter was upbraided by her husband, La Roy Trauger, a traveling salesman. The result was the father-in-law stabbing the younger man in five places. Trauger is in a critical condition. He refused to prosecute his father-in-law.

Boy Stops Runaway.—When a runaway horse was on the point of dashing into a State street cable train at Thirty-first street last evening Peter J. Quinlan, 18 years old, 3621 La Salle street, seized the animal's bridle. He stopped the horse after he had been dragged half a block.

Death Leads to Two Arrests.—Elias Tanner and James Quiller, negroes, are under arrest at the Cottage Grove avenue police station in connection with the death of Mrs. G. Dean, whose body was found yesterday morning at her home, 2908 Armour avenue. Her skull was fractured.

Child Scalds Self to Death.—During the absence of her mother yesterday afternoon Helena Kosti, 664 May street, climbed a chair, mounted the hot stove, and pulled a kettle of scalding water over her. She was dead when Mrs. Kosti returned.

Freed of Killing Man in Riot.

Jeff Murphy, a negro nonunion driver during the recent strike, was acquitted yesterday by a jury in Judge Kersten's court of a charge of killing Charles A. Beard in a riot at Wabash avenue and Lake street.

DUPONT FIGURES WILL BE STUDIED

Traction Expert to Explain His Estimates to City Council Committee.

CAR MEN POINT FAULTS.

They Say Earnings Are Placed Too High and Operation Cost Too Low.

A. B. Dupont will be before the committee on local transportation on Monday to explain and justify his figures. There is an idea among the members of the committee he is a trifle optimistic as to his 264 mile municipal system and he will be asked to tell of the faith which is in him.

Clarence S. Darrow also will go before the committee. He will have a legal decision informing the committee of the reasons why he believes the city has a right to North and South Clark streets and Milwaukee avenue, if it wants to use them for the purposes of its street car line.

Mr. Dupont's estimates are expected to take up the time of the meeting. It is promised, by the way, it will be an open one, so that the public can get fully acquainted with the arguments of the Detroit expert.

Traction Man Criticises Dupont.

"If Dupont is right then we don't know our business," was the way one street car manager put the situation yesterday. "If he can make the income he claims out of the street car system he proposes, then the owners of traction properties in Chicago have made a great mistake. They ought to have hired Mr. Dupont to manage their roads and gone to Europe to spend the money he would make for them."

The two flaws picked in Mr. Dupont's report are his estimates as to revenue and cost of operation. He figures it out that the first year it is operated his proposed 264 mile system will earn $12,000,000. This is in excess of $49,000 a mile. The earnings of the Union Traction company are around $30,000. Those of the Chicago City are a trifle better, but do not reach as high as $30,000 a mile.

The total earnings of the two companies for the year 1904 are:

Union Traction company	$ 8,764,419
Chicago City company	6,668,879
Total	$15,432,298

Explains Expert's Estimate.

Mr. Darrow, speaking for Mr. Dupont, said it must be understood that the latter was basing his estimates of a $12,000,000 income for 1906 for his line on the probable population of Chicago at that time and had used the tables in the Arnold report to get his results. It is also urged by the friends of Mr. Dupont that his system would take the cream of the business.

This, however, is denied by the street car managers. One of them said:

"Allowing that Mr. Dupont can establish his road to suit himself he has really the long haul on his hands. The existing companies would have the short hauls left them. It is in these short hauls the money is made.

"As to Mr. Dupont's estimate of 55 per cent as the cost of operation and maintenance that is, of course, nonsense. There is not a street railway company in the country operated at less than 60 per cent.

Mayor Dunne fully indorsed the Dupont plan. He had just returned from Toledo. After telling how everybody there, except the mayor of Atlanta, had had good words to say of the municipal ownership idea, he said:

"I have placed the figures roughly before certain financiers and I think you will find that Mr. Dupont knows what he is talking about on the earnings and will be able to explain his basis for the figures to the committee."

BOARD OF REVIEW FINISHES HEARING TAXPAYERS' WOES.

Lawyer Complains That Roy West's Valuation of Babies Is Not Up to Standard Set by Lincoln.

The board of review finished the hearing of complaints yesterday and it is expected that the books, both personal and real estate, will be ready for the county clerk within ten days. One of the last complaints heard was that of H. M. Glickauf, who protested that the valuation of Marshall Field's personal property at his residence was too low. The valuation of $2,000,000 was allowed to stand. He protested also against the valuation of $20,000 on the personal property of Marshall Field Jr., and $5,000 was added.

Attorney John Vennema wrote to Roy O. West yesterday, asserting that Mr. West's valuation of babies at $800 to $950 is too low.

"As a good republican," the lawyer wrote, "I know you will cheerfully follow the precedent set by Abraham Lincoln when he investigated the financial responsibility of one of his townsmen and reported that the man had a baby that ought to be worth $500,000 to any man, an office desk worth $1.50, two chairs worth, say $1, and a rat hole in the corner of his office that would bear looking into."

SEEKS PUBLICITY FOR BIDS.

Commissioner Patterson of Department of Public Works Makes Suggestion to Ald. Foreman.

With the idea of getting as much publicity as possible regarding all city contracts, the commissioner of public works yesterday wrote the following letter to Ald. Foreman, chairman of the judiciary committee:

"Dear Alderman—I wish you would draw and introduce an ordinance making it imperative for the commissioner of public works in his annual report to show the following things: The names of all the bidders for each separate contract and the amounts bid by them and the successful bidder. In cases where the successful bidder was not the low man an explanation of the reason why; a list of all extras paid out on contracts, and an explanation of why these extras were necessary.

Anything you can add to make the contract business a matter of public record and a public report should be added. Publicity is about the best safeguard we can have. I expect to incorporate these suggestions in the next annual report, but I think it should be made mandatory, so that all future commissioners of public works would be bound by it. Sincerely yours, J. M. PATTERSON.

Ald. Foreman said he would be only too glad to do as requested.

"There is no special matter which called for the letter," said the commissioner. "It speaks for itself and simply is looking to the future."

SEEKS HIGHER SIDEWALK RENT.

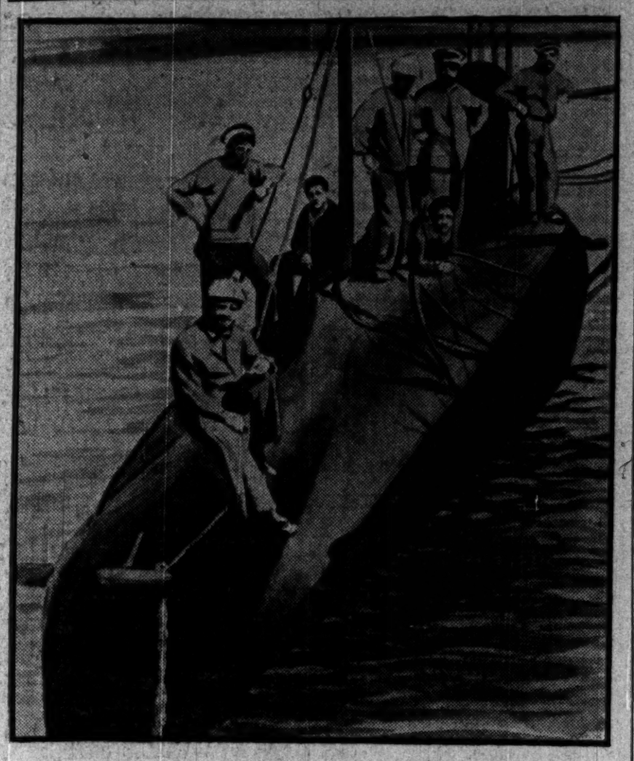

Commissioner Patterson Allows Crusade to Subside Pending Passage of a New Ordinance.

The city compensation bureau has ceased to urge the payment of rent from merchants in the downtown district for space used by them under the sidewalks. Commissioner Patterson has temporarily abandoned the crusade, because he sees an opportunity in the passage of a proposed new ordinance increasing the rents to secure more revenue than under the present system. Ald. Snow will introduce the proposed ordinance at the first meeting of the council, and practically a majority of the aldermen have promised their support. When the ordinance is passed Commissioner Patterson again will proceed to use forceful measures to secure payment from property owners.

Mayor Resting in the Country.

Mayor Dunne returned from Detroit and Toledo yesterday and late in the evening he took his suitcase and departed again, telling no one but his wife where he was going. His secretary said the mayor had gone only to seek a little rest for a few days near the city. He probably will return Sunday evening or Monday morning.

ELLEN GLENN REAPPEARS.

NOTORIOUS WOMAN-MAN ARRESTED IN MICHIGAN VILLAGE.

Masquerading as Real Estate Broker, Girl Whose Police Record Extends from Illinois to West Virginia Swindles Merchant Out of $2,500—Career as Debonair Young Swell in Keeping with That of Six Years Ago in Hillsboro.

Lapeer, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Ellen Glenn, alias Ellis Glenn, the notorious woman-man, sewing machine agent, barber, waiter, real estate broker, paper hanger, forger, "good fellow," again has appeared in the limelight. This time it is as the star performer in a land deal in Clare county. Stephen A. Lockwood, a local merchant, was victimized for $2,500. The papers for the sale recently were found to be clever forgeries.

Glenn conducted the negotiations, masquerading in male attire as a real estate agent. She was arrested today and the disclosure of her sex led to her identity, also, being discovered.

Residents of this village were shocked in the extreme, as she has appeared the model young man and was admitted into the best homes, paying court to various pretty girls.

First Heard Of in Illinois.

Ellen Glenn first flashed across the newspaper horizon in 1899, when she was arrested at Hillsboro, Ill., on a charge of forgery while wearing male attire. At that time she was engaged to marry a pretty girl, Miss Ella Duke of Butler, Montgomery county, Ill. Her masquerade as the debonair and accomplished young man had never been questioned.

Miss Duke's father signed bonds for the appearance of the alleged forger after her arrest, and she was taken into the Duke home on the same close relationship she had held before the accusation of crime was made against her. She remained with the Dukes almost until the day set for her wedding to Miss Duke. Then she went to St. Louis and from there came word by letter that she had been drowned.

Owing to the inability of the Dukes and of the Montgomery county officials to ascertain the particulars as to her death suspicion of foul play arose and a search was instituted for the missing "man." Her picture as she appeared when dressed in masculine apparel was published far and near and attracted the attention of parties who had been looking for her for a similar crime committed in West Virginia.

Young Woman Remains Faithful.

After a long search Ellis Glenn was located in Paducah, Ky., and taken to Hillsboro to face the charge against her. She still posed as a man and on her return pleaded her suit with the woman she had deserted on the eve of her wedding with such success that the Duke family remained her friend and were the last to believe, when the proof was finally forced, that the debonair young sewing machine agent who had won the heart of the pretty daughter was a woman.

Ellis Glenn pleaded guilty to forgery and was sentenced to Chester. There her sex was discovered. She told another tale and was again believed by Miss Duke and others. Returned to Hillsboro for trial she at first promised to again plead guilty as a woman and accept a light sentence. She changed her mind and entered a plea of not guilty. In the meantime her trail had been taken by the men she was alleged to have swindled in West Virginia and they secured her removal to that state.

Wins Long Legal Battle.

Then, after a legal fight lasting for more than five years she finally won on a technicality and was set free.

But although she had won her freedom, the mystery which surrounds her real identity is as deep now as it ever was and it puzzles officers and acquaintances who have tried to solve it for years. Ellis Glenn herself has deepened the mystery by telling several plausible tales and sticking to them. She has declared that she is not Ellis Glenn, the man who committed forgery, but a twin sister having a remarkble resemblance to the real culprit, whom she declared she was shielding. Many a romantic tale she has woven about her past, and while there are many things tending to connect her with a woman who formerly lived in West Virginia, positive identification has always been impossible. Those who have followed the case with interest wonder if this remarkable woman, who has demonstrated her ability and her willingness to keep not one but several secrets, will disclose the mystery of her peculiar life. She has promised to do so in a book. Will the explanation be the truth or will it be a continuation of her romancing?

FALL KILLS STAIR BUILDER.

Engine Ends Albert Walter's Life and Unidentified Body of Man Found on Elgin and Aurora Tracks.

J. C. Miller, 46 years old, of Burlington, Ia., a stair builder, was killed yesterday by falling to the basement of the Schofield building, which is under construction at Desplaines street and Jackson boulevard.

A Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad engine struck and killed Albert Walter, 35 years old, 384 Ogden avenue, at Sixteenth and Lincoln streets.

The body of a man, apparently 30 years old, and poorly clad, was found lying across the third rail of the Aurora and Elgin line near Harlem early yesterday morning. It was badly charred by the electricity and the features were partly destroyed. The body was not identified.

SEEKS DEATH IN RIVER.

MOTHER TRIES TO DROWN HERSELF AND INFANT.

Mrs. Charles Nelson, on the Third Anniversary of Her Wedding, Goes to Bridge, but Is Stopped When Ready to Leap from the Rail—Says Her Husband Abused and Neglected Her and That She Was Weary of Life.

On the third anniversary of her wedding, Mrs. Charles Nelson tried to drown herself and her 2 year old baby last night. She clasped the child in her arms and climbed to the rail of the jacknife bridge over the Chicago river south of Goose island. Before she could plunge into the stream she was seized by Lee Fisher, a bridgetender.

After she had been taken to the West Chicago avenue police station, Mrs. Nelson said her husband had quarreled with her and neglected her. At last, she said, he refused to stay home on their wedding anniversary, insisting on going to a club.

Mrs. Nelson is 22 years old. Her husband is a shipping clerk, employed by the Shoninger Brothers Manufacturing company, 226 Franklin street.

Loiters Around the Bridge.

Half an hour before she attempted to leap in the river, Mrs. Nelson was seen by Edward Walther, a bridgetender, crossing the river. She was with an old woman. Leaving her companion at Chicago avenue, the mother went north again and stopped in the middle of the bridge. Walther became suspicious and warned her away. She walked a way until the tender had returned to his tower.

As soon as he was out of sight she came back. She had climbed to the top of the rail when Fisher, who was sitting near in the dark, seized her, asking her what she was going to do.

"I am going to drown myself and my baby," she replied, and, tearing herself loose, attempted to jump over the rail. Fisher held her while the police were called.

Tells of Her Troubles.

"I have enough to cause me to want to die," she said at the station, "and I would not die without my baby. I have a mother's heart, and I wouldn't leave her behind.

"During the first year of our married life my husband struck my mother and I never forgot it. We have quarreled about it many times. On the third anniversary of our marriage he refused to stay home with me, but went to a club.

Readway was released on bonds.

CAUGHT AND FREED FOR MIZE MURDER

Magazine Revolver Causes the Arrest of Earl Garrett in Hyde Park.

IS HELD NEARLY AN HOUR.

Capture Is Attended with Much Mystery on the Part of Inspector Hunt.

A frightened boy was unloaded from a patrol wagon at the Hyde Park police station yesterday afternoon. A magazine revolver of the type employed by the car barn bandits was the indirect cause of his arrest. For nearly an hour he was held on suspicion of being the highwayman who shot and killed Mrs. Elizabeth F. Mize of the Del Prado hotel in Washington avenue last Tuesday night.

The boy was Earl Garrett, 6029 Ellis avenue, the son of a Hyde Park real estate dealer. His description tallied with that given of the mysterious man who was seen to jump on a north bound cable car shortly after the shooting.

For several hours before the arrest was made Inspector Hunt was surrounded by an air of mystery. It was rumored that at last the real clew had been found and that developments which were to take place soon would be such as to cause a nine days' wonder. The son of a prominent south side family, it was said, had developed into an amateur highwayman. This clew reached its climax in the arrest of the scared boy.

Woman Betrays Boy's Secret.

Garrett is less than 21 years old. His evident anxiety to avoid arrest as the result of owning a revolver eventually landed him in the police station.

For a while the youngster was too "rattled" to give an intelligent account of himself. He had tried to secrete his weapon, having intrusted it to a boarding house keeper he knew. He had taken her into his confidence, but the woman broke faith with him and told her secret to the inspector.

Wide eyed and trembling, the boy explained that he had been an express driver during the teamsters' strike.

"I bought the pistol," he said, "so that the strikers wouldn't get me. When I read in the papers about the Mize murder and heard the police were arresting every one suspected of carrying a gun I tried to get rid of mine. It is like a bad dream come true. I did get on a street car late that night, but I had some money in my pocket and I started out to see the town. I saw all that I wanted within half an hour. Then I went home and went to bed."

Another Suspect Is Arrested.

Another suspect caught in the police dragnet was Clarence Laird, who is said to have been arrested after a quarrel with a woman in the Hyde Park district. He explained to the police his whereabouts on the night of the murder, and was released.

Inspector Hunt declares he is by no means at the end of his rope.

"There is no doubt," he said "that the murderer was unfamiliar with the neighborhood. Instead of making his escape through the alleys, where he could hide in the dark shadows, he chose the open street. We have traced him to the Cottage Grove car line at Fifty-eighth street and Lexington avenue, and believe he was carried down to Harrison street."

A watch is being kept on the lodging houses and the barrel houses along Clark street.

Coroner Hoffman has asked Mrs. Wilson to remain at the Del Prado hotel until after the inquest. This, it is believed, will interfere with her plans for leaving the city. Having returned from the funeral of Mrs. Mize she denied emphatically that any mystery was connected with the murder.

The inquest will be held at the Hyde Park police station on Sept. 2.

HOLDUP MEN ROB A WOMAN AND THEN BEAT A CITIZEN.

Highwaymen Busy in the Larrabee Street District—Mrs. Caroline Regner and Barth Lynch Are Victims.

Masked and armed thugs last night in the Larrabee street police district intimidated a woman with a revolver. A short time later they knocked down and beat a citizen on his own doorstep and took his hat, coat, and a purse containing $30.

The woman, Mrs. Caroline Regner, 369 Dayton street, was robbed of her watch and a diamond ring. The attack was made in North Halsted street, near North avenue.

The man robbed was Barth Lynch, 270 Sedgwick street.

Bank Clerk Arrested.—James H. Abrahams, 17 years old, a clerk in the National Bank of the Republic, was arrested on charges of larceny. He was taken into custody while at work. It is said $22 and $3 in stamps were found on him.

Messenger Boys in Plot.—In the arrest of Frank Skolinski, 133 West Division street, a messenger employed by the Postal Telegraph company, detectives believe they have discovered a plot in which Chicago citizens and the telegraph company have been victimized. The boy, it is asserted, has been obtaining money from persons by means of false telegrams.

Mrs. J. C. Corbus, Wife of Kankakee Hospital Superintendent, Victim of Heart Disease.

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Mrs. J. C. Corbus, wife of the superintendent of the Illinois Eastern hospital, was stricken today with heart disease while getting a glass of water for a sick son, dying almost instantly.

Texas Lands

Very Cheap

The Houston & Texas Central Ry. Co. has decided to sell its land grant in Northwest Texas, adjoining Oklahoma. To effect a quick sale and avoid the expense of maintaining sales agencies, the lands have been listed at very low prices.

They are adjacent to the Rock Island main line running diagonally across Oklahoma and Texas. Portions of the tract are well watered and nearly all is susceptible of cultivation. Transportation facilities excellent — big markets within easy reach.

Sale will be made in parcels of 160 acres up to four sections or 2,560 acres to each purchaser. The prices are on a fixed scale — no fluctuation. Taxes are low, terms liberal and warranty deeds given in all cases.

If interested, send quick for descriptive leaflet with full information.

NUMBER 13 WINS AWARD OF $5,000.

Barnett, Haynes & Barnett's Plans for the New County Building Rank First.

TWO OTHERS GET PRIZES.

Unanimous Decision Reached by Jurors Selected by the Commissioners.

Thirteen was a lucky number yesterday for Barnett, Haynes & Barnett, the firm of architects that won the first prize of $5,000 in competitive plans for the new county building which will replace the crumbling, deserted ruin that joins the city hall on the east.

Their plans—numbered thirteen—were for a twelve story building, to cost within the $3,500,000 appropriation. The firm has its principal office in St. Louis, with a Chicago branch in Orchestral hall. It planned some of the buildings of the Louisiana Purchase exposition.

The second prize of $2,500 was awarded Holabird & Roche, Chicago, and the third of $1,000 to Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, Boston and Chicago.

There were ten other competitors, each of whom will receive $1,000 for the expense of preparing drawings and plans.

Final Plans Yet to Be Made.

It does not follow from the action of the committee that the new courthouse will be modeled after the plans that took first money.

Although first honors were awarded Barnett, Haynes & Barnett, on the theory that the plans of that firm, considered in general combination of elevation and interior design, came nearest to the specifications, the jury of award recommended that the county commissioners intrust the preparation of final plans to two of the authors of three other designs. These are Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, whose exterior plan the jury considered the most attractive, and Huehl & Schmid, and Holabird & Roche, whose plans, in the opinion of the jury, presented features of interior arrangement which would come nearer meeting the requirements of Cook county than those of any other competitors.

Brundage Explains the Awards.

After the report of the committe on awards had been received by the commissioners, who went for that purpose over to the Art institute, where the plans were displayed, the board held an executive session at its quarters in the Continental Bank building. After it was over President Brundage came out of his office and said:

"The commissioners have had an informal meeting to discuss the plans and to get the views of Mr. Ewen, chairman of the jury of awards, on how soon the work can be started and the best manner of proceeding. Nothing definite was decided and another meeting will be held Monday afternoon.

"You understand, of course, that while the first prize was awarded to Barnett, Haynes & Barnett, the designs of Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge were recommended for their elevation features and those of Huehl & Schmid and Holabird & Roche were favored on account of the advantages offered in their interior arrangements.

"There was no vote taken among the commissioners this afternoon and I can't say what set of plans they favor the most. Most of the commissioners want to go over all the plans again Saturday and Sunday and they think they will have their minds made up by Monday.

"The plans of No. 13 come the nearest to meeting the specifications, but the elevation and the interior plans, as the report of the special jury says, are not up to the standard of some of the others."

Thirteen Strive for Honor.

Plans were submitted by thirteen firms, which were designated by number, as follows:

1. Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, Boston and Chicago.
2. German & Lignall, Duluth.
3. Henry Lord Gay, Chicago.
4. P. J. Weber and M. J. Morehouse, Chicago.
5. Huehl & Schmid, Chicago.
6. Holabird & Roche, Chicago.
7. Frost & Granger, Chicago.
8. James Gamble Rogers, Chicago.
9. Herbert C. Shivers, St. Louis.
10. William H. Pruyn, Chicago.
11. J. J. Flanders, Chicago.
12. Jarvis Hunt, Chicago.
13. Barnett, Haynes & Barnett.

The board assembled in the designing room of the Art institute to hear the report of its advisory committee. The room, which has a large skylight, was lined with the plans of the competing architects. All sorts of ideas were embodied in the designs, but in the main the object seemed to be utility rather than picturesque effect, though some imposing structures with immense domes and a general "state capitol" aspect were shown. The commissioners called these last "pretty," but seemed to be prejudiced against them.

Report of Advisory Committee.

The following report was then read from the committee:

"Chicago, Aug. 25, 1905.—To the Special Committee on the New Courthouse of the Board of Commissioners of Cook County.—Gentlemen: Your advisory committee received at your hands on Aug. 16 thirteen sets of designs and plans for a courthouse for Cook county, with instructions to select three from among them as deserving the first, second, and third prizes.

After a careful and detailed examination of all these drawings we are unanimously of opinion that the design and plan marked by the commissioners with the number 13 present, as they stand, the best combination of plan and elevation, although some of the others offer more convenient plans and others present, in our judgment, more satisfactory elevations. We accordingly recommend the design and plan numbered 13 for the first prize of $5,000.

"We find that the design and plan numbered 6 has similar merits, although this also is not entirely satisfactory in respect either of elevation or of plan. We recommend it for the second prize of $2,500.

"We find that the design numbered 1 presents the most attractive exterior of any, an excellence which goes far to make up for some undesirable features of its plan. We present it accordingly for the third prize of $1,000.

"We find, however, that the drawings numbered 5 and 6 offer more convenient interior arrangements of plan than any of the others, although the accompanying elevation of number 5 seems to us to be better adapted to a building occupied by private offices than to one occupied by public offices.

"We therefore recommend that inasmuch as the design numbered 1 presents the most attractive exterior and the plans numbered 5 and 6 the most convenient interiors, the commissioners intrust the work to the authors of one of these two designs, conjointly with the author of number 1, making such arrangements as to the share of each, in the work, as shall be acceptable to them and to the county commissioners."

Decision Is Unanimous.

The report was signed by John M. Ewen, chairman; John G. Shedd, William R. Ware, David B. Jones, and William McLaren, members of the advisory committee.

Chairman Walker of the finance committee made a motion that the recommendation as to the awards be approved and that the other recommendations be taken under consideration. This was carried without discussion and the clerk proceeded to open the envelopes so that the identity of the architects, which until that moment had been known only by number, might be revealed.

Features of First Prize Plan.

The plans submitted by Barnett, Haynes & Barnett are for a twelve story building that may be reduced to ten stories. There is a basement of two stories, with four stories above it, then another base above which are four stories inclosed by Corinthian columns, the remainder of the building being carried above a cornice and parapet. There are classic details, but the general design is severely plain.

"It is assumed," says the firm, in an accompanying description, "the commission will take into consideration that the plans submitted are in the nature of preliminary sketches and are not supposed to show in detail any particular method of construction or finish. All necessary excavation is to be done and the building supported on caissons extending down to bedrock if practical.

Arrangement of the Vaults.

"It will be noted that vaults are located on each floor for current work of the various departments. Provision has been made also in the basement for three large storage vaults capable of receiving the records of all departments and large enough to accommodate all old records and future records for fifty years.

"By a system of book elevators, vaults on various floors can be eliminated, condensing practically all vault room in the basement and saving two stories if necessary."

The building is to be constructed, the architects state, on an approved principle of fireproof construction, exterior walls and floors supported by steel beams, faced with gray granite, the court walls to be faced with enamel brick; hard plastered stucco work, decorated plaster and veneered hardwood. Forced artificial ventilation is provided for, steam heating, interlocking rubber tile floors, and the main corridors in marble.

The exterior plans of Shepley, Rutan & Coolidge, to use the language of the accompanying description, are for:

"A dignified, monumental building, simple in form and treatment, Roman classic in design, the curved arrangement in the principal courtroom having many advantages and being the key to the general plans."

Connecting corridors are provided for a future city hall.

Interior Details Find Favor.

The interior plan, supplied by Holabird & Roche, provided for the location of offices in a manner that was strongly favored by the commissioners, as follows:

First floor—Sheriff's offices and a few cells in the basement for temporary use.

Second floor—Treasurer's offices, 37,000 square feet of floor space, which may be expanded to 45,000.

Third floor—County clerk's offices.

Fourth floor—Board of review, assessors, jury commissioners, superintendent of schools.

Fifth floor—Assessors, county commissioners, public service.

Sixth floor—Clerks of Superior, Circuit, and County courts and county attorney.

Seventh floor—Probate court and clerk and civil service commission.

Eighth, ninth, and tenth floors—Courtrooms.

Eleventh floor—Law institute; custodian in rear.

The interior plans supplied by Huehl & Schmidt are equally elaborate.

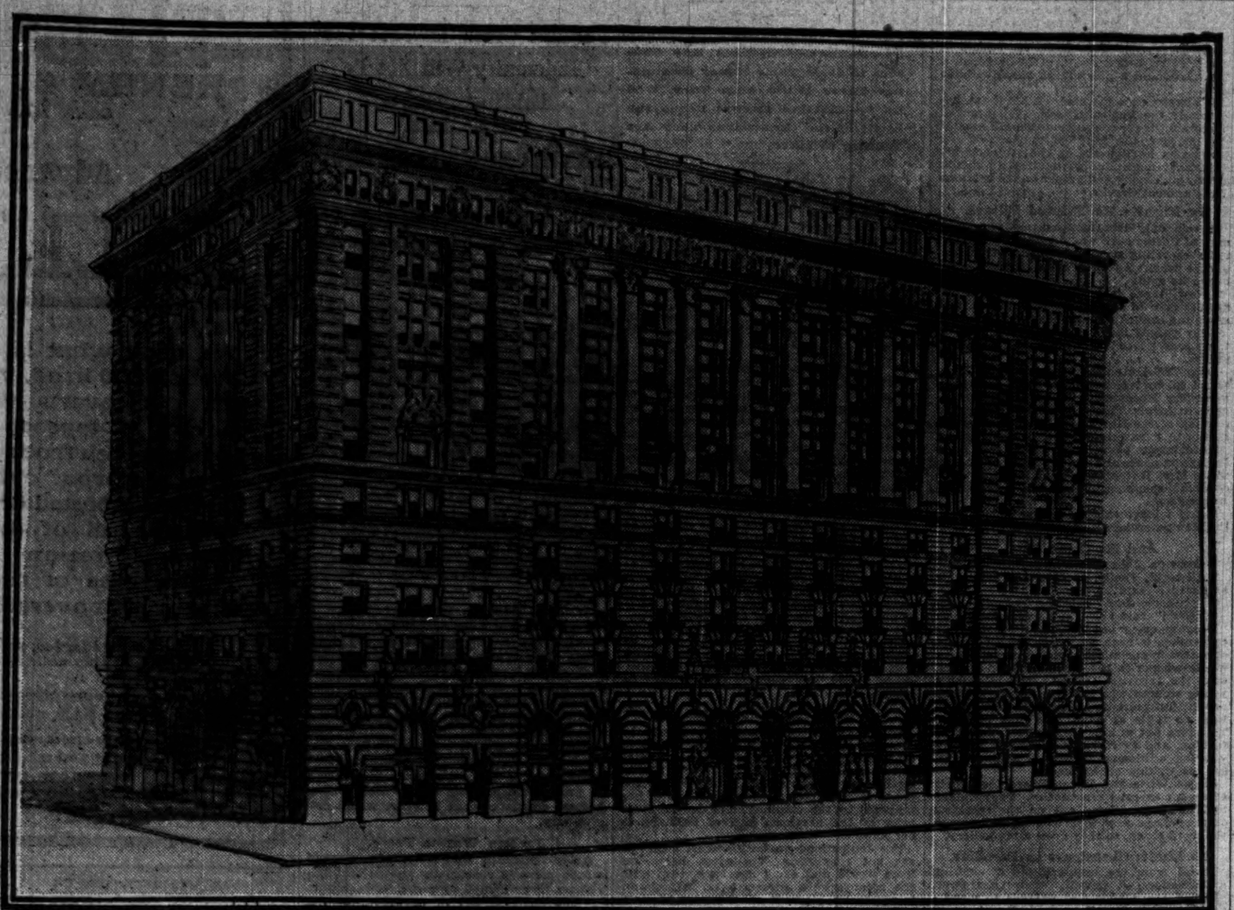

Ewen to Supervise the Work.

It is the intention of the county commissioners to engage John M. Ewen as supervising architect when the building is started, to guard against "extras" and to hold the contractors strictly to their specifications.

In addition to the $3,500,000 appropriation for the new building, President Brundage estimates that it will cost $200,000 to furnish the new building, and $500,000 must be set aside for rentals for the various county departments while the building is under construction, and for moving expenses.

Members of the county board are unanimous in the opinion that the new court house can be completed within two years.

FALLS DEAD IN STREET WHILE WALKING WITH FRIEND

Charles R. Adams, Architect, Living at 4775 North Clark, Expires Shortly Before Midnight.

Charles R. Adams, an architect living at 4775 North Clark street, fell dead shortly before midnight last night in front of the Sherman house.

Mr. Adams, who was 62 years old, was walking along Randolph street with H. B. Wheelock when he suddenly fell to the sidewalk without uttering a word.

Mr. Wheelock tried to lift him to his feet. Persons who were passing went to Mr. Wheelock's assistance and the unconscious form of Mr. Adams was carried into the hotel.

A physician was called, but when he arrived he pronounced Mr. Adams dead.

Mr. Wheelock said that he and Mr. Adams were going to the Sherman house for an after theater supper when his companion fell dead.

Mr. Adams was 64 years old. He was born in England, where he studied architecture and practiced his profession till 1881, when he came to Chicago. He had lived with his family in Rogers Park ever since.

A man thought by the police to be John Jones, 1445 Edgecomb place, dropped dead in front of 1700 State street in the evening.

BOYS IN PLAYING "INDIAN" ALMOST KILL ONE OF NUMBER

Thirteen Year Old Victim Is Strung Up with Rope and Would Have Perished Except for Prompt Rescue.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 25.—While playing "Indians" today Raymond Carciofini, 13 years old, was "lynched" by a rope strung about his neck and drawn off his feet, the rope having been thrown over the limb of a tree.

Cries of anguish rent the air in the vicinity of the "hanging." The perpetrators of the "lynching" made their escape, leaving the unfortunate boy dangling to his fate. Had it not been for the quick action of the Rev. W. B. Riley of the First Baptist church, this city, the penalty would have been death.

The boy was cut down in the nick of time, his neck being severely cut by the rope, which was steadily growing more taut as each moment passed. Arrests may follow.

MAN SLAIN; SUSPECT ROBBERY.

Decatur, Ill., Employe of Express Company Is Found Dead Near Office with Skull Crushed.

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Joe Ricketts, an employé of the Pacific express company, was found murdered within 100 yards of the company's offices at 9:30 tonight. Near by were two heavy stakes, such as are used on express trucks. They were covered with blood. Ricketts' skull had been fractured. The police believe robbery was the motive.

PFISTER SCORES ON STATE; MAY QUASH THE INDICTMENT.

Secures Confession of Judgment from Concern Whose Money He Was Alleged to Have Converted.

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The Wisconsin Rendering company today confessed judgment on notes of $6,500 held against it by Charles F. Pfister, who recently was indicted on a charge of the larceny of $14,000 from that company.

As Mr. Pfister brought the suit to force the company to establish a counter claim to the $14,000 in question, its failure to do so is held by Pfister and his counsel effectually to rob the indictment of its force, although it still stands on the records against the political leader and hotel man.

That their leader had "made good" is the boast of the Pfister followers in Milwaukee tonight. They declare that District Attorney McGovern and the anti-Pfister forces have been beaten out in what they declare was an attempt to use the grand jury for political purposes.

HACKLEY BEQUESTS $4,000,000

Will of Widow of Muskegon's Philanthropist Is Filed and Contains Many Provisions.

Muskegon, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The will of Mrs. Julie E. Hackley, filed today, disposes of $4,000,000, half of her legacy going to public institutions and the remainder to relatives. Charles M. Hackley, a son, receives more than $1,000,000. Nearly as much goes to the schools of this city. Hackley hospital is awarded $300,000 and the city is given a like sum for the care of the poor. Relatives, churches, and charities receive substantial amounts.

FIGHT FOR RIGHT OF WAY; TWO WILL DIE; MANY HURT.

Sanguinary Battle Between Workmen Follows Effort of Traction Company to Cross Pennsylvania's Tracks.

Red Key, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Two men fatally wounded and several others badly hurt is the record of a war today between the Pennsylvania railroad company and the Muncie and Portland Traction company that grew out of an attempt on the part of the latter to cross the tracks of the former at this place today.

The shots which wounded the two men were fired in the darkness and it is not known who is responsible. Twenty men are in jail and the officers are investigating.

At 11 o'clock tonight the railroad company has two switch engines on the scene and is holding the crossing against the traction company, which has secured an injunction to prevent the tearing up of its tracks.

The strife between the two companies began early this morning when it was discovered that the traction company had laid its tracks during the night.

The railroad company sent a large force of men from Logansport, who tore them up and at once began the laying of switches along the main track. The traction company retaliated by tearing up the switches and relaying its tracks. So the battle alternated until this evening, when the combatants fired into each other in the night.

FOOTBALL STAR IS ARRESTED.

Former Student at Notre Dame Held for Attack on South Bend Jewelers.

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Abraham Chidister, a former law student at Notre Dame and center rush on the varsity football team, is under arrest here charged with assault and battery on Frank Mayer Sr. and George Mayer, jewelers, of this city. This afternoon Chidister went to the Mayer store and, after knocking the younger man down with his fist, battered the face of the elder man until it was badly bruised and swollen.

HAS LINCOLN PARK SLATE

GOV. DENEEN WITHHOLDS THE ANNOUNCEMENT.

List Prepared Is Satisfactory to the Political Leaders on the North Side—S. M. Felton, H. A. Haugan, and Gen. Joseph Stockton No Longer Figure Among the Probabilities for Appointment on the Commission—Warder Probably Will Be Retained.

PROBABLE LINCOLN PARK COMMISSIONERS.

Francis T. Simmons	Twenty-first ward
Bryan Lathrop	Twenty-first ward
Edward A. Linn	Twenty-second ward
F. H. Gansbergen	Twenty-third ward
Amos Pettibone	Twenty-fourth ward
Charles P. Whitney	Twenty-fifth ward

By the elimination of several names from the list of probabilities in regard to the Lincoln park board yesterday, Gov. Deneen's "tentative" slate took more definite form. After it had been laid before the political managers of the north side it was pronounced satisfactory, but the governor withheld announcement, saying the appointments would not be made until next week.

Politicians explained the governor's delay by saying no reason for haste exists and the announcement easily could be put off until next week to allow further consideration of the matter. However, the probabilities are that the board will be constituted finally as the tentative slate stands now.

Several Names Are Missing.

In this shape it does not contain the names of President S. M. Felton of the Chicago and Alton railroad, President H. A. Haugan of the Chicago State bank, or Gen. Joseph Stockton, who were given in the first list of probabilities.

Mr. Felton decided that it would not be in good taste for him to accept an appointment from the governor while the railroad rate question still is unsettled. As president of the Chicago and Alton he is the head of one of the roads chiefly interested in the prospective reduction of freight rates. If he accepted the position of Lincoln park commissioner the situation might become embarrassing both for him and for the governor.

Mr. Haugan proved either more elusive or more steadfast in his refusal than B. A. Eckhart. The governor was not able to convince him, as he had Eckhart, that it was his duty to take the presidency of a park board.

Insurance Man Slated for Place.

Two of the new places are expected to go to Charles P. Whitney, 1220 Winthrop avenue, and to Edward A. Linn, son of John A. Linn, Circuit court clerk. Mr. Whitney is a member of the insurance firm of Critchell, Miller, Whitney & Barbour.

It is expected that Commissioner Simmons will be president of the new board. He and Commissioners Lathrop and Gansbergen are the only members of the present commission to be reappointed. The superintendent of the park, Reuben Warder, probably will be retained.

The most important constructive work the new board will be called on to carry out will be the making of a half mile of new park land to the north, filling in the lake for that distance.

KANSAS SUES FOR $750,000; RESULT OF DEVLIN FAILURE.

Attorney General Makes Two Guaranty Companies Defendants—State Treasurer's Bondsmen Declared Liable.

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Attorney General Coleman on behalf of the state today filed suit against the United States Fidelity and Guaranty company of Baltimore for $250,000 and against the Title Guaranty and Trust company of Scranton, Pa., for $500,000. The suit is the outgrowth of the failure of the First National bank of Topeka, a Devlin concern, in which the state had $547,000 tied up.

The United States Fidelity and Guaranty company went on the bank's bond for $250,000 to guarantee the state's deposit. Some Topeka capitalists also went on a similar bond for $100,000, and a similar suit was started against them also. In these petitions it is charged that the bank wrongfully used the state's money to pay off other debts.

The Title Guaranty and Trust company of Scranton was on State Treasurer Kelly's official bond for $500,000. In the suit against this company it is claimed that the state treasurer had money in the bank wrongfully in that he did not draw it out as soon as the bank collected the drafts. All state money gets into the local banks through the collection of drafts. The attorney general claims that the treasurer should take the money out as soon as the drafts are collected and that his failure to do so makes his bondsmen liable. Both surety companies will contest the suits.

OLD SCHOONER HUTCHINSON WITH CREW OF 8 MAY BE LOST.

Vessel Due at Cleveland, O., from Huron Thursday Night Is Not Accounted For.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—It is feared tonight that the old schooner Emma C. Hutchinson, which left Huron yesterday afternoon and was due here last night, has been wrecked in the heavy sea on Lake Erie.

The Hutchinson has a crew of eight men, and since being sighted off Vermillion at 6 o'clock last evening has not been heard from by the owners.

There is a report tonight, which cannot be confirmed, that the missing boat is ashore near the islands.

THIS COUPLE HAS 23 CHILDREN

Sixth Pair of Twins Born to Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Depp of Hickory Run, Pa.

Allentown, Pa., Aug. 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Allen C. Depp of Hickory Run, with the appearance of twins yesterday, are the parents of twenty-three children. The parents are only 40 years old, and claim to have the largest family in America, age considered. They were married eighteen years ago. Six pairs of twins are now numbered in the family circle. Depp is employed as a section foreman on a railroad.

DENEEN CALLS FOR A SHOW OF HANDS.

Governor Wants All the Senatorial Candidates to Declare Themselves.

TIRES OF THE GUESSING.

Lawrence Y. Sherman, in St. Louis, Practically Says He Is in the Race.

Gov. Deneen has called for a show of hands all down the line in the senatorial contest. He has announced to all the republican factions that as a guessing contest the situation has played itself out and now is the proper time for a few facts to show themselves.

In the first place, the state organization wants to know who the candidates are. Of all those in prospect only one—Cullom—has admitted his candidacy.

In St. Louis yesterday Lawrence Y. Sherman practically declared himself in the race, but the "practically" leaves room for him to change his mind.

Richard Yates has promised that his state of mind will be known within two weeks. The former governor gradually has been supposed to have been an aspirant for the senate ever since he failed of renomination for the governorship. He was a strong candidate for several months after the state conventions, but the possibility that he will not be in the race now is admitted.

Yates carefully has refrained from committing himself, but in the call for a show of hands he is asked to at least inform the state organization what he intends to do.

Governor Comes to Chicago.

Gov. Deneen came to Chicago yesterday, and during the day the exact relation of the state organization to the federal was made plain.

Deneen's proposition is to give the patronage to the controlling faction in each county. In counties which Yates carried at the last primary he is to get it, if he enters the contest. Where Hamlin won he will get the patronage. So with Sherman and with Cullom.

This plan is acceptable to all elements of the party so far as it applies outside of Cook county, and there comes the rub. The governor calls attention to the fact that at the last primary there was a change in political affairs in Cook county. A new order of things was set up and a new organization came into control.

Senator Cullom is facing the fact that if he is to get patronage for his forces down the state he must give it to Deneen in Cook county. The purpose of the state organization has been made plain to the federal organization in these words:

"There will be either reciprocity or retaliation. Cullom can have his choice."

Sherman's Talk Is Characteristic.

Sherman's declaration was made in the style which has come to be characteristically his.

"I would like to make the race for the United States senate," he said. "I am good and ready for another state fight. There is plenty to talk about, and I am ready to talk about it. As between Cullom and Yates, my friends will occupy a strictly neutral position. If I become a candidate for the senate there will be nothing in common between me and the other two. A contest between them would be a contest between an antique and a dub.

"If I should start in on a campaign for myself I should make it on strictly state issues. As a matter of fact, Cullom is not in touch with Illinois, except in a general sort of a way. He communicates with the state through the machine which he has built up. A winning campaign can be made against him on this issue alone.

"So far as Yates is concerned, he is out of the question with me. I could not consistently support him, and the state administration cannot control the lineup which finally dominated the deadlocked state convention. The state administration can take up a candidate for the senatorship, make him its candidate, and elect him but this candidate cannot be Yates."

Delays the State Appointments.

While Yates and Cullom are making up their minds the state appointments will be held up. If the limit of two weeks which has been given them for this purpose is not increased, the names should be forthcoming in about the time it was predicted yesterday morning they would.

Little that is definite about these appointments is known. It has been admitted several changes are to be made, but while the men who are to go have been selected it is said that their successors have not been determined on.

One change in which Chicago organizations are interested will be made in the factory inspection department, but this will not take place for some time. A successor to Chief Inspector Edgar T. Davies probably will be named later. The name of the man selected is said not to have been decided on.

HEARSE BARRED AT FUNERAL.

Peoria, Ill., Man Buried by Two Friends, Who Carry Out Strange Program, Then Notify Relatives.

Peoria, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—In accordance with his last wishes, conveyed to and executed by two close friends, the late W. B. McClelland was buried in Elmwood cemetery today with all the primitiveness and simplicity of a back woods funeral.

Two hours after the grave had been filled the executors, F. W. Hanlon and John Thorp, sent word to McClelland's relatives, apprising them for the first time of his death.

Here are some of the conditions which McClelland demanded and which Hanlon and Thorp faithfully caused to obtain:

A farm wagon served as hearse.

There was neither undertaker nor minister present.

No relative had been notified.

The body, inclosed in a metallic coffin, was placed in a vault built for it.

McClelland had lived near Elmwood for fifteen years and had been engaged in business at Nokomis. When recently he was taken ill and a physician told him he could never get well he betrayed no emotion, but sent for Hanlon and Thorp and gave them their instructions as to the funeral.

Emperor and Advisers Do Not See Things from President's Point of View.

BY CABLE TO THE LONDON TIMES.
[RECABLED TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 25.—Concerning the Lamsdorf dispatch of yesterday a telegram received today by a press agency says Count Lamsdorf declares he gave no interview yesterday. The telegram adds:

"Nevertheless, the foreign office, through its recognized press representative, reiterates its official utterance that Russia will not pay an indemnity."

M. de Witte discredited the dispatch when it was brought to his notice last evening. Still there is no important change in the situation this afternoon. The Russian plenipotentiaries received no dispatches yesterday from St. Petersburg modifying Russia's refusal. They have received no dispatches at all today. Today as yesterday, if there be any chance of peace, it seems to lie in President Roosevelt's efforts. But it is not known here that the president's persuasions have affected the resolve of the czar. There is some evidence that while the sincerity and friendliness of the president are recognized by the czar and his advisers, they do not consider that he understands their position better than, or so well, as persons more directly interested.

Russian Estimate of Roosevelt.

Russia's friend whom I have often quoted says:

"Your president is a most excellent man, full of high qualities, and of a high intelligence, but his impartiality is a subjective impartiality. He believes himself impartial and he means to be impartial, but he sees things wholly from his own point of view. He sees Russia in that way. He cannot understand why Russia should not do what he wants her to, knowing that he intends to consider her welfare as well as Japan's. All you Americans are like that."

When I dissented he went on:

"Well, at any rate we do not think your president has gained much by his intervention, or at least not yet. It is not necessary to consider that alleged telegram of Count Lamsdorf, but had it been genuine it would not much have changed the situation. No point of agreement has yet been reached. It remains a question of money. His majesty, it is well known, has refused his assent to the Japanese proposals touching Sakhalin and the indemnity. He has not been conciliated by the attempt to unite the two. Your president, if he were in any degree responsible for that junction, has not presented an acceptable solution. It is perhaps the fault of Russia that she is generally misunderstood in America, but whoever be at fault, misunderstood she is."

Have No New Proposals.

I asked whether it was true, as stated today, that Japan is ready to reduce the sum. He said: "We know nothing of it. No proposition of a reduction or of any kind has been made to us since the original offer for the repurchase of Sakhalin. We have, of course, no means of knowing whether any will be."

I quoted to him a private telegram received at Portsmouth from St. Petersburg, saying the real reason of the czar's refusal is because he and his advisers wish the war to go on. He said:

"It ought not to be put in that way. They do not wish war for its own sake, but we are a warlike people. We are a military empire. We have the future to think of—our place in Asia; our place in Europe. His majesty thinks of these things. His people would regard this as having paid tribute to Japan; so would the people of Asia. To every proposal which did not involve diminution of her prestige in Asia or the authority of her government over her own people Russia has said yes. To all others she says no, and will continue to say no."

All this, be it remembered, comes from a man who prefers peace and who was opposed to the war, who would be opposed to its continuation. If he could secure peace with honor his judgment could be made even now. Concerning the president's intervention at Tokio he said:

"You cannot expect us to know anything about that. But if he expects to persuade Japan to reduce her demand to any figure we would look at he has his work cut out for him."

His last words were:

"I do not expect peace."

Roosevelt's Bold Appeal.

A summary has been shown me of the letter from President Roosevelt to the Russian officials. The president would deeply regret the failure of the negotiations at Portsmouth. He is the good friend of Russia. He does not believe the differences between Russia and Japan are irreconcilable. Hear this paragraph: "Russia must not forget she has been beaten, that Japan is flushed with victory and deserves some compensation for her losses. In the president's opinion the concessions which Russia has made cannot satisfy Japan. He therefore thinks Russia should accept the compromise Japan has offered."

In all of which the effect was different from what the president had anticipated. It was said here at once that he had ranged himself on the side of Japan. The letter was cabled to St. Petersburg and produced, I learn, a similar impression there. The answer went forthwith to the president denying that Russia is beaten and urging that Russia already had made every possible concession. It continued:

"The instructions of the czar are positive. He forbids us to cede a part of Sakhalin or to pay any indemnity whatever."

Roosevelt's Efforts Fail.

[illegible] are not yet allowed to know what the [illegible] said to the American ambassador last Wednesday. President Roosevelt, who is sensitive to public opinion, can keep his secrets as well as the Japanese and he will choose his own time for publishing all these things. But there is absolutely nothing among the many things known or guessed in Portsmouth to show that his intercession with the czar has succeeded.

"More than this," says my Russian friend, "we cannot suppose he will succeed with Japan. A small reduction would be useless. A large reduction would mean that Japan renounces the principle of indemnity. We do not expect her to do that."

It is not yet known whether tomorrow's sitting of the conference will be in the morning or the afternoon. That depends partly in the forwardness of the protocols and other business, and partly, perhaps, on the state of which I can only call the outside negotiations." On this one point of peace chances the Japanese and Russians are agreed.

LIGHT AND SHADE AT PEACE PARLEY: "CHARACTERS" HOLD BOARDS JUST NOW.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Visits to the Isle of Shoals have been the order of the day. The weather was bright, neither too hot nor too cold, and the sea between the harbor and the islands showed never a trace of a swell.

Since it is up to St. Petersburg and Tokio again the Wentworth rested and frivoled. Capt. Hank, the ancient German mariner who runs boats at the Wentworth landing, made three trips back and forth with gasoline launches. In the afternoon the Russian attachés, who lingered about the hotel with little to do, caught the contagion.

The forces of Uncle Sam at Portsmouth were placed at the disposal of the official parties, and when, after luncheon, Mme. Rojestvensky mentioned that she would like to see the Isle of Shoals a message was sent to the Mayflower and an ensign brought down the ship's launch for M. Rojestvensky, Mme. Rovestvensky and the Rojestvensky dog.

Small but Lots of History.

The Isle of Shoals, which really is five or six little islands about as big as a fair sized meadow, lies ten miles out at sea. There are summer hotels on two of them and a few cottages and a lighthouse. For their size there is a lot of history on them. Once Appledore island had a village of 600 people which the British wiped out, root and branch, in the revolution. The foundations of the village houses are there yet—a big checkerboard of stonework.

Here lived Celia Thaxter, the poet, after her eccentric father had abandoned the world. Star island also has its graveyard of the tombs of the Caswell family, who began to bury their dead there early last century.

The fishing town of Gassport once stood on Star island. It got tired of corporate existence and quit being, leaving a debt of $15,000, which will remain plastered to the island, so far as man can see, until the morning stars sing together. On fine days you can see the debt from the Wentworth.

Longfellow, Whittier, and the other great men of their period used to summer out there, and every tree had a poem or tale nailed to it. You can't be eminent in New England letters until you've touched up the Isle of Shoals.

And 'Tis O, So Exciting.

The hotels are inhabited by quiet, restful persons who are summering there to get away from the bustle of the world. They are not without their excitements. Both have croquet grounds. At Appledore, on Appledore island, they play crokonole every evening, and on Star island there is a progressive authors' party every Friday night.

One of the guests at Star island said today it was just like taking a vacation on a ship at sea, only you missed the roll. The young people take out their vacationing in rowing from island to island and then back again. The chaperon system is wholly unnecessary. There is not a spot on either island which is not in plain view from the hotel.

The king of the isle is Oscar Leighton, brother of Celia Thaxter. He was born there and never saw the mainland until he was 18. He has seen it few times since. The only horse on the islands until lately was a mare named Madge.

Lives Life in Horseless Exclusion.

She was brought there as a colt and never saw another horse until this summer, when they brought one out to relieve her in her old age. When she beheld the terrible beast she acted like a country horse which sees an automobile for the first time.

Oscar Leighton is a "character." Every town hereabouts is long on characters. In Kittery they have Mel Stimson, author, and the only southern gentleman born on New England soil; also old man Patch, weather prophet and political sage, and Sam Lee, the Chinese all rum devil.

In Portsmouth they have them on every street corner. Just now "Doc" attracts most attention. He is a real doctor of medicine, in spite of the title, has command of six or seven languages, and at present is a student of the first administration of ether as an anaesthetic.

Real Thing in Coal Bins.

"Doc" lives alone in a beautiful colonial house of the Washington period. Of late he has been dissatisfied with the arrangement of the coal bin for the hall fireplace, and therefore he has cut a hole in the hardwood ceiling of the old hall and rigged a bin chute up in the air. Now he has but to pull the string and the fireplace is full.

His dress, however, is his title to character. Summer and winter he wears a straw hat with a hole cut in the top for ventilation. On the hottest days this summer he went downtown to do some shopping, clad in a flannel shirt, a dress suit, a fur overcoat, a straw hat, and a pair of tan shoes without heels.

He always cuts the heels off his shoes, believing it the healthful plan. When asked to explain the fur coat episode he said he only was showing the folly of modern dress. Sometimes he appears on the street in his nightshirt, maintaining that the nightshirt is fully as chaste and proper as the costume of the ancient Greeks.

In Nightie He Painted Pillars.

It was only last month a modest young man of Portsmouth was driving through the town escorting a woman visitor from the middle west. As they drew near "Doc's" house he said:

"Now, there is a noble example of our architecture of the Washington period. Observe the beautiful white doorway."

They passed into full view just then, and there was "Doc" in his nightshirt painting pillars.

John W. Hutchinson passed down Main street in Portsmouth today with the newly made Mrs. Hutchinson. Their bridal tour begins tomorrow. They will wind up at a grand reunion of the Hutchinson family where the statue to "fraternity" is to be unveiled.

Hutchinson paused on the pavement to lecture on peace and the brotherhood of man while Mrs. Hutchinson went into a store to do some shopping. When she returned he was saying:

"And I leave this as my final message to the plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan."

And He Came, Too.

"Come on, John," said Mrs. Hutchinson.

"All right, Emily, as soon as I finish this argument," said he.

"You come now," said she.

"Yes'm," said he. The harness for his.

Because every one believes the end of this conference is near, an autograph album has appeared in our midst in violent form. Every whose-whoser in the place has been caught, even the Japanese envoys. This morning a young woman who has been especially busy caught Takahira on the gravel walk. There was no table at hand, but that bothered Takahira not at all. He squatted. Japanese fashion, and as cleverly as though he were wearing a kimono instead of a black suit, did his writing on his knees.

M. de Witte and Baron Rosen took their afternoon exercise afoot today. They walked to Newcastle. Some one on the outskirts of the village saw them coming and passed the word along, so they drew a big gallery.

No Limit; Chauffeurs in Paradise.

Freed from the responsibility of steering ambassadors, J. Oswell, their chauffeur, climbed the ninety foot flagpole to mend a broken stay. Oswell says the Russians are ideal passengers for any chauffeur. They always tell him to go as fast as he can.

There are five automobiles kept for the benefit of the envoys, the drivers of these machines living in a chauffeurs' paradise. For no peace official at Portsmouth, Newcastle, or Kittery would think of arresting a car containing one of the distinguished foreigners won so hardly for the state of New Hampshire by the pull of their legislature. The chauffeurs have missed no tricks on that, and they get out of their cars all that there is in them. One of them is a negro. When he takes you to Portsmouth you just draw one breath and he is landing you before the Jones brewery.

A lawn party which the Japanese attended at York Harbor yesterday turns out to have been quite a function. It was given for York hospital on the lawn of Mrs. Newton Perkins, and everything was Jap.

And Howells Was There.

Family experts gave an exhibition of jiu jitsu. Tea was served to real Jap gentlemen in American frock coats by real American ladies in Japanese kimonos. There were a number of writers among the guests, including William Dean Howells, Thomas Nelson Page, and John Fox Jr. It appears that Howells has been among us several times since the conference opened, and even has refreshed himself in the palm garden, but never was recognized, which shows what kind of authors get their pictures printed nowadays.

The hotel bus is beginning to dump week-end parties from town again. A bundle of magazine editors arrived tonight. There will be room for week-end parties this time, for it is getting toward the end of the short season and the New Hampshire summer regulars are thinning out.

attributed to Count Lamsdorf, Russian minister for foreign affairs, which the latter declares he never made.

M. de Witte was quite right in saying that an agreement in principle has not been reached. Russia is willing to give up half of Sakhalin but is not prepared to pay Japan to evacuate that portion which she desires to retain. Japan will only permit Russia to reëstablishd herself upon Sakhalin provided she receives a money compensation.

Narrows Down to Money.

More than ever, the question between Russia and Japan has narrowed down, the Russians essert, to that of money. Japan will insist upon the payment of a considerable sum by Russia on the ground, as it was expressed to THE TRIBUNE correspondent, that "in a suit at common law, the costs are always paid by the party who loses the decision. The war has been the court in the present instance. Russia has been defeated and she must suffer the penalty."

It was added: "Japan will continue to fight in order to secure recognition of the justice of her position," but the government of the czar insists that outside of the principle involved, Japan having asserted she has waived the principle in connection with the payment of money, it would lose prestige with the Russian people and in Asia if it paid a kopeck to the Japanese.

There continue to be hopes in the Russian camp that Japan will not demand a sum which Russia would instantly reject. During the negotiations the idea was allowed to reach the public that Japan would require Russia to pay $750,000,000. During the discussions at the Portsmouth navy yard Baron Komura said Japan would accept $600,000,000. For some days the Japanese have been intimating they would reduce the amount by $100,000,000. THE TRIBUNE correspondent believes they will go as low as $400,000,000. With this sum Russia holds she could continue the war for over a year.

Japan Still Hopes for Cash.

In the original instructions of M. de Witte it was stated that Russia would not cede an inch of territory to Japan, nor would she pay a cent of money. She is now willing to surrender half of Sakhalin. The Japanese naturally will believe from this concession that Russia will pay something. They may extend the proposal they made to have Russia buy the entire island instead of only one-half at $400,000,000. This is bringing down the difference merely to one of detail.

Here is the point where the president's proposal for arbitration by "two eminent disinterested" men could come into play. But Japan will avoid this if she can. She wants to make a direct settlement.

In spite of Russian concern over the way in which the president has taken hold of the situation, it is a fact that the government at St. Petersburg has referred to him, in all the dispatches to the mission here, in the most friendly manner. The czar recognizes that the president is working unselfishly. The Russians speak of him highly and admire the way in which he rides down all obstacles. But they find also that in spite of what they firmly believe to be his determination to preserve an attitude of impartiality he unconsciously leans to the Japanese.

NEW ANGLO-JAP TREATY SIGNED

England Only Gets Assistance from Mikado in Defense of British Colonies of the Far East.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The new Anglo-Japanese treaty of alliance, it is believed, was signed some days ago.

In some respects the new treaty contains limitations as compared with the old treaty. For instance, the latter contained a clause to the effect that in case of a combination of the powers against Great Britain, Japan would be obliged to assist her ally, while the clause in the new treaty only requires the assistance of Japan so far as the British colonies in the far east and the Pacific are concerned.

The terms of the new treaty were fully agreed upon before parliament adjourned, but it was also agreed that the official announcement of its signature and of its full terms shall be deferred until after the conclusion of the Portsmouth conference.

CUBAN SOLDIERS TO GET ALL.

President Palma Signs Bill Providing for Payment of Balance of $60,000,000 Due Revolutionary Heroes.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

HAVANA, Aug. 25.—President Palma has approved the bill providing for the payment of the remaining revolutionary soldiers' claims. The original amount of these claims was approximately $60,000,000. Half of the claims were provided for by the issue of $35,000,000 bonds, sold to Speyer & Co. two years ago.

The bill, which has just become a law, provides that all the surplus money in the treasury shall be used towards the payment of these claims. This will be approximately $10,000,000. The balance is to be paid by the issue of 5 per cent bonds.

A great many of these claims were purchased by Americans, and, therefore, the major portion of this money will come directly back to the United States.

AUTO WRECK; CHICAGOAN HURT.

Young Women Thrown from Car While Hurrying from London to Liverpool to Catch Steamer.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Miss Schell and Miss Hoyt of Chicago, while journeying from London to Liverpool, where they intended to take a steamer for the United States, were thrown from a motor car. Miss Hoyt was slightly hurt, but is now convalescent. Miss Schell escaped injury. At a difficult turn of the road the brakes failed to work, the car mounted a bank, and was overturned.

Officers of Nebogatoff's Squadron Who Surrendered in Battle of Sea of Japan to Be Expelled from the Navy.

[BY CABLE TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 25.—All the officers of Admiral Nebogatoff's squadron who surrendered in the battle of the Sea of Japan, will be expelled from the navy. The statement is made on good authority.

Arrest Brokers on Swindling Charge.

Charging that he had been swindled out of $200 A. Opprel, 148 Dearborn street, yesterday caused the arrest of T. E. White and Frank Boudevin, connected with the firm of Boudevin & Co., commercial brokers at 59 Dearborn street. The men are charged with obtaining money by a confidence game.

PEACE SHIP NEAR ROCKS.

NEGOTIATIONS SEEM TO BE CLOSE TO FINAL RUPTURE.

Air at Portsmouth Filled with Gloomy Forebodings — Japanese May Consent to Scale Their Money Demand, but There Is No Sign They Will Do So—Russian Envoys Reach the Limit of the Concessions They Are Willing to Make.

BULLETIN.

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 25.—The time for the sitting of the conference tomorrow was not set when the adjournment was taken on Wednesday. This evening M. de Witte notified the Japanese mission that he was ready to meet it in the morning at 9:30. The Japanese, after consultation, demurred, on the ground that the minutes of the last meeting would not be ready in time. Therefore, at their request, the meeting was set for 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Portsmouth, N. H., Aug. 25.—The peace conference seems headed straight for the rocks. Despite the fact that every question of principle involved in the quarrel between the two countries has been settled in favor of the victor and that in reality only "words and money" still separate them the negotiations seem on the verge of a final rupture.

The air was filled tonight with gloomy forebodings, as superficially everything indicated that tomorrow's session of the conference will prove the "séance d'adieu."

In the most positive fashion it is declared that no new instructions had reached M. de Witte up to this evening which would permit him to entertain the consideration of the compromise proposition submitted by Baron Komura on Wednesday, and, therefore, unless Japan has a new proposal to make tomorrow all that seems to remain is for the plenipotentiaries to meet, sign a declaration that the conference has completed its labors, shake hands, and part as enemies, not as friends.

Only Small Hope Left.

But there are still unknown factors in the situation which in a twinkling might change the situation. The result of President Roosevelt's second appeal direct to Emperor Nicholas has not transpired and the result of the pressure on Japan to alter the form of her proposal by the elimination of the purchase price of the northern half of Sakhalin is not known.

The indications on both scores, however, are not reassuring. The press dispatches from Tokio and St. Petersburg, read with the most intense interest here, indicate an intransigent attitude on the part of both governments. Yet both are anxious for peace and only "words and money" bar the path. Probably it is not a matter of more than $200,000,000. Yet the Japanese cling doggedly to their demands. Their people at home insist on them.

The most competent Japanese authority, who did not conceal his pessimism when asked tonight whether for the sake of peace Japan would yield further, replied: "Read the dispatches from Tokio and draw your own conclusions."

Nevertheless there is warrant for the statement that they are not as implacable as they appear and from a conversation had tonight the distinct impression was gathered that they would scale their money demand and use any "formula" which would be acceptable to Russia. It is not believed they propose to let the conference end tomorrow.

Russian Limit Is Reached.

On the Russian side all pretense of claiming that M. de Witte is any longer negotiating has been abandoned. He has gone to the furthermost limit of his imperial master's orders. More he cannot do, sincerely as he personally may desire to bring the negotiations to a successful conclusion. His position is a difficult and peculiar one. He is a statesman of large ambition. Liberal at heart, he is yet a servant of his sovereign. At the present juncture his rôle is described as like that of Mirabeau. He stands between the king and his people. He obeys his sovereign, but he wants his people to know where the responsibility for the fate of the negotiations must rest. At the same time he cannot himself take a firm stand against his sovereign.

Witte Holds Out No Hope.

Shortly before midnight M. de Witte gave absolutely no encouragement to the idea that there would be a change of heart at St. Petersburg. Unless Tokio was ready to recede further he expressed the opinion that all was over. He used the following words:

"I have received no telegram from St. Petersburg which changes the situation. Indeed, I do not expect any. I have not asked instructions, so that I cannot receive any. If tomorrow there is to be a change it must come from the Japanese side."

This would seem to indicate that the president's second effort had failed at St. Petersburg. What, if anything, he has been able to do at Tokio, through his interview with Baron Kaneko this afternoon, still remains a mystery.

Information received at a late hour indicates that President Roosevelt's efforts are not exhausted; that he is still in communication with Tokio and St. Petersburg. Tomorrow's meeting consequently is likely not to prove decisive. It will probably be perfunctory, and some pretext will probably be found to adjourn over until Monday or Tuesday.

RUSSIA PREFERS WAR TO PEACE.

Foreign Office Repeats That Indemnity Will Not Be Paid in Any Form.

ARMIES MAY CLASH SOON.

Field Marshal Oyama Expected to Renew Attack with Vigor on Monday.

BY CABLE TO THE LONDON TIMES.
[RECABLED TO THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 25.—From the best information at hand there is little doubt that President Roosevelt's efforts for peace have failed. An important meeting of the board of foreign affairs was held this afternoon at which Count Lamsdorf, foreign minister, conferred with his colleagues in regard to the latest developments. After the conference Count Lamsdorf's representative said:

"We are in constant communication with M. de Witte, who has telegraphed many suggestions, but I assure you the situation has undergone no change. We still refuse to consider an indemnity in any shape, or manner, or form."

May Resume War Monday.

From Manchuria come reports of considerable activity on the part of the Japanese army. The opinion here is that Field Marshal Oyama is preparing to resume the offensive within a few days. It is believed the conference will drag on until Monday, when hostilities will be renewed in Manchuria with unprecedented vigor.

The bourse opened bouyant early today because of the optimistic telegrams from Portsmouth, but the bouyancy gave place to profound depression later when brokers became convinced that Peterhof would not give way.

Prefers War to Peace.

An exceptionally well informed personage whose name is universally known but who refuses to be quoted by name, said tonight:

"The inconsistency of the government's attitude in refusing to come to terms with Japan is more apparent than real. The fact is, the government does not want peace. The only anxiety was lest the Japanese should concede the main point. Russia's sole aim and object is to prolong the war for several reasons.

"First, an enormous majority of the Russian people could not understand peace without a victory, so long as Russia has enormous forces on the spot.

"Secondly, there is nothing to prevent Russia from continuing the war for five months.

"Thirdly, the government hopes that the douma when it meets will vote supplies for the prolongation of the war if necessary.

"Such, roughly speaking, is the government's program. Russia stands prepared to sacrifice her whole position in the far east rather than conclude a peace, however favorable.

War Means Internal Reforms.

"War must, however, bring real reforms if the government is to receive popular support. Relief of the famine sufferers means still further concessions. The liberalism of the government is quite unable to cope with distress. It would cost $200,000,000 for Russian officials to feed the starving people in twenty-two provinces, but only one-quarter of this sum if the work should be intrusted to the zemstvos.

"Thus internal and external ills inevitably will compel the government to espouse a reform in the present electoral law which will give Russia a real and not a sham douma. Indeed, the continuance of the war is the best thing for the country all round, paradoxical though it may seem."

Bar Association Indorses Efforts to Bring Japan and Russia to Peace.

WAR'S HORRORS DECRIED.

Two Reports on Insurance Discussed, but Matter Is Left to New Committee.

Narragansett Pier, R. I., Aug. 25.—The American Bar association today adopted resolutions indorsing President Roosevelt's efforts to bring peace between Japan and Russia. The resolution is as follows:

Resolved, That the American Bar association desires to express to President Roosevelt its warm approval and admiration for his efforts to try to bring about peace to millions of people abroad who are devastated and made desolate by war; and,

That it hopes he will continue to use his utmost endeavors to aid in every way possible those who are trying to end the war between two great nations who always have been friends of this country.

Two Reports on Insurance.

The special order was the consideration of the majority and minority reports by the insurance law committee. After discussion the whole matter was left to the incoming committee.

The majority report, signed by Ralph W. Breckenridge, Burton Smith, Alfred Hemenway, and R. W. Mercer, recommended legislation by congress providing for the federal supervision of insurance; the repeal of all state policy laws; a uniform fire policy, the terms of which shall be specifically defined; the repeal of all retaliatory tax laws; stricter corporation laws in the several states in so far as they affect the creation of insurance companies, and a federal statute prohibiting the use of the mails to all persons, associations, or corporations transacting the business of insurance in disregard of state and federal regulations. The report says:

"The officials of the leading companies, life, fire, and accident, recognize the steady growth of the sentiment in favor of national supervision, and they generally favor it, if only the state departments to which they now make returns will be superseded. The leading state insurance commissioners are also in favor of federal supervision.

Unnecessary Burden Seen.

"According to tables compiled in the bureau of corporations twenty-eight states in the year 1902 received from insurance companies, exclusive of taxes, over $5,000,000 more than they expended in the supervision of those companies. The iniquity of such a condition is obvious, for it lays an unnecessary burden upon all who seek to provide for their families and to avert disaster from fire through insurance. It is estimated that the expense of federal supervision would not be over 10 per cent of what state supervision now costs.

"A federal regulation requiring an accounting of the uses made of the immense sums accumulated through the prudence, thrift, and thrift of millions of policy holders will prevent improvident and improper investments and extravagant management."

The minority report, presented by W. R. Vance, declares that no reason has been given why the business of insurance should be regarded as interstate commerce. "There," the report says, "it is clear that the regulation and control of the business is beyond the powers of the federal government.

"It is the opinion of the minority that federal supervision, if it were constitutionally possible, would probably remedy many of the existing evils, but that such supervision is impossible without a constitutional amendment." The report characterizes existing methods of state regulation as "most defective," as they are inefficient in preventing "wildcat" companies from engaging in the business and are needlessly expensive to the policyholders, who in the last analysis bear the expenses incident to the business.

Other Reports Adopted.

The committee report on real estate, titles, etc., which recommended more uniform mortgage laws throughout the country, was adopted, as was the report of the committee on patent laws, which recommended the establishment of a special court for the consideration of patent cases.

Officers were elected as follows:

President, George R. Peck, Chicago.

Secretary, John Hinckley, Baltimore, Md.

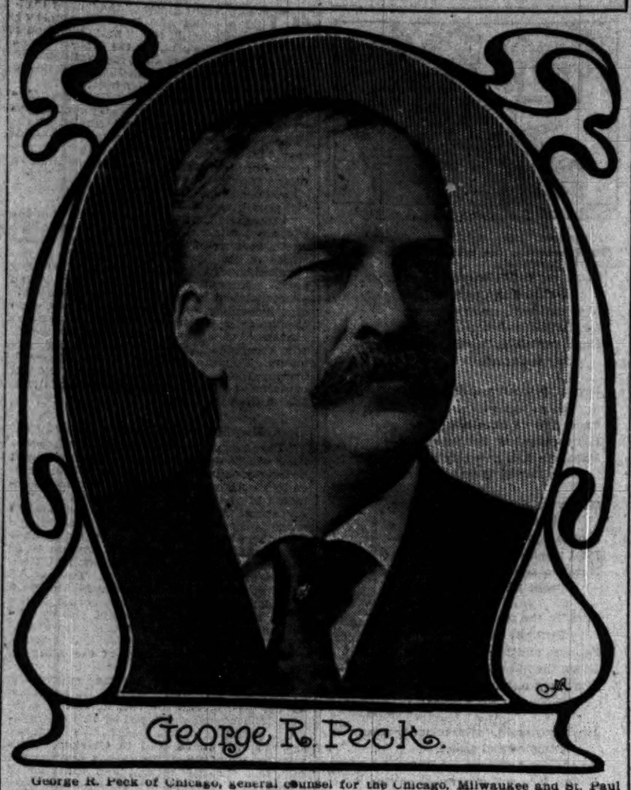

Treasurer, Frederick E. Wadhams, Albany, N. Y.

Executive committee: President, secretary, and treasurer, ex officio; elected members, M. S. Dickinson, Boston; Ralph W. Breckinridge, Omaha, Neb.; C. A. Munroe, Los Angeles, Cal.; Theodore S. Barnett, Norfolk, Va.; William P. Breen, Fort Wayne, Ind.

A vice president representing each state was also chosen.

The annual banquet of the Bar association was held tonight in Hotel Matthewson and was attended by 200 members. Henry S. Tucker of Norfolk, Va., the retiring president, acted as toastmaster, and the first speaker was George R. Peck of Chicago, the newly elected presiding officer. Justice Brown of the United States Supreme court spoke on the jury system and he was followed by his associate, Justice White.

George R. Peck of Chicago, general counsel for the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway company, was elected president of the American Bar association at the final session at Narragansett Pier, R. I., yesterday.

INDICTED IN COTTON LEAK

STATISTICIAN HOLMES WILL ANSWER ACCUSATIONS.

Former Official of Department of Agriculture Held on Charge of Conspiracy to Defraud Government in His Alleged Disbursement of Figures of Crop Reports — Announcement of Action Made by District Attorney Beach on Return from New York.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Edwin S. Holmes Jr., until recently the associate statistician of the department of agriculture, but who was dismissed as an outcome of the investigation into the leakage in the cotton crop reports, has been indicted on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the government.

This announcement was made tonight by United States District Attorney Morgan H. Beach just after he had returned from New York City, where he has been instrumental in causing the arrest of Frederick A. Peckham, the New York broker, at Saratoga, and Moses Haas of New York City. There are two indictments covering the charges against the three men.

Mr. Beach said tonight that Holmes, who has been away from Washington for some time, and whose whereabouts have not been generally known, will be here tomorrow morning to answer to the indictment.

Penalty Is Provided.

Section 5440 of the revised statutes, under which Holmes is indicted, and which it is understood forms the gravamen of the charge against the three men, provides that if two or more persons conspire either to commit any offense against the United States, or to defraud the United States in any manner, and one or more of such parties do any act to effect the object of the conspiracy, all the parties to such conspiracy shall be liable to a penalty of not less than $1,000 and not more than $10,000, and to imprisonment of not more than two years.

The report of the secret service agents into the charges alleging that advance information regarding the cotton crop reports had been given to cotton brokers in New York asserted that Holmes had communicated advance information to L. C. Van Riper, a New York broker and Moses Haas of New York, who Mr. Van Riper said acted as a go-between in conveying information from Holmes to other New York brokers. Mr. Van Riper, according to the report of the secret service agents, said he became acquainted with Holmes in New York in August, 1904, through a "mutual friend."

Van Riper Accused Holmes.

According to this testimony Holmes told Van Riper he could get information concerning the government crop report principally through the report of the general agents and their report of the state agents. Van Riper, it is alleged, said Holmes furnished him with information from time to time, for several months in advance of the publication of the official figures and that the information furnished by Holmes corresponded exactly with the figures afterward published as the official crop report.

After the submission of the report of the secret service agents Holmes was promptly dismissed and later the testimony taken by them was turned over to the department of justice with a view to the criminal prosecution of the persons alleged to be involved in the "leakage."

Haas Gives Up; Furnishes Bail.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Moses Haas, who was indicted with Frederick A. Peckham and Edwin S. Holmes Jr. for conspiracy to defraud, gave himself up today to United States Marshal Henkel at the home of his counsel, Mark Alter. Haas was taken to the marshal's private office and later arraigned before United States Commissioner Samuel M. Hitchcock. Bail was fixed at $10,000 and was given by Aaron Hersberg, a wholesale liquor dealer.

Haas was arrested on a complaint based upon the indictment sworn to by Assistant United States District Attorney Henry A. Wise. This charges that Holmes, Haas, and Peckham entered into a conspiracy to defraud the government through the furnishing by Holmes of copies of the cotton crop reports in advance to their official publication.

BILLY TAGGART IN DENIAL

DECLARES THAT HE NEVER HELD HANDS OR BOASTED OF DRAG.

Distant Relative, Under Fire of Cross Examination, Disclaims One and All of Plaintiff's Allegations and Incidentally Explains Various Episodes Which Were Thought to Throw Suspicion on Him—Gives Defendant Clean Bill of Character.

Wooster, O., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Billy Taggart, distant relative but no friend of Maj. Taggart, was the feature of the day in the divorce proceedings. He gave Mrs. Taggart, the defendant, a clean bill of character, and denied explicitly the injudicious remarks he is said to have made before the case had reached trial.

It was he who lived in the same house with Mrs. Taggart at Orrville and with whom, on one occasion, it is said, the defendant had held hands. He denied that he had bribed Culver Taggart and little Fannie Everly, who had looked through a keyhole to witness this alleged interlocking of fingers, to run out in the yard and play. He said he had never spent a night at the Taggart home and that his duties had been to carry in coal and wood.

And Twice Billy Denies.

"Did you not say," demanded Mr. Sterling for the major, "to Frank Dow, a detective, while you were working on an onion farm, that 'I don't have to work. I am only doing this to keep up appearances. I have a good lady friend who is furnishing me all the money I need. I would leave town, but the way things are in that divorce case it would develop talking.'"

"I did not," said Billy Taggart.

"Then did you not say to Mr. Dow, while taking a buggy ride: 'We are going to beat the other side to a finish. We are going to swear to some things that would make the devil blush'?" persisted Mr. Sterling.

"I did not," said Billy.

Billy said that he put his underclothes in with Mrs. Taggart's by Emma's permission.

In cross-examination Billy told of ordering a double set diamond ring from a house in New York by mail. He paid $1 for it and afterwards advertised it in the Orrville Crescent as lost and offered $50 for its return. He denied that he told James Hamilton, editor of the Crescent, that the ring belonged to Mrs. Taggart and cost $500.

Denies Displaying Letters.

Billy denied that at various times he displayed to certain people named by the plaintiff a bunch of letters which he said were from Grace and which would create a sensation if their contents were made public.

Emma Lyttle, the colored servant, on the stand again today, told of the alleged giving of a fine brocaded silk dress to the Filipino woman, Augustina, by Maj. Taggart at Christmas time while in Manila. She denied that she told Nora Murphy that Mrs. Taggart's actions on a train with a strange man were such as to make the passengers inquire if they were married.

She denied that she ever saw Mrs. Taggart sitting on Clinton Spencer's lap in Chicago. Witness explained the appearance of Billy Taggart's underclothing in Mrs. Taggart's washing at Orville by saying that while Mrs. Taggart was in Cincinnati Billy came to her (Emma) and asked permission to send his clothes to the wash with theirs.

Mrs. Taggart will take the stand tomorrow morning.

PRIZE IS OFFERED WEATHER WIZARD

New York Lawyer Will Pay Sum to Best Prophet from Oct. 15 to Nov. 15.

DIAMONDS IN KENTUCKY.

South African Expert Crosses the Ocean, Sure He Will Find Mines Amid Blue Grass.

NEW YORK BUREAU CHICAGO TRIBUNE.
New York, Aug. 25.

Offers $100 Prize for Best Prophecy of Weather.

Convinced that the forecasting department of the United States weather bureau is sadly defective and wishing to arouse the interest of the amateur weather sharps, F. R. Fast, a lawyer of 97 Nassau street, has offered a cash prize of $100 for any one who proves most correct in predicting the weather during the period commencing at midnight Oct. 15 and ending at midnight Nov. 15. The predictions must cover the twenty-four hours following the receipt of the prophecy.

"For twenty-five years I have made a close study of the weather reports, especially those given by the United States weather bureau," said Mr. Fast. "As a result I find not more than 47 per cent of these reports are correct."

Comes from South Africa for Kentucky Diamonds.

David Draper, F. G. S., of Johannesburg, South Africa, left here today for Kentucky, where he will seek to discover diamonds. Failing there, he will transfer his investigation to North Carolina. Draper has come from South Africa to ascertain the possibilities of successful diamond mining in this country. He is the discoverer of the Pretoria diamond mines.

"My presence in this country," said Mr. Draper, "is proof positive of my belief in rich deposits of diamonds here. Every indication points that way. It was twenty-nine years after the first diamonds were found in Pretoria before their sources were discovered in Reitfontein and other points.

"Many localities of the United States have yielded diamonds. It has been the idea of some scientists that they could be traced to their source in Canada, but this theory does not impress me. I believe there are a number of sources of stones found in the glacial drift that will eventually be proved to come from many points."

Girl of 6 Made Fortune Posing as Model.

Ruth Abbott Wells, the child model who has just been taken from her mother, a former "Florodora" girl, and given into the custody of her father, Frank H. Wells of this city, to whom a decree of absolute divorce has been granted, enjoys the unique distinction of being the only little girl alive who has made a fortune. She has money in the bank earned by herself, alone, since she was 2 years old. Now she has just turned 6, and is on the road to make a sum sufficient to support herself in comfort, if not in luxury, all her days.

Ruth began earning money two years ago. Six months later she had money in the bank. When she was 3 years old she had money invested in securities. Now, at 6, she could be called a capitalist.

When in town Ruth receives high prices for her work. She poses for all the artists and is a favorite model in photographic studios. Not a cent less than $10 a sitting will this youthful model accept, and often she receives more. At times she has filled four appointments in an afternoon, and it is not an unknown thing for her to receive $25 for a single sitting.

"Cits" Will Insist on Jerome for Mayor.

Although the Citizens' union will be present at a conference called by the republican organization for Aug. 31, the only conferring the "Cits" will do will be to insist that the one base for fusion to which they will agree must be the nomination for mayor of District Attorney Jerome. Odell, it is true, has stated "if necessary, the republicans will accept Jerome, but there is little doubt that at next Thursday's meeting Odell's personal ill feeling towards Jerome will be made manifest by the demand on the part of those representing him that if the republicans consent to indorse Jerome for re-election as district attorney, the Citizens' union shall be content and allow the republican organization to name the head of the ticket.

R. Fulton Cutting and his colleague of the Citizens' union committee will refuse to listen to such a demand. They already have prepared plans for forcing Jerome on the republicans by nominating him before the republican convention meets.

Banker Sought by Woman Nemesis Who Is Arrested.

After an interval of seven years Mrs. Florrie la Rochelle Martin has reappeared in New York as the Nemesis of Banker James Selden McCobb. In 1891 she was acquitted at Birmingham, Ala., of the murder of her brother-in-law, Edward Martin, a banker. She is the daughter of Bishop Power of Macon, Ga.

Mrs. Martin went today to the Hotel Royalton, where Banker McCobb lives, and asked to see him. The clerk said McCobb was not in. Mrs. Martin then demanded to see the banker and said she would not go away until she had.

According to the hotel people, she created a scene and was arrested, but on her promise not to annoy McCobb was released.

Mrs. Martin was last heard from here in 1899, when she was arrested for disorderly conduct. At the hearing she declared that Banker McCobb was the father of her children. McCobb denied the child incident in toto.

Gates Challenges Rockefeller to a Golf Match.

"I don't know what John D. Rockefeller goes around in, but I'd like to bet some money I can beat him at golf." That is what John W. Gates said when he got back to Wall street today from the Saratoga races. He had been away for two months and looked brown as an Indian. He has lost fifty pounds, which he says is due to the fact that he played golf practically all summer.

"I guess I can do my 18 holes in about 95," he said, laughingly. "Of course, sometimes I take more and more times I take less, but it has done me a lot of good and I feel fine."

Steamer Carrying Oil Burns Nine Hours.

The British four masted ship Marlborough Hill, with a cargo of case oil and naphtha, which was set on fire by lightning shortly after midnight last night, was still burning today, nine hours later, when towed from its anchorage off Tompkinsville to a dock. The upper works having burned away the hull was taken to a wrecking dock. The vessel was almost filled with water before a towline could be attached.

MacNaughton Denies Engagement to Myra Kelly.

Allan MacNaughton of Teaneck, N. Y. president of the Standard Coach Horse company of New York, denied today that he had been married to Miss Myra Kelly, author of "Little Citizens" and other tales of east side life. MacNaughton also denied that he was engaged to Miss Kelly. Both statements are confirmed by J. L. C. Clarke, Miss Kelly's uncle.

RAW JUICE ADJUNCT ONLY

CURE FOR WHITE PLAGUE DOES NOT WORK ALONE.

Patient Is Overfed, According to Dr. Russell, by Means of New Diet, Which Supplies "Unknown Something," Whether Food or Medicine Is Not Known—New Decoction Will Not Be Sold at Soda Fountains Nor Be Rival of Breakfast Foods.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—That raw vegetable juice will cure consumption, as Dr. John F. Russell has just announced in a report of the annex of the post-graduate hospital dispensary for the treatment of pulmonary tuberculosis, is considered by New York physicians as promising to prove of the greatest importance, but neither Dr. Russell nor the physicians who have investigated the subject are willing to prophesy results. Neither will they say any more as to the value of the cure than to refer to the fact that whereas by the old method of treatment the hospital accomplished thirteen cures for the whole of last year, the new method already has accomplished eleven between Jan. 11 and June 30.

Moreover, the treatment by vegetable juice only is intended as a supplement to the treatment which Dr. Russell already has been employing in the hospital as a result of his seven years' experimenting. It is not intended to be used alone.

Five Years to Establish Value.

Dr. Donald M. Barstow, who is a member of the committee appointed to investigate Dr. Russell's work, said:

"The new treatment has been in use only five months and it will take more like five years to establish accurately just what its value is. But we know that in these five months it accomplished eleven cures, or nearly as many as the old method accomplished in all the preceding years. It must be regarded only as a valuable addition to the treatment of tuberculosis which Dr. Russell already has established, which consists of a systematic overfeeding of the patient, so regulated that there shall be no accumulation of waste products in the system.

"It is easy to overfeed a patient, but it is not so easy to overfeed him so he shall not be sick. This is avoided in Dr. Russell's treatment by the careful selection of foods and the free use of cathartics.

Ideal Food Bread, Butter, and Milk.

"Dr. Russell has arrived at what he regards the best food for consumptives, and after experimenting with all kinds, he regards the food nearest the ideal to be bread and butter and milk. There is something lacking in this diet, however, for the cure of certain cases, and the unknown something is this that the raw vegetable juice seems to supply. Whether this unknown something is in the nature of food or medicine it is hard to say.

"Nor is it easy to tell by what elements the raw vegetable juice differs from the diet of bread, butter, and milk. Cane sugar probably is not in this diet, while it appears in the juice there probably are a number of things, one of which does not appear in the other. The juice is only one-half or one-third as strong in proteids as milk, so it is not strong as a food. There is no reason to believe the juice contains an anti-toxin, though this is possible. Dr. Russell's method, however, is based, not on anti-toxin but on overfeeding, and so differs entirely from the treatment by Koch's lymph.

No Rival of Breakfast Foods.

"I do not know whether the curative powers of the juice depend on its being raw. The rumor that it could be sold at soda fountains and be made a popular drink is preposterous. Dr. Russell has no intention of making it a rival of breakfast foods. It should be remembered, however, that the juice diet is only one part of the treatment. It has no value apart from the rest of the diet."

VERDICT IN LAKE SHORE WRECK

Coroner of Lake County, O., Finds Testimony Insufficient to Hold Any One.

Painesville, O., Aug. 25.—Coroner York of Lake county rendered his verdict this afternoon in connection with the wreck of the Twentieth Century limited on the Lake Shore road at Mentor, near here, on the night of June 21, which resulted in the death of a number of passengers. The coroner said the testimony was insufficient to hold any one guilty of criminal negligence. He added, however, that the testimony tended to show that the switch which caused the wreck was opened by an employé of the company. He mentioned no name in this connection.

NEW ORLEANS' BARS GO UP

CITY TAKES STEPS TO PREVENT RETURN OF ITALIANS.

State Health Authorities Are Co-operating with Federal Officials in Preventing the Indiscriminate Moving About of Refugees from Plague Infected Districts — Yellow Fever Epidemic Spreads Alarmingly Through the State.

RECORD OF FEVER EPIDEMIC.

New deaths	6
Total deaths	245
New cases	86
Total cases to date	1,536
Cases under treatment	930
New subfoci	16
Total subfoci to date	378

New Orleans, La., Aug. 25.—Action was taken today at a meeting of the state board of health to enable the federal authorities to put a stop to indiscriminate travel between infected points and New Orleans, the idea being to prevent Italians and others from returning to New Orleans from settlements where the fever now exists and causing fresh infection here.

The resolution is general in character and authorizes any local health officers of infected localities to prohibit the introduction into their communities of persons acclimated, unacclimated or said to be immune, when in their judgment such introduction would add to or increase the prevalence of the disease.

Scourge Spreads in Country.

Eighty-six new cases were reported today, bringing the respective totals up to 248 and 1,626.

New Orleans has received one case of fever which appears to have come from Memphis The patient was a woman, who came here Aug. 16 and was taken ill two days later. The disease manifestly was not contracted here, owing to the early developments of the disease after arrival.

Following is a summary of the reports from the country:

HANSON CITY—Five new cases.
PATTERSON—Nine new cases.
MORGAN CITY—One new case.
OAKE PROVIDENCE—Two new cases, one death.
MISSISSIPPI CITY—One new case.
GULFPORT, MISS.—Three new cases.

Gov. Jelks to Gov. Blanchard.

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 25.—Gov. W. D. Jelks, who was here today, gave out a sharp interview in reply to strictures recently made upon Alabama's quarantine regulations by Gov. N. C. Blanchard of Louisiana.

"Gov. Blanchard," he said, "should be indulgent towards the efforts of officials of other states, because it was his officials who invited yellow fever to New Orleans by a lax system of quarantine.

"Sometimes it may occur that some of our officials are not as discreet as we would like to have them be, but in Alabama the quarantine is being carried on by the best means at our disposal."

NEXT CONVENTION IN CHICAGO.

League of American Municipalities Decides on Meeting Place and Elects Officers.

Toledo, O., Aug. 25.—The League of American Municipalities concluded its convention today by selecting Chicago as the next meeting place. The following were elected officers of the league:

President—R. G. Rhett, mayor of Charleston, S. C.
Secretary—John MacVicar, Des Moines.
Treasurer—William D. Morgan, Georgetown, S. C.
Trustees—Louis Betts, St. Paul; M. A. Brouse, Kokomo; Silas Cook, East St. Louis; Robert Finch, Toledo; Hugo Grosser, Chicago; Harry Hooper, Baltimore; Otto Rhinehart, Detroit.

Further discussion of municipal ownership, which has so largely occupied the time of the convention, was ended by a motion to discontinue the debate.

13 DEAD IN CANYON FLOOD.

Colorado Cloudburst Catastrophe Gives Up but Six Bodies, Two Those of Mother and Babe.

Trinidad, Colo., Aug. 25.—A telephone message from Hastings this afternoon stated that thirteen persons are known to be dead or missing in the cloudburst north of here last night. Six bodies have been recovered, among them being a woman with the body of a 6 months old child.

"BEST ON THE BARS"

Solo RYE

No whiskey was ever put on the market which so completely captured the public as this. It has fairly leaped into popularity. The reason is plain—it is honest whiskey.

Solo Rye is pure—no adulterations or injurious ingredients enter into its makeup. It is ripe, smooth, mellow, old, delicious—a whiskey whose pleasant taste and delightful effects will linger long in your memory.

Solo Rye is well and properly aged in white oaken barrels; the hobby of a distiller who has been storing it for years.

Ask for it today—try it once—you will never need the second invitation.

THE MAN IN THE AUTOMOBILE.

In dealing with the ordinary wayfarer the man in the automobile has a great advantage. He can run over, cripple, or kill the pedestrian and completely disable anybody in a light vehicle. But sensible men in automobiles do not think it is wise to exercise all their privileges. They realize that while the individual man in the street is insignificant, a large number of such men is formidable. The unit may be disregarded, the mass must be considered.

In England and on the continent there is a growing feeling that traffic by automobiles must be carefully regulated, and in some instances restricted. The rate of speed must be kept within reasonable limits. In some public places and during some hours automobiles are not admitted. They are excluded from Hyde park in London the best part of the afternoon during the fashionable season.

Sensible owners and drivers of automobiles both abroad and in this country show a disposition to accommodate themselves to the rights of the general public. It is only the foolhardy, the rash, the ignorant, or the vicious who do not admit that this kind of traffic, like all other traffic, is justly subject to public regulation. The safety and the comfort of humble pedestrians rise superior to the pleasure of the owners of any kind of vehicle, no matter how rich or how arrogant they may be.

It follows that the driver of an automobile who does not show a "decent regard for the opinions of mankind" is doing an injury to all owners of machines. Mere violence of action or of speech will accomplish nothing. Whether the apprehensions of timid men and women are well founded or not, they must, to some extent, be considered. The motorman who runs at an excessive rate of speed through frequented streets or in pleasure parks or grounds invites public regulations which may be harsh or unreasonable. To that extent he is an offender not only against the general public but against his own class or kind.

The motorman who takes corners at a high rate of speed does a wrong to the public and puts his own neck in peril. On this point it is a pleasure to notice the following "cautions" of a firm of manufacturers to drivers who use their machines:

> No corner must be rounded at a fast pace under any circumstances. Quite irrespective of the legal limit corners should be taken at not more than six to eight miles per hour at the outside. But in narrow streets or roads, or where there is much traffic the speed should be reduced to practically walking pace. In all cases the car should be kept well in hand when turning a corner or approaching a crossing.

Much might be said of the folly of intrusting machines to incompetent drivers, and especially to the youth and children of both sexes. The moral is too obvious. High powered machines are much more dangerous and more difficult to manage than locomotive engines. The automobile runs "wild" over no fixed track—often on an unfamiliar road at a high rate of speed; its machinery is much more liable to derangement than that of a locomotive; there are no flagmen nor tower men along the way, nor any time tables. The management of such a machine requires a much greater degree of skill than that of a locomotive. Yet we find these terrible engines of destruction, capable, as one might say, of dealing death from both ends and the middle, often intrusted to the hands of a youth or an inexperienced man who may be by temperament or nervous organization wholly unfitted to discharge the duties even of a driver of gentle and well trained horses.

Of course the abuse of the thing has got to stop. Owners and makers of automobiles ought to be the first to see that it shall stop. They are more interested than anybody else in having it stopped. Not only the safety of their fellow citizens in the streets but their own safety requires that these great machines should not be sent headlong through the streets, avenues, or parks under the direction of incompetent or reckless drivers. No matter how skillful the drivers may be, they should not be permitted to go anywhere at a rate of speed that will seriously disturb or alarm the general public or make residence in particular streets or suburbs less desirable than it is now.

LOWER ILLINOIS CENTRAL FARES.

It is rumored that the management of the Illinois Central railroad is about to establish, for competitive purposes, a uniform nickel fare on its local service as far south as Sixty-third street. The present fares vary according to distance from 5 to 10 cents by commutation tickets, and the cash fare for most of the popular stations is 10 cents. The rumored reduction would be a boon to the public, and the resultant increase of patronage to the company would by no means involve a corresponding loss to other companies.

Such a reduction would certainly win travel from the South Side Elevated road, especially in the vicinity of the Sixty-third street line of that road, and to a less degree in the vicinity of the Fortieth street branch eastward, which is soon to be completed. An Illinois Central express train, for example, carries a passenger to Sixty-third street in seventeen or eighteen minutes, whereas an elevated train requires double that time. The reduction would also win a certain number of passengers who now use the surface cars for long distances because of their nickel fare. There are many such passengers in summer, when open surface cars are used and when Illinois Central passengers are sprinkled with cinders from the locomotive.

On the other hand, if the reduction were made, many persons who now use the surface cars and take transfers would use the Illinois Central line north and south and take crosstown surface lines to eke out their journeys. The surface company would then get its nickel in each case without giving a transfer, and the steam road would add a passenger. A good many persons could afford 10 cents daily for the time thus saved, who could not afford twice that sum. The reduction would also develop new business by stimulating residential building along the Illinois Central line.

In short, every advance in popular rapid transit, and especially real rapid transit—which the Illinois Central service ought to be—is always certain to develop its own traffic without any corresponding reduction in that of other agencies. The adoption, too, of the fare in question would be in harmony with the general tendency toward "one city one fare."

There is another change, however, quite as important as a reduction of fares, which the Illinois Central management ought to make, and that is the establishment of a more frequent service. If the road is ever to become really popular for local travel cars must be operated at intervals similar to those of the elevated roads. When trains run twenty or thirty minutes apart it is only the few who can plan to use them. If cars were to leave every five minutes passengers could abandon time tables and go to the stations at any time, just as they do now to the elevated stations, knowing that they would at most have but a nominal wait.

The demand, too, for such increased frequency would call logically for electrification, and if a reduced fare shall ultimately stimulate that improvement the public will have a double ground for satisfaction.

INDEMNITY.

With Japan the indemnity question is controlled by commercial or business reasons. With Russia it is a sentimental as well as a business question. When the respective governments discuss indemnity they do not stand on the same plane nor consider the subject from the same point of view. It is not surprising that while they have agreed with comparative ease regarding many things the question of indemnity still divides them.

Confessedly Japan is influenced, as some jeering critic said, by "mercenary" motives in attempting to exact from Russia as many millions as possible. Those motives are not discreditable to Japan. It is actuated by principles which, on different occasions, have influenced many European nations. Napoleon extorted a war indemnity from Prussia, and Germany from France. When Greece made war on Turkey eight years ago and was defeated an indemnity was exacted. Japan has contracted a war debt which, for a poor country, is a heavy one. Naturally it wishes to recover from Russia as large a proportion of its military expenses as possible. Every business man will appreciate the motives.

If Russia looked at the question of indemnity from the commercial side only it would be disinclined to pay anything. Russia's finances are in no better shape than those of Japan. Russia could get the money Japan asks, but to do so would have to increase a public debt which is already alarmingly large. There remains the sentimental side of the question. It is the belief of Russia that it would be degraded and humiliated in the eyes of the world if it were to buy peace with money—and buy it of an Asiatic power. Since Russia drove out the Mongol Khans it has paid tribute to no one. Russia believes, and probably with good reason, that its prestige with the great powers would be seriously impaired if it were to yield to Japan. The monetary value of "prestige" cannot be assessed, but it is worth a great deal. Russia, in order not to impair this intangible "prestige," may be willing to spend five or six hundred millions more in fighting.

Here is a deadlock. Of the simple view of Japan and the mixed view taken by Russia, which side should give way? Manifestly it will be easier for Japan than for its adversary. Japan has only to determine whether, as a business proposition, it is better to go on with the war than to stop it. Japan would make no sacrifice of pride in reducing or abating its demand for money. Japan has already obtained all it went to war for and more. It has Corea, Port Arthur, Dalny, the Liaotung peninsula, and the Chinese Eastern railway. Japan has strengthened its navy with captured Russian ships. The Russians have been driven out of Manchuria, and it is no longer a fiction that the province belongs to China.

It is true that it has cost Japan several hundred million dollars to get all it has obtained. Part of it should have been conceded by Russia as a matter of justice. But if Japan had not gone to war and spent men and money to vindicate its rights it would not have the "prestige" or the territory it enjoys today. It is a made nation as the result of that war—a power entitled to be treated with respect or deference by all other nations. If Japan chooses to speak authoritatively henceforth about questions arising in the far east its right to do so cannot be disputed. Is not a place among the great nations worth a war debt?

If hostilities continue because Japan will not waive its claim to an indemnity it is not likely that it will lose what it now has. If Russia were to find an ally in France or Germany the only aid which could be given would be in troops, but it is generals rather than soldiers that Russia needs. Japan probably could defeat the Russians again, and get Harbin and Vladivostok, which it does not greatly care for. In the meanwhile it would be spending more money and borrowing from merchants and manufacturers the money they need in their business. If Japan be convinced that it is impossible to get money from Russia the former can say philosophically that it will not pay to go on with the war and drop the indemnity demand. Nobody will think the worse of Japan for so doing.

There are times when nations, like men, feel that their "honor" is at stake and are willing to spend the last dollar and shed the last drop of blood rather than make concessions they look on as degrading. It is useless to talk in commercial terms to them and tell them it will "not pay" to continue the struggle. If Russia deems it humiliating and degrading to pay a large indemnity it is useless for Japan to insist on one in a "peace" conference or for onlookers to suggest compliance. If that be the Russian state of mind another battle in the far east and another defeat would not change it. The Japanese would be as far as ever from their indemnity and with their finances in worse shape would see more clearly than ever the commercial value of peace.

If Japan shall hold out for an indemnity, and, failing to get it, shall go on with the war, the general opinion will be that Japanese statesmen, being unable to appreciate the force of the sentiments of honor and dignity which influence western nations, allowed their desire to drive a good bargain to carry them too far. If Japan understood the situation thoroughly it might properly stop where it is or accept some modification of its terms without suffering serious loss in the opinion of the civilized world.

WHY not, Mr. Dunne? Everybody knows substantially what is in it.

As to the City of Traverse—but the City of Traverse is becoming tiresome.

BOTH the detectives and the peace envoys agree on the proposition that the Dove is an elusive creature.

THE mayor of Atlanta, according to all accounts, is a pretty good sort of man otherwise.

IN the management of the campaign of Mr. Jerome of New York it is painfully apparent that some one has blundered.

DID it ever occur to you that about nine-tenths of the stories printed concerning Mr. Rockefeller might possibly be untrue?

THERE are indications that the Taggart case may disappear with the early frosts.

A NEW YORK contemporary sees an "undeniable drift of public sympathy toward Russia" in this country. The feminine portion of the public certainly is of the opinion that Russia sent the handsomer set of envoys.

LET no mistaken idea as to the country's prosperity blind you to the certainty that the price of coal will make another upward leap next Friday.

LORD CURZON, a gentleman of much experience in a managerial capacity, particularly in eastern countries, is open to a lucrative engagement. Address, etc.

WHILE the Russian envoys naturally dislike to come squarely face to face with the proposition that they must give up Sakhalin, the idea that something of the kind might happen must have occurred to them several months ago.

THE bigamy charges against Hoch have been outlawed and the cases stricken from the docket. It is just as well. "Bigamy" feebly expressed it.

DOUBTLESS many a hard working man is struggling along, trying to make a bare living, wholly unaware of the fact that he has 10 or 15 cents coming to him from his investment in the World's Columbian exposition.

THE report of Expert Dupont, being radically different, had no trouble in finding its way into print.

Is NOT all the money tainted, more or less, Mr. Gladden? Think how much of the government's revenue comes from the Demon Rum!

EVEN yet the newspapers of the country treat of the "passing of Addicks" with an interrogation point. Do they think he may have a few dollars still up his sleeve?

PROBABLY Charles Dickens, who wrote so lovingly of crickets, never attended a picnic that was broken up by an overwhelming visitation of them.

IT would be judicious on the part of Atlanta, Ga., nevertheless, to assume municipal ownership of its mayor and keep him at home until he reforms.

PITCHER REULBACH'S case affords a striking illustration of the fact that a young man just out of college need not wait long for distinction if he chooses the right career.

THE New York World comes right out and says Chicago's celebrated policemen are "about the most ineffective protective force that disgraces any city in the United States." No mere apology or retraction can atone for that. It calls for blood.

IN A MINOR KEY.

Couldn't Deny It.

"By the way," said the prospective settler, "there's another thing I'd like to know. Is there any race prejudice in this section?"

"Yes, sir," reluctantly admitted the elderly native; "there's more or less of it here. Wunst in a while we take a shot at them automobile fellers when they git to goin' too fast."

First He Had Heard of It.

Mrs. Chugwater—"Have you seen what the papers say about this cricket pest?"

Mr. Chugwater—"No. For heaven's sake, is that starting up again? I thought baseball had killed it off."

Impertinence Properly Rebuked.

Visitor (at dime museum)—"How much do you weigh, ma'am?"

Fat Woman (her first engagement)—"Young man, it's awfully rude and impolite to ask a lady a question like that!"

Scrap of History.

Here is a story that comes from the Wenona fire department.

Pat was a recent importation, but instead of landing a job on th' foorce he got an assignment as a teamster.

Unaccustomed to the ways of this country, he was continually getting into trouble with his wagon, owing principally to the fact that he insisted upon turning to the left instead of the right.

At last these occurrences became so numerous that the stable boss informed him he would give him just one more trial.

Pat had been away from the barns, after this warning, only a short time when word came that his outfit had been badly demolished again and the report was confirmed later by Pat himself.

"Didn't I tell you always to turn to the right?" asked the boss.

"Well, sor," said Pat, "I did turn to the right whin I met the fire engine, but fwhat good did it do? Right afther thim was a gang of drunken painters wid a wagon load of ladders an' they run right into me, sor!"

Wrong Kind.

Investor—"What's the reason I'm not getting any dividends on my stock?"

Officer of Company—"I can explain that. We are using our earnings now in making extensive improvements in the plant. For the last six months our output has been, in round numbers——"

Investor—"It's the round numbers I'm objecting to, sir! It's time there was a figure of some other shape at the left hand side of them!"

With the Best Intentions.

Rich Uncle—"Well, Annabel, have you named the baby for me?"

Young Wife—"N—no, Uncle James, but we have come as near to it as we can. We call her Jemima."

LETTER OF MARQUISE DE FONTENOY

Copyright: 1905: By the Marquise de Fontenoy.

IT is not because they happen to be Americans that the two sons of Henry Phipps have incurred so much obloquy in Scotland in connection with the shooting of Lord Lovat's former gillie under the impression that he was a poacher on the Beaufort castle estate, which the Pittsburg magnate has rented for several seasons past. Any one who did not happen to be a Scotchman would come in for a similar amount of abuse, and if the Phipps boys had been English instead of American they would not have fared one bit better. Although outsiders bring an immense amount of money into Scotland each year, yet there is no part of Great Britain, I might almost say of the British empire, where the sentiment against the stranger is more pronounced than in Scotland, or where the visitor is made to feel, not so much by the classes but by the masses, and especially by the peasantry, that he is an alien.

If the shooting had been done by a Scotchman, and especially by some scion of the titled or untitled aristocracy of the northern kingdom, and generous compensation had been made, such as Henry Phipps has offered, probably nothing would have been heard about the matter; certainly no criminal proceedings would have been instituted such as have been inaugurated against the young Phippses. For the lads manifestly believed that they were shooting with bird shot—that is to say peppering—poachers, and since their father's tenancy of Lord Lovat's Beaufort castle estate the place has been overrun with poachers, who, while they might have entertained some scruples about stealing the game and the fish of the lord of the soil, felt perfectly justified in spoiling the unwelcome and always unpopular stranger whose wealth alone had enabled him to secure control of one of those great highland estates, where feudalism has survived to a greater degree than almost anywhere else in Europe.

Leaving aside the question as to whether the unfortunate man, blinded by the Phipps boys, was or was not engaged in poaching—with the two or three men who were with him—it may be pointed out in Europe, in Great Britain, as well as on the continent, that the sentiment of the classes is invariably against the poacher. The judges are recruited from the classes, while the provincial magistrates are usually identified with the large or small land owners, who preserve game and who look upon poaching as one of the most heinous of crimes. Poachers caught in the act will receive the most severe sentences that it is possible to impose from county magistrates before whom they may be brought, and in any shooting affray between the poachers and the gamekeepers the latter and their masters almost always are favored in such a way as to show where the sympathy of the court lies. Should the case, however, get before a jury, the latter, recruited as a rule from the masses, rather than from the land owning classes, would usually favor the poacher, and sometimes acquit him in the face of the most conclusive evidence, while it may be relied upon to manifest the utmost animosity against his assailants. That is why it is to be feared that it may go hard with the Phipps boys when their case comes up for trial in Scotland. For in this instance they will have not only the jury, representing the masses, disposed to severity against them but also the judges, representing the feelings of the land owning classes, which, had the defendants been Scotchmen, would probably have been in their favor.

Such enormous prices are paid for the preservation of game in Europe that people put to this expense cannot be blamed much for regarding poachers much in the light of burglars, against whom the use of firearms is perfectly permissible. In Great Britain, however, the poachers are encouraged by the knowledge that if any shooting takes place they are sure of sympathy in the event of their case getting before a jury, while the preservers of game, realizing this, will resort to the most extraordinary expedients to get a poaching family out of the district. Many is the village household in Great Britain that has been furnished by the lord of the manor with the necessary means to emigrate to this country or to Canada for no other reason than that one or more of its members were notorious poachers, and that it was the cheapest and least troublesome way of getting rid of them.

On the continent of Europe, especially in Germany, Austria, Hungary, and Russia, the preservers of game have a freer hand, and war to the knife is carried on with poachers. If any of the latter happens to be either seriously wounded or killed outright the law takes little notice of the matter, assuming that the shooting has been justifiable, and the poachers, realizing that they are viewed by the authorities and by the territorial magnates as outlaws and as sort of animals of prey, who may be shot on sight if found trespassing on the game preserves, gun in hand, do not hesitate themselves to shoot to kill. Indeed, there have been many instances not merely of gamekeepers but also of landowners being laid low by a bullet fired sometimes by an unseen hand from the farther edge of a clearing in the forest, from behind a tree or a rock. Under the circumstances it has always appeared to me, knowing as I do of so many of such cases, that the kaiser incurs an immense amount of risk when roaming over his game preserves. Those specially in the eastern portion of Prussia are fraught with peril. For the man shooting him would find no difficulty in escaping across the neighboring frontier of Russia and his identity might never be known. Nor could one ever ascertain, save by voluntary confession of the culprit in the case, whether the assailant had been some anarchist, regicide, or a mere "wilddieb" or poacher, glad to get a shot at one of those who hunted him down so relentlessly—namely: the land owning game preserving class.

One thing which has contributed to prejudice public opinion in Scotland against the sons of Henry Phipps is the report widely circulated to the effect that they had "wounded" a number of stags. There is no more heinous crime among sport lovers in Scotland than the "wounding" of a stag without killing it, and it is visited with the same amount of social ostracism and popular obloquy as the offense of vulpicide, that is to say, the killing of a fox in England. No one felt more strongly on the subject than the late Queen Victoria, and none who witnessed the scene can forget the aspect of her face and the looks of horror expressed on the features of those present when one of her young foreign relatives, who had arrived from abroad to stay with her at Balmoral, remarked, in reply to her inquiry as to what sport he had had while out deer stalking in the morning: "Why, grandmamma, I did not succeed in killing a stag, but I hit quite a number." A painful silence followed this utterance, and then the theme of the conversation was abruptly changed. But the queen took steps to prevent her young kinsman having any more deer stalking during his visit to Balmoral.

Couldn't Break the Law.

THE TAXPAYER'S LULLABY

[Copyright: 1905: By Tribune Company.]

Tax assessments are reduced $300 to $950 for those who have babies.

Hush, my child; lie still and slumber,
Dimpled and sweet—
The assessor came to number
All the goods that me incumber.
Hush, my child, lie still and slumber—
My tax receipt.

Dreamily the day is dying,
So go to rest.
Papa now no more is sighing,
His assessment figures eyeing—
Papa, child, is now relying On Roy O. West.

Slowly now the shadows gather,
Birds find the nest.
Clouds pile up in purple lather—
Do I think of shaving? Rather!
Here's a message to your father
From Roy O. West.

Silently the stars come peeping;
Twilight begins.
Zephyrs now the sky are sweeping,
Down the hill the sand man's creeping—
Hush, my babe, 'tis time for sleeping.
Wish you were twins!

Hush, my child, my precious treasure,
Dimpled and sweet.
On the dark assessment days your
Bonny face will give me pleasure.
Joyous in a thousand ways, you're

STARVING BABIES TAKEN TO "TRIBUNE" HOSPITAL.

Arrival of Children Increases Number of Patients at Glen Ellyn to 57—Boys and Girls Inspect Farm.

ADDITIONS TO FUND.

Lucy C. Graves	$10.00

With the arrival of three little children of the slums, sickly, dirty faced, and ragged, at THE TRIBUNE summer hospital at Glen Ellyn yesterday, the total number of patients was increased to fifty-seven. As soon as the children—a little girl 3 years old and two boys just old enough to toddle—had been taken to the big, airy rooms assigned to them during their residence in the house beside the lake they were examined by Dr. Egan. All of the children were found to be greatly underfed, so much so that they were practically half starved. In this condition they were unable to recover from the illness from which they had suffered for weeks. A few hours after the children had been washed and examined, and dressed in clean, white dresses they were taken into the dining room for dinner.

"My, it's hot," exclaimed one of the children in amazement, as he tasted a piece of juicy, well cooked beefsteak. He said he had never had hot meat before, and he was not able to tell what kind of meat it was.

"It won't take long to bring these children back to health," said one of the nurses, "they are simply in a pitiably weak condition as a result of lack of nourishment and sickness."

All the children who were able to join the party paid a visit to a neighboring farmer during the day. They went to thank him for the good things he had sent them and incidentally to inspect his farm in truly Buster Brown fashion. They had wild adventures with the big, black pig which stuck his snout between the fence rails and "snored" at them, as little "D. J.", a lad of 3, put it.

"That feller must be walking in his sleep," volunteered Ernest, a colored lad of 8, in explanation. The children were shown vegetables growing, all the vegetables they have eaten at Glen Ellyn, but have never seen growing before. They had a great time, and when they got back to the hospital they sat down at the writing tables—those who could write—and began letters to their mothers. They wrote their mothers all about the wonderful things they had seen at the farm.

Contributions to the fund for the support of the hospital and the ice fund may be mailed to THE TRIBUNE, care "Hospital and Ice Fund." Donations will be promptly acknowledged and turned over to the treasurer of the fund.

PERSONAL.

Prof. W. M. Davis of Harvard university has joined the official party of the British Association of Geographers going to South Africa.

W. P. Frith, R. A., received $6,000 for his painting of "Before Dinner at Boswell's Lodgings." Three years later it sold for $23,000.

Dr. Eugene Oswald, the secretary of the Goethe society, has written a book on the legend of Helen as treated by Goethe, Homer, and others.

Harry K. Devereux of Cleveland, is the only living model of the three who posed for the famous painting, "Yankee Doodle," portrayed by Willard.

Benjamin F. Hobbs, the oldest armorer in the service of the United States, died recently at Springfield, Mass. He began work in the Harper's Ferry arsenal in 1842.

The marquis of Downshire was among the members of the Wokingham fire brigade when hand engines were in vogue. He still responds to the call, but usualy drives the fire engine.

Elihu Root, on being asked if the president was going to remove Mr. Conger, minister to China, or ask for his resignation, replied to a reporter: "Neither! I think he will employ the oriental subterfuge of sending him a poisoned letter."

J. P. Hall of the Santa Fé is organizing an association composed of men who were once messenger boys. The list, it is said, includes Andrew Carnegie, William C. Van Horne, Marvin Hughitt, W. A. Gardner, Col. Robert C. Clowry, and A. J. Earling.

Mrs. W. W. Blackmar, widow of the late commander of the G. A. R., has presented the saddle, bridle, and blanket once owned by her husband for the use of Gen. King at the thirty-ninth annual encampment, which takes place next month at Denver.

Gen. de Sonnaz, a leading member of the Italian senate, who died recently in Rome, was, at his request, dressed in full regalia and decorated with all his medals, just before he expired. He ordered a glass of champagne and drank to the health of the king of Italy.

When King Alfonso XIII. was a baby he presided at the opening of the Cortes. Seated on his nurse's knee he stood parliamentary proceedings for awhile, but finally bawled lustily. He could not be ordered out of his own parliament, but his mother finally quieted his highness.

CHICAGO: THE OLD CITY AND THE NEW: THE HALF WAY HOUSE FOR THE WORLD.

"THE New Chicago," the "chief trading depot of the North American continent," the "half way house of the world," is the central theme of a series of elaborately illustrated articles in The World of Today, the Chicago magazine edited by Shailer Mathews.

John G. Shedd writes of "Chicago: The Central Market." John R. Slater contributes "Chicago, a City of Homes." Shailer Mathews gives his views on "Uncommercial Chicago," while Francis W. Parker has "An Appreciation of Chicago." All of the articles teem with the Chicago spirit.

Mr. Shedd pays just tribute to the commercial greatness of Chicago. He says:

"Chicago is the great central market of the western continent, the half way house of the world, because of the wisdom, force, and rectitude of its founders, and because of the physical condition of the place in which they built. Latitude and longitude may bound success, but it is men who command it. Chicago has arisen upon the corner stones, upon the integrity, let us not forget, of its great citizens, 'the brave men, living and dead, who struggled here'—the McCormicks, Armours, Pullman, Palmer, Leiter, Farwell, Crerar, Field, these and a gallant band of captains at rest or, yoked with some of these, still in the van. . . .

Magnitude of Chicago's Trade.

"The magnitude and harmonized operations of Chicago's trade and industry cannot be overemphasized, for these activities, driven by the Chicago will, are the normal movements of the world's great central market. A central market in a broad sociological sense is the center of a district or a nation's life. The twenty-four railway trunk lines which radiate from Chicago amount to 59 per cent of the railway mileage of the United States, or 120,000 miles of road. The world's greatest railway center communicates with the more than forty million people of the great basin of the Mississippi, the world's richest valley, and, beyond this natural territory of Chicago's great central market, with the friendly seaboard of the Atlantic, the Pacific, and the gulf.

"No single condition of trade supremacy so appeals to the reason and imagination as the prerequisite of commercial and industrial leadership enjoyed by this metropolis, a condition popularized in this pregnant saying: All roads lead to Chicago. As a railway exchange Chicago has appropriate facilities for the receipt and dispatch of goods. To perform the functions of gate, storehouse, market, and point of shipment three belt railways coördinate the twenty-four trunk lines; lake steamers load and discharge at docks within the city's heart and at neighboring subports.

"Chicago's lake arrivals in 1904, being 6,631, had a tonnage of 6,430,088, and Chicago's clearances were 6,671 and tonnage 6,514,934. When we note that the clearances of Liverpool the previous year exceeded Chicago's in 1904 by only 167,634 tons; that the marine business of Rotterdam was barely greater than Chicago's, and that that of Singapore and Shanghai was less, we begin to realize what it means to traffic with the world from the center of the world.

Great in Financial Strength.

"A central market to be great and commanding must not alone make, buy, and sell on a large scale, as Chicago does, but it must be a financial stronghold, which means that, ebb and flow the tides of national prosperity as they may, the free wealth of such a center, defiant of panic and never largely hoarded, is available anywhere to any honorable industry prudently conducted in favorable environment. Chicago is neither a speculative financial center, with the vicissitudes disturbing such a center and all its dependencies; nor does its banking tend to many banks. Rather, considering the vastness of our business, are our banks few, in close sympathy for the welfare of Chicago's and the nation's credit, and above all strong. In ten years the total deposits of Chicago's banks have increased 200 per cent, their aggregate at the close of 1904 being $593,000,000. Chicago's banking growth is both index, regulator, and incentive to its growth in its many sided service as the world's great central market. In 1890 the national banks of Chicago had deposits amounting to $94,470,800, which, at the close of 1904, had grown to $299,619,146. In the same period those stanch auxiliaries to Chicago's credit, the state banks, made a gain in deposits represented by the difference between $35,753,854 and $293,492,451. In six years Chicago's total bank clearings have increased from $6,612,313,611 to $8,989,983,764.

With True Chicago Spirit.

"Yet not physical things alone will make Chicago loved and respected, a place to be 'called up' and visited from all over the continent as the best of all cities to do business with. Here must also be the right spirit. There is a spirit here, the 'Chicago spirit.' It is not a rhetorical vaporing. It is a spirit in action; of courage, reform, and progress. Art, education, and philanthropy show it. The parks, associations for civic watch and betterment, the partially gratified demand for honest and scientific self-government, all these show it. There is a 'Chicago spirit,' and out of the workings of this spirit will come greater civic honesty, competency, and municipal order and beauty. And the great central market, surrounded by the great agricultural gardens of the middle west, will become the greater central fair, the most joyous and profitable meeting place in the western hemisphere.

"What, any true American distrustful of American Chicago? Impossible."

Chicago a City of Homes.

John A. Slater writes on "Chicago: A City of Homes," in a vein of mingled pleasantry and caustic criticism. He says:

"As a city of homes it would, of course, be misleading to compare Chicago with a small city where land is cheap and living inexpensive. Homes for the million within reach of work can hardly be vine-covered cottages with flower gardens and lawns. For the majority they must be flats in huge blocks on noisy streets, with such comforts as thrift and ingenuity can provide. A flat is a flat, whether at $15 a month on the west side or at $100 in Hyde Park or Evanston. In itself it can hardly be called a home; it is rather the possibility of a home. There are thousands of wives and mothers in Chicago who will never have a monument while they are living, and maybe none when they are dead, who are, nevertheless, accomplishing the seeming impossible by transforming five or six tiny rooms into homes. This they are doing in defiance of fate and the landlord, by the exercise of such mother wit and patience and self-sacrifice as mankind can scarcely comprehend."

Mr. Slater then tells of Chicago's health, the parks, and playgrounds, the cost of living, the facilities for education, its museums, libraries, art galleries, musical conservatories, and other features. He writes disparingly of the "flats" and then in a more caustic vein turns to criticism of some of the extremes in Chicago's architecture.

"Uncommercial Chicago."

In "Uncommercial Chicago" Mr. Shailer Mathews writes of the city's literary, musical, artistic, and educational achievements. He dates the beginning of Chicago's new era with 1890. Since that time the city has acquired the University of Chicago, the Armour Institute of Technology, the Lewis institute, the Field museum, the Academy of Science. Since 1890 the great libraries have been built, the Theodore Thomas orchestra endowed, the public school system developed.

Chicago: an Appreciation.

A notable article is State Senator Francis W. Parker's "An Appreciation of Chicago." He writes in the true Chicago spirit, and he glories in Chicago's greatness and Chicago's dirt. He asks:

"Is she dirty? It is a place where things are being made, foundations laid, tunnels and canals dug, buildings erected, tracks elevated and extended into ever widening suburbs, and the mighty physical foundations and elements of a great city constructed and reconstructed.

"Is she neglectful of details of government and institutions? The people are absorbed in the details of private business, always developing here with wonderful rapidity and offering great opportunities. Until recently we have seen Chicago the apotheosis of individualism, every man for himself and no successful man with time enough to help the public.

"This is just what ought to have been expected. Chicago is like a great building nearly completed and half full of tenants though not yet ready for occupancy. The contractors have not yet removed the dirt and rubbish of construction work. The worst that has been said of Chicago really contains nothing adverse to her character or destiny. She is not dead, decadent, or in a state of rest. Her faults are but symptoms of growth.

Like Another Paris.

"Was there ever a more hopeless, helpless, and shapeless community than Paris during her revolution? The candid and confident observer declared that men had there returned to their original state of savagery; that all the baseness in man had risen to the surface; that every bad quality had flowered to its poisoned fruit; that the Parisian had become half ape and half tiger; that only Caliban was fit to be their king; and yet out of that confusion came forth the incomparable, the matchless Paris of today.

"Chicago is such a battleground, such a city in convulsion."

MORE LIGHTS AND POLICE NEEDED.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—[Editor of The Tribune.]—I write to call attention to the subject of adequate police protection for the residence sections of our city. For, in view of the fact that the shocking murder of Mrs. F. E. Mize is the second occurrence of a like kind in the quiet residence streets of Hyde Park within the last six months, it would seem as if the time had come for action.

As a resident of the immediate neighborhood, and fairly well acquainted with local conditions, it would appear that the two factors which make possible the commission of such crimes as are almost constantly shocking the law abiding citizens of our residence districts are:

[a] The inadequate police protection and

[b] The indifferent lighting system of resident streets. It is not my present purpose to attempt to fix the blame for existing conditions, but rather to urge upon the public to insist with a stubbornness which will admit of no gainsay, upon emancipation from a calm neglect that is jeopardizing the lives of our wives, mothers, and daughters as they walk the streets of localities which have every appearance of the restful innocence of a country village.

I think it was only on Feb. 28 of this year that Mrs. Della Tracy was held up and shot to death in Monroe avenue, between Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth streets, one of the most quiet and respectable blocks in Hyde Park, and now again on Aug. 22, almost exactly the same class of a crime is perpetrated in one of the most select and aristocratic blocks of the south side, at a distance of considerably less than a quarter of a mile from the scene of the first murder.

How can a thing like this be possible except for the fact that the Chicago footpad knows that under ordinary circumstances it ought to be moderately safe to hold up and shoot to death if need be any honest citizen who walks up and down before his own doorway with the almost complete assurance that he will have no serious difficulty in making good his escape? In the two Hyde Park instances there has been not only no policeman in sight but none within hailing distance.

I venture to suggest that in 90 per cent of like cases during the last year it has been necessary for some citizens to give chase to the culprit, while others cared for the dead and dying, and while yet another has searched his telephone directory and hunted for a nickel to warn the police of the fact that a crime had been committed upon the open street of their particular precinct. If, indeed, Hyde Park is laid off in beats, as I suppose it is, and systematically patrolled, then I venture to assert that the territory is so extensive and the distances so great that the protection is rendered wholly inadequate and practically inoperative. Added to this factor is the other already referred to—viz.: the indifferent lighting system. Under this head it is sufficient to say that on any evening when the moon is not shining it would be quite possible, midway between the street lights of our residence streets, to pass a well known friend without recognizing him. These two circumstances alone are sufficient to encourage thugs and highwaymen to leave the great cities of the east [well lighted and carefully patrolled] and seek refuge in a city which is large and prolific of results, and moderately safe.

And, finally, the arrest, conviction, and execution of the criminal is not all; this can never restore to the bereaved family the sweet face, the loved form, and the tender voice that has forever passed out of the home circle. We need discipline for the criminals, but we want protection more than vengeance.

A NEW THEORY OF MAGNETISM.

[From Harper's Weekly.]

The old theory that ferromagnetism was a property of the chemical atom seems to be seriously questioned as a result of a number of recent experiments with magnetic alloys not containing iron. It would appear from these studies that magnetism depends upon molecular structure rather than upon any fundamental characteristics of an atom of a given element.

This conclusion is reached after a series of experiments where alloys of manganese, copper, and aluminium, with a trace of carbon, silicon, and iron, were found to possess all the magnetic properties of the ferromagnetic materials, even to the extent that they could be permanently magnetized. It is assumed that in such an alloy a similar grouping of the molecules takes place as in the case of the magnetic metals, and magnetization consists in arranging or disturbing the position of these molecular magnets.

If it is possible by further investigation and experiment to gain some knowledge of this molecular structure, it may be possible to construct alloys which are as magnetic or even more magnetic than iron. This has an important bearing on electric engineering, as it means that smaller masses of metal can be used, and when these are in the form of moving parts much less power will be required to drive them. Indeed, so many practical advantages and economies are suggested by this line of reasoning that additional researches in this field are awaited by physicists and engineers with considerable interest.

MISS BEATRICE KEY IS MARRIED TO WILLIAM PAUL MARTIN.

Cards Received in Chicago Announcing the Marriage in Greenwich, Conn., Are Surprise to Their Friends — Engagement of Miss Elisabeth Case to Mr. John E. Lind Is Announced—Old Fashioned Country Wedding Is Planned.

Cards were received in Chicago yesterday from Mr. and Mrs. John Allen Haines, who are at Greenwich, Conn., announcing the marriage of Mrs. Haines' sister, Miss Beatrice Key, to Mr. William Paul Martin of Chicago. The wedding took place on Wednesday at "Denbigh," the summer residence of Mr. Haines' mother at Greenwich, Conn., where Mr. and Mrs. Haines and the Misses Key have been spending the summer. It was a small wedding, only the family and a few friends being present. Mr. and Mrs. Martin have gone on a wedding journey. They will be at home after Nov. 1 at 60 Bellevue place, Chicago.

Formal announcement is made by Dr. and Mrs. Calvin Case, 5114 Woodlawn avenue, of the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth, to Mr. John E. Lind, instructor of mathematics at Armour institute. The wedding will take place on Sept. 5 at the Case summer home, Woodcrest, Upper Hamlin lake, Ludington, Mich.

It will be a veritable country wedding, the ceremony to be performed at high noon and followed by a wedding for the wedding party and out of town guests, after which a general reception to the town people and summer residents will be held. Mrs. Herbert Reynolds of Jackson, Mich., will be matron of honor, and the Misses Sylvia and Phoebe Bushnell of Ottawa, Ill., will attend as maids. Dr. Carl Case will act as best man, and Mr. Leslie Dick and Mr. Lawrence Weaver will be groomsmen. The Rev. Dr. Bixby of St. Paul's church, Kenwood, will officiate and will go to Ludington with the bridal party, leaving Sept. 1. The bride and groom will take an extensive wedding journey, eventually coming to Chicago to reside. They will hold a large reception Thursday evening, Nov. 9, at the residence of the bride's parents, 5114 Woodlawn avenue.

Miss Case will give a luncheon today for a number of young women friends to announce her plans.

Mr. and Mrs. John M. Clark and Mrs. Wirt Dexter have left Carlsbad for Borea in the Dolomites, to join Mrs. Arthur Caton and party.

Mrs. Charles Conover and daughters, 500 North State street, who have spent the summer in Europe, expect to sail for home on Sept. 7.

Miss Leslie Grant, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fernando Jones, will be introduced to society this winter at a large reception to be given by her grandparents, with whom she resides.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry W. Davis, 840 East Forty-fifth place, are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Hallowell of Dayton, O., and Mr. George Ade Davis of Purdue university.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Rosenblatt will celebrate their golden wedding this evening with a family reunion at the Great Northern hotel. Their eight children and many of their friends are expected to be present.

SPECIAL TAX URGED TO GET FUNDS TO BUILD PLAYGROUNDS

Park Commissioners Propose Plan for Assessment on Property Owners Near Proposed Parks.

Special assessments by which to tax property owners is a method for obtaining funds for the establishment of playgrounds in the congested districts which may be adopted by the special park commission. Joseph P. Tracy, a member of the commission, made the suggestion at a meeting of the body yesterday and the matter was submitted to Corporation Counsel Lewis for an opinion regarding its legality. Mayor Dunne, in a letter to the citizens of Chicago, indorses the plan. Should the report be favorable the commission may frame an act to be presented to the next state legislature.

The plan is to levy a special assessment upon all property within one-half of a mile of the proposed playground to raise the money to purchase the site. He suggested that if the assessments should be collected in installments they would not prove a burden to the property owners. He said that the poor people will not be affected by the plan, as in the densely populated districts the houses are not tenanted by the owners, and it is they who would pay the assessment. Mr. Tracy urged the commission to begin a campaign of education along these lines that the property owners may understand the purpose of the assessment and make no objection to it.

The commission has issued its printed appeal to the general public for funds for new playgrounds in an illustrated booklet. In this district there is an estimated population of 885,000 people, with only two playgrounds. The commission asks the public spirited citizens to contribute the funds with which to buy new sites for playgrounds.

OLD SOLDIERS ARE CAMPING IN FORT SHERIDAN WOODS.

Begin the Annual Reunion of Cook County Veterans—Parade Is a Feature of the First Day.

Nearly 500 old soldiers, carrying tents and rolls of bedding, trekked through the Fort Sheridan woods yesterday to the encampment of the Cook County Soldiers and Sailors' association near the rifle range. It was the first day of the second annual reunion of the organization. It is expected 4,000 veterans, including many ex-confederates, will be present today and tomorrow.

In the afternoon there was a parade. Music was furnished by the River Forest training school band. The Fort Sheridan garrison entertained the visitors with drills and inspection.

Today has been set aside for the war with Spain veterans. Gen. Moulton, Maj. Ennis, and others will speak. Tomorrow will be "Grand Army" day.

Evanston Policeman Tries to Catch Person Who Has Been Alarming Householders.

Patrolman Bond discovered last night that the person who has been terrorizing residents in Greenwood boulevard, Evanston, was a man disguised in woman's clothing. Bond, whose beat is in Sheridan road, saw the "woman" go from behind a bush and gesticulate wildly.

The policeman at once gave chase and the supposed woman gathered up her skirts and fled swiftly up the road. Bond fired his revolver several times in the air in an effort to check the fugitive. The offender is believed by the police to be some practical joker.

Broken Bridge Blocks Navigation.

Navigation in the river was suspended last night by the breaking of the machinery of the bridge at Dearborn street, making it impossible to swing the structure. Upon the arrival of the steamer City of the Straits from South Haven the passengers were put off at Rush street bridge. Workmen are working on the bridge, but it is not believed it can be repaired until this afternoon.

Tribute to Mary Mapes Dodge.

Something About the Author of "Hans Brinker."

BY JEANNETTE L. GILDER.

THE death of Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge, which occurred at her summer home, Onteora Park, in the Catskills, on Monday last, means more to the young people of this country than they may perhaps yet realize. The St. Nicholas Magazine was created, or was started, perhaps I should say, because of Mrs. Dodge. Scribner & Co., as the firm style then was, the publishers of St. Nicholas, and the now Century Magazine, knew that the name and work of Mary Mapes Dodge were as good as several hundred thousand dollars in the launching of a young people's magazine. Mrs. Dodge was then known throughout the world as the author of "Hans Brinker," a book that has had almost as many readers as "Robinson Crusoe." It has been translated into every modern language, and is a classic in those languages as well as in English. The scene of the story is laid in Holland, as every one knows, but at the time that Mrs. Dodge wrote the book she had never visited Holland, but she had read omnivorously on the subject, and had talked with people who had lived there, natives and foreigners. The story is told, and I happen to know that it is true, that when Mrs. Dodge finally did visit Holland and asked in a bookshop for the book that would give the best idea of life in the country, she was handed a copy of her own story. This would seem to prove that it is not necessary for an author to live in a country to give a story local color. At the same time every author is not Mrs. Dodge.

Mary Mapes Dodge was the first literary woman that I ever knew. When I was 18 or 19 years old I was living in Newark, N. J., and about two or three miles out of Newark, in a little settlement called Waverly, was the Mapes home. There Mrs. Dodge, who was a widow with two sons, lived with her mother and sisters, and a jolly, interesting life it was. With the exception of the mother, they were all young or comparatively young people in the house, and such good times as I have had there, it seems to me, are unknown in these days.

A few hundred feet from the main house was an old fashioned house in which the gardener lived, the attic of which Mrs. Dodge had converted into a "den." "Dens" were not so common in those days as they are today. Hers was the first one that I ever saw. I thought then that it was a most interesting and wonderful place, but as I look back at it it seems simple. There were no oriental effects, such as "dens" have in these days; no foolish "cozy corners," and that sort of thing; but a lot of interesting pictures, a great many books, an ample desk, and one thing that I remember particularly—a panorama of the Rhine, which was tacked to the sloping ceiling. In that room Mrs. Dodge wrote "Hans Brinker" and other of her books.

Among her greatest treasures were the letters that she received from children who had read "Hans Brinker" and loved it. A great many of them—hundreds, I believe—asked her for the pen with which she wrote the book. I don't know whether she ever gave it to any one of these relic hunters, but if she did not it was not for want of asking.

At about this time a big advertising agency in New York started a magazine called Hearth and Home, and Mrs. Dodge was invited to conduct a young people's department of the paper. If the other departments had been conducted as successfully as was hers Hearth and Home might be flourishing today, but it was not a success, and after a few years' struggle was swept into the whirlpool into which so many periodicals have gone. It was for Hearth and Home that I wrote my first paid for article. It was not long nor was the subject exciting. It told an eager world how a sweet potato could be put into a preserve jar and grow a vine that would keep its memory green. The article was short, and was illustrated with a picture of the jar, the potato, and the vine that grew from its side. I was paid $3 for this article, and my name was printed in the table of contents. I don't know which gave me the greatest thrill, the $3 or the sight of my name as a contributor. Not only did my name appear in the table of contents printed in the weekly, but it appeared on posters that were posted broadcast over the city. And now Mrs. Dodge is gone at the age of 67. But she will not be forgotten. "Hans Brinker" will live, and St. Nicholas, which will always bear her name on its cover, will live, and she will be mourned for by an army of young people and people who are no longer young, for the first readers of St. Nicholas are parents, some of them grandparents, today. Among the former may be counted Rudyard Kipling, who read it omniverously when he was a small boy, and whose ambition as a small boy was to be a writer and to see his name in the pages of the magazine that he loved so well. I need hardly say that this ambition was gratified.

Some time ago I wrote of the "LETTERS OF WAGNER TO MME. WESENDONCK." Today I come across a little book of letters that the master wrote to Otto Wesendonck, her husband. This little book was published some years ago in England and has never been republished in this country. It is needless to say that the letters to the husband were not as impassioned as those that Wagner wrote to the wife. They are, nevertheless, most interesting, for Wagner's letters were always a part of himself. Wesendonck, as was intimated in the letters to Mme. Wesendonck, helped Wagner with money, but apparently always for a consideration. He had bought four parts of the tetralogy, the receipt for the money for which is acknowledged in a letter of June 17, 1860:

"I send you herewith an acknowledgment that I received the money all right. Since the rupture of my Petersburg negotiations I no longer can withhold from you the information that it was yourself, without knowing it, who helped me out of the terrible fix into which I was brought by my three Parisian concerts. Just when it had become necessary to provide at once the costs of those concerts, which eventually ran to over 11,000 francs—just when other hopes which had been inspired in me of immediate reimbursement for those concerts were totally destroyed, and everything was strained to the uttermost—I had an answer from the music publishers who had approached me about the 'Rheingold.' Quite unexpectedly they complied with my conditions, and sent me the demanded fee forthwith in a bill of exchange on Paris."

Disappointment followed disappointment of the production of "Rheingold" in Petersburg, and Wagner was at his wit's end to pay his obligations.

"Nothing," he writes to Wesendonck, "remains for me but to give you a receipt for the amount stipulated between us for the last piece of the 'Nibelungen,' and ask you to consider the sum for the 'Rheingold' as thus paid back to you. I certainly shall execute the last piece yet; if that were not reserved for me I know not what could hold me still to life, when I daily long for death with all my heart."

Wagner seems to have been fond of Otto Wesendonck, and if he did not hear from him when he was away he was unhappy. "When you are silent I grow uneasy," he writes "and write to you not because I have anything good or important to tell you, but merely to hear why you are torturing me by silence." Even Mme. Wesendonck had not then answered one of his letters, and he writes:

"Only believe me, children, that my home is with you, that I am in a strange land here, and only feel homelike when I know myself safe on the 'green hill'! Forgive me, too, my niggard writing in this latter time!"

That even genius has to work hard is proved, if proof were necessary, by a letter from Wagner in regard to the last rehearsals for "Tannhäuser":

"Don't entertain the smallest doubt as to my exerting myself superhumanly at present. Yesterday morning at half past 2, after a night of vigil, I finished the remainder of my new compositions for 'Tannhäuser'; the same day I found it necessary to undertake a further alteration in the minstrels' tourney, for which I require a clear head. Rehearsals every morning, and four times a week in the evening. Moreover—the old tale—each and every accessory to attend to myself; at 11 o'clock this morning a rehearsal with the horns for the hunting music; impossible to get them anywhere in Paris, but made possible at last through personal exertions of the most inconceivable sort. Atrocious lumbering of a wagon with any number of wheels, but no coachman! I have to be everywhere; for much, nay all, is so unwonted to the people! Special practice, or personal drudgery (if you will), with the singers, who are all beginning to feel how much they have to learn over again from me. Then a growing rush of unavoidables—my pulling through—a perfect wonder!"

The mystery to me is how Wagner found time to write so many and such long letters. Not only was he writing to the Wesendoncks but he was writing to other people, among them one Malwida von Meysenbug, whom he met at about the same time that he began his acquaintance with the Wesendoncks. Wagner met Malwida von Meysenbug first in London in 1855, and renewed the acquaintnce in Paris four years later. He took this lady into his confidence on the subject of his wife, and writes to her:

"I now perceive that I should have done wiser to leave my household affairs in a provisory state for awhile; all the more so, as my personal wish was not the determinant factor. My present concern is to see how I can mend the error. From time to time unusual windfalls, almost natural in my position toward the world, have come to rectify the faultiness of my arrangements. Such I have ever accepted on the principle that those who busy themselves for me gain more thereby than I myself, as I seek rest and hapiness no longer, but only breathing space for new labors, from which I reap the least enjoyment. Just now it seems that things will not fit in so easily; everything, even the promised and well nigh secured, leaves me waiting in vain. Were I to yield to my inner prompting, I should free myself entirely with a single step, for possession has never had a trace of power over me. Should you ever hear that fate has raised me above every other consideration in the disposition of my outward life than that of my own fancy, you would at like time hear that I had voluntarily chosen total poverty and retreat. Be assured of that, best friend."

One of the most interesting of the magazine announcements for the fall is that of selections from the diaries of Dr. Evans, the famous American dentist, who was the intimate friend of Louis Napoleon and the Empress Eugénie, and who aided her to escape from France. After the selections from the diaries have been published in the Century Magazine the whole will be published in book form, and it promises to be most entertaining reading, for Dr. Evans not only had extraordinary experiences but he knew how to describe them.

Mystery of Edwin Drood Treated of in a New Volume by Andrew Lang.

[Copyright: 1905: By the New York Herald.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Was Edwin Drood slain by his uncle, John Jasper, as Jasper himself certainly believed, or, if Edwin escaped, how did he escape? How would Jasper be aware of his own failure to murder his nephew? Such is the main puzzle of Charles Dickens' unfinished story, "Edwin Drood," which Andrew Lang tackles in a volume which Chapman & Hall will shortly publish.

"During the last thirty years or so," says Percy Fitzgerald, "Charles Dickens' image has been kept so vividly, so uninterruptedly in my memory that at this moment I can see him as clearly and hear the cadences of his flexible voice as distinctly as though he were standing before me in his nabit as he lived." This is the intimate personal note which Fitzgerald strikes in his life of Dickens, about to be published by Chatto. He enjoyed rare opportunities for intimacy with the novelist and the present book is a final record of them.

Boss of Little Arcady.

Harry Leon Wilson's Tale of Rural Life.

BY ELIA W. PEATTIE.

SOLON DENNY, the local editor, is "THE BOSS OF LITTLE ARCADY," in Harry Leon Wilson's new book of fiction. The volume may be regarded as the haphazard annals of a country town, rather than a novel. It is rather formless, and the titular personage is far from being the hero and is, indeed, comparatively negligible. The book appears to have too much truth in it to be a good work of fiction. It ambles pleasantly down each enticing path, and the reader ambles after, amiably enough. For Mr. Wilson has a quaint wit, with a distinctly American tang to it, and no true born American of us all can make the acquaintance of "Mrs. J. Rodney Potts," or of "Clem," or "Eustace Eubanks," eccentrics in this book, without being happier and younger for the knowledge.

What may be termed the sentimental part of these pretty annals is not as convincing as might be; but veteran fiction readers take these innocuous conventionalities for what they are worth—a love story, insist the editors, must be thrown in, and the authors throw them in—trifling premiums, often, with their pound of honest tea. And as it is always possible to use the tea and throw away the premium, so it is easy to absorb the worth of a true tale and reject the spurious love story.

To pass over the "construction" of Mr. Wilson's book, if one may so much as refer to the thing in this connection, and to overlook the absurdity of the title, and to refuse to be irritated with Mr. Wilson for a slovenly piece of work when he could, had he "knuckled down" and worked as he should, have given his admirers a book as admirable as it is spontaneous, may be done by any critic who has just dined and who is enjoying the summer weather. Having satisfied oneself that one is conscious of the poor author's failings—though not too severe on them—it is then possible to enjoy Mr. Wilson's book. Let the reader, for example, attend an evening gathering at the home of the discreet Mrs. Eubanks. With Mrs. Eubanks dwell two daughters a trifle more discreet than herself, also poor Eustace Eubanks, who has the best intentions but is the victim of impulses which run counter to those of his family. The author writes:

"A large and brilliant company was present," to quote from a competent authority, and the refreshments were "recherché," to quote again, this being, I believe, the first of our social functions at which Japanese paper napkins were handed around. Eustace Eubanks entertained "one and all" by exhibiting and describing lantern views of important scenes in the Holy Land, Marcella sang "Comin' Thro' the Rye" with such iron restraint that the most fastidious among us could have found no cause for offense, and Eustace sang an innocent song of war and bloodshed and death. All went well until Eustace, being pressed for more, ventured a drinking song. Whether this had been censored by his household I never have heard. Perhaps there were demurs—there were almost certain to have been—and possibly Eustace had held out for the thing because of the rare opportunity it afforded for the exercise of his lower tones. Perhaps it had been deemed wise to indulge him in this, lest in rebellion he break all bonds of propriety and revert to the "Bedouin Love Song." At any rate, he sang "Drinking," a song that lauds the wine cup as chiefest of godless joys and terminates in "drinking" thrice reiterated, of which each individual one finishes so much lower than it begins that the last one seems to expire in the bottomless pit.

Many of those present appeared to enjoy this song. Even Marcella Eubanks seemed for once to have soared above mere principle into the unmoral realm of "Art for art's sake." But it falls to be said, and I say it with a pride which I think should not excite cavil, that Miss Caroline frowned splendidly from the first moment the song's true character was revealed. She superbly evinced uneasiness, moreover, when the thing was done, as if to say, "One can't tell what may occur in a place where that is permitted!" And her performance was not observed by myself alone. Marcella saw it and sped to her brother, who, after listening to hurried words from her, dashed into "The Lost Chord" with a swift and desperate fervor as if to allay all alarm in the mind of this sensitive guest. Eustace was at heart as earnestly well meaning as any Eubanks that ever lived, and his vagaries in song were attributable solely to a trusting nature capriciously endowed with a dash of the artistic temperament. It was only a dash, however. Beyond doubt, had his family but known, he could have sung "The Bedouin Love Song" and been none the worse for it.

These folk, it will be seen, are worth neighboring with, and to read of them in Mr. Wilson's book is to become little less than intimate with them.

It may be an open secret or otherwise, but it is known that Mr. Wilson, who was born at the charming town of Oregon, in this state, has used that village and its inhabitants as suggestions for his book. If Mr. Wilson really meant that this should not be told, one trusts, of course, to the delicacy of the reader not to repeat it.

The book is illustrated, humorously and intimately, one may say, by Rose O'Neill, otherwise Mrs. Harry Leon Wilson. There are plenty of illustrators at the present time who draw better than Mrs. Wilson, but it will be difficult to find any who do work so deliciously humorous, so full of gay little hints, so jesting, and yet so affectionate. She loves the characters she depicts, and if she makes them ridiculous she has the effect of taking them into the joke, too. The streets of the village, with which she makes herself familiar, the children and the old people, the fools and the wise men who walk it, are not only present in her work, but she has a trick of making you feel how hackneyed that street is to the eyes that look upon it daily; she seems to give you a notion of the dreams and the vagaries of the people whose portraits she presents. She introduces you to the place and the people with a sort of wink which is always friendly, even while it informs you that you and she are quite "on to" the piquancy of the whole situation. There is no other work of this quality being done. It possesses a sort of genius. (Lothrop Publishing company, Boston.)

Mr. F. W. Bain has done something extraordinary in "A DIGIT OF THE MOON" (G. P. Putnam's Sons). The title has a symbolic significance, and the stories themselves purport to be a translation from ancient Hindoo manuscripts. Mr. Bain has been at great pains and endeavored in adroit ways to convince the reader that the work is indeed a translation; but in this he is hardly successful. A delicious fancy, Anglo-Saxon for all of its oriental bewitchment, pervades these stories, and seems to hint of a personality which delights in the puzzling, in the ultra, in the utterly whimsical. The style is delightful; and there is no tale of them all which does not contain a definite idea. The book is like a beaker of red romance, brought reverently to the light after long lying in those deep, cool cellars of ancient oriental fancy.

Here and there among the tales is interspersed a fantasy. Here is one, entitled "Dawn," the occult significance of which grows with renewed reading:

"And at that moment the curse came to an end. Then those two erring lovers regained their immortal natures. And they looked at one another, dazed and bewildered, for they thought that they had awakened from a dream. And their spirits rose out of those mortal bodies which they had abandoned, and soared away to their heavenly home, locked in each other's arms.

"But Maheshwara, from his seat on Kailas, saw them go. And perceiving all, by the power of his mystical intuition, he said to himself: 'There are those two foolish lovers rejoicing to have awakened from a dream; not knowing that it was but a dream within a dream, and that they are still asleep.' And he laughed aloud; and the thunder of the shout of his laughter rolled and reverberated, and rattled in the blue hollows of Himalaya like the sound of a drum."

ADVERTISE IN THE TRIBUNE.

TWO VICTORIES FOR WHITE SOX.

Comiskey's Men, with Davis Out of Game, Win Double Header from Boston.

TWIN SCORES OF 3 TO 2.

Both Clubs Show Streaks of Poor Fielding; Altrock and Patterson Do Well.

With a gaping wound in their infield, due to George Davis' absence on account of a wrenched back, the White Stockings began their gruelling task of playing six games in three days by trimming Boston's world's champions in both ends of yesterday's double header. The scores were twins, 3 to 2, and the games bore a marked family resemblance.

In both games poor fielding alternated with brilliant. In both the Sox apparently cinched things in the middle, only to have the visitors come from behind and almost win out in the ninth. Both Altrock and Patterson, who registered his first victory of the season, were hit for five safeties, and three errors were made behind each of them. The champions did not play much like champions, and a total of eleven errors for the day sounds something like prairie league baseball. But the big "ladies' day" crowd had plenty of excitement during the two short, sharp contests.

Sox "Off" in Fielding.

Isbell filled in at short in the first game and twice almost handed it to Boston by his freak sidewheel throws. In the sixth inning he missed a play only to redeem his blunder immediately by stabbing a fierce liner from Collins and doubling up Parent off third. Issy hit like a fiend, ran bases like a schoolboy, and in general was the best and almost the worst of the lot. Green had him beaten for the worst honors, for "D" dropped two easy flies, misjudged another, and did nothing to offset the bad work. It was a tough day for right fielders, for Selbach had troubles of his own, once giving Chicago a run by dropping a long fly, and again letting a man home by falling down while chasing Isbell's scratchy triple.

Boston should have been blanked in both games, but Green and Isbell gave the visitors a couple of runs off Altrock, and in the second scrap Tannehill, Dundon, and Jones erred all in a bunch, seemingly bound to keep Patterson still a maiden, but Roy would not have it that way. Brilliant features were delivered by Jones, Callahan, and Selbach by hard running catches which spoiled hits, and by Donohue's handling of the bad throws which came at him from all directions.

Hurst Is the "Ump."

Tim Hurst, the veteran umpire, made his first bow in years to a Chicago crowd and was recognized by few. He kept the games going rapidly and maintained order solely by his broad smile, laughing at every protest registered against his decisions.

Green gave Boston its first run in the opener by muffing Selbach's fly for two bases. Then he put on sun glasses. A sacrifice and Burkett's fly let in the run. Altrock checked the visitors up tight for four innings, during which the Sox ought to have piled up a dozen runs, the way they were hitting Dineen. In the fourth inning, for instance, they peeled off two doubles and a single, but scored only one run. It was this way: Isbell led off with a two sacker to right. Callahan failed on bunting and hit to Dineen. Isbell foolhardily tried for third and was run to death on the line before Callahan could get to second, Ferris getting both putouts in the double play. Then Donohue slugged out a double and scored on McFarland's single, "Mac" being thrown out trying for second on the throw home.

In the fifth the Sox took the lead with two runs. Tannehill pried off the lid with a rap to left. Dundon bunted a fly over Dineen's head and landed safely because nobody covered first. Altrock bunted two fouls, but on the third try sacrificed neatly. Green could only foul to Criger. Here Jones came to the rescue with a slashing drive just inside first base for three corners, sending in two runs.

Boston Scores in Sixth.

In the sixth Selbach reached first on a hard one which Tannehill missed. Parent bumped a fast one to short and Isbell had a cinch double play, but threw to right field instead of to Dundon. While Green was chasing the ball Al reached third and Fred second. Burkett's out scored Selbach. Collins' bat crashed against a curve for a liner straight into Isbell's hands. "Issy" wheeled and tossed it to Tannehill before Parent could get back to third, and the hole was shut.

Green dropped another fly in the eighth on the first man at bat, but Altrock denied the run. In the ninth the visitors came with a rush. Burkett and Collins singled before any one was out. But Stahl popped a fly to Altrock trying to bunt, and Nick stabbed Freeman's hot bounder, shot it to Isbell at second, and "Issy" heaved wildly to first for a double play. "Jiggs" stretched to the limit and just speared the ball with one hand, ending the game.

Errors Handicap Patterson.

Patterson was invincible in the second game until a bunch of errors almost defeated him. The Sox went after Winter hard at the start, but could not score until the third inning. Dundon opened that with a single and was sacrificed ahead by Patterson. Again Green failed, but Jones smashed one which glanced off Winter's mitt, and the manager dashed to first before Parent could get the ball there. Dundon scored. Isbell smashed a liner through to right and the ball hit Green's mitt, bounding away from Selbach, who fell when he tried to stop. Consequently Jones scored easily and Isbell reached third. Inspired by this luck "Issy" conceived the idea of stealing home, but was a dead rabbit by many steps.

A pass to Patterson and Selbach's muff of Green's fly scored Chicago's third run in fifth, then Winter became a puzzle, striking out five Sox in the remaining three innings.

Narrow Escape for Comiskey's Men.

Patterson's support broke in the seventh. Tannehill messed Collins' grounder for a starter. Stahl struck out, but Dundon booted Freeman's roller just long enough to miss everybody, and Ferris whipped a single into center. Jones booted that, trying for a throw to the plate, and two runs scored. But Armbruster and Winter were disposed of without further damage. The ninth came with Chicago one to the good, but, after Collins was put out, Stahl hit a high one to right. Green or Isbell could have taken it, but Green started the wrong way and Isbell never started at all, making it a scratch double. Right there Patterson showed his nerve, striking out Freeman. Ferris was next, and a dangerous man in the pinch. [illegible] wouldn't have given him anything good, [illegible] "Hobe" was so eager to hit that he [illegible]ed at bad ones, and, after hitting a [illegible]uple, hit to Patterson for the finish. Score:

Notes of the White Sox Games.

Two more games today with Boston.

Tim Hurst never did like to wear a collar. It interferes with his larynx in calling the decisions.

Davis wrenched his back in making a play in the last game with Philadelphia, and was too sore to put on a uniform yesterday.

A cigaret ignited a newspaper under the third base stand, but the blaze was seen and stamped out before the danger point.

A blazing sun in a cloudless sky and a strong head wind made lots of trouble for the fielders on fly balls, but did not account for the fumbles of grounders.

In the fifth round of the second game, with Isbell at second and two out, Jones hit what would have been a three bagger to right but for the stiff wind, which blew it foul by a few inches. Then the manager rolled one to Ferris.

An immense bat was presented to the Boston club by Jack Pickett, the veteran player and batmaker, Manager Collins being the personal recipient at the plate. The bat is emblematic of the world's championship and is inscribed with the names of the champions.

Scores of fans yesterday were discussing the fact that Shortstop Elberfeld of the Highlanders was reinstated Thursday after only three days' suspension for his attack on Umpire McCarthy here on Sunday, and President Johnson's system of suppressing rowdyism came in for some hard knocks.

Jones robbed Stahl of a long hit in the seventh inning of the first game by going into Green's garden and pulling it down. Callahan performed the same feat on Burkett's liner in the eighth of the second game. If either or both of those had got away there would have been a different story to write.

Regarding the reports to the effect that he was negotiating with Manager Cantillon of the Milwaukee American association team to manage the White Stockings next season, President Comiskey said last night: "Fielder Jones is my manager. He will manage my club next year and as long as he wants to."

In the sixth inning of the second game Patterson started by passing Armbruster. Winter hit to right, Green just missing a brilliant diving catch. Armbruster tried to go to third on it and was thrown out. Then Selbach was passed, but Patterson showed a complete form reversal, striking out both Parent and Burkett.

The funniest of several stunts was pulled off in the fourth inning of the second game. Sullivan chopped his bat at a ball close to him and Armbruster missed it. It was a third strike, but "Sully," hoping Hurst did not see the motion of the bat, stood still until warned that it was a strike. Then he ran for first and Armbruster heaved the ball way over Freeman's head. "Sully" kept going. At second base he turned and saw Ferris had the ball. Perhaps he thought Ferris would throw wildly, too. Anyway, he started for third and was out a mile. Tim Hurst's smile was four yards wide.

Highlanders Defeat Cleveland in an Extra Inning Battle by Score of 3 to 1.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—New York defeated Cleveland today, neither team scoring until the eleventh inning. Cleveland outbatted and outfielded New York, but the latter team bunched three hits and a base on balls. Manager Griffith of New York was ordered off the field for disputing a decision. Score:

NATIONALS IDLE AT PHILADELPHIA

Rain Prevents Game Between Chicago and Phillies—Two Contests Today.

HAPPY OVER VICTORY.

Chance's Men Discuss Twenty Inning Battle—Reulbach in Fine Fettle.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—After playing a record breaking game yesterday the Chicago and Philadelphia National league teams had a chance to rest up this afternoon. Rain came down in torrents and made it impossible to play.

Two games will be played tomorrow, the second game of yesterday being postponed and today's contest will have to be played in Chicago, or not at all, as the Third Nationals leave here tomorrow night for Boston. The rainstorm does not show much sign of letting up, and if it rains much more it will be necessary to have boats to get on the diamond tomorrow, but President Shettsline says the games will be played off unless a flood prevents.

Chance's men were a happy band of ball players today as they sat around the hotel and discussed the great game of yesterday. Reulbach was feeling none the worse for his experience and spent the day resting, and tonight left for Vermont, where he will visit with friends until Monday, when he will report to Manager Chance in Boston.

Sparks was not suffering any bad results from his extra exertion yesterday.

Clarke's Men Outbat Beaneaters and Win Close Contest—Wagner's Great Work Is the Feature.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 25.—Pittsburg outbatted Boston today and won, 5 to 4. Wagner's steal of home, his phenomenal infielding, and a catch by Dolan which he slid along the ground to accomplish were features. Score:

New Catcher for Phillies.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Clarence H. Munson, the crack catcher of the Charleston team of the South Atlantic league, has been signed by the Phillies and reported to Manager Duffy this afternoon. He stands five feet eleven inches in height and weighs 175 pounds. He ranked as the best catcher in the league.

SHELDON MAY COACH INDIANA.

Ex-Maroon Leader Expected to Handle Football Team for Hoosiers, Vice Horne, Resigned.

"Capt. Jimmie" Sheldon, assistant to Coach Stagg for the last two seasons, and leader of the University of Chicago teams of the seasons of 1901 and 1902, may be engaged to coach the University of Indiana football team this fall, following the resignation of Coach Horne, who is suffering with nervous prostration.

Sheldon entered the University of Chicago in the fall of 1898 and decided to make a try for the team despite the fact he knew little about the game. He was the smallest man on the squad and weighed less than 145 pounds. After a year of hard service on the scrubs he came rapidly to the front in 1899, the year Chicago carried off the championship. He won a place on the training table and later in the season a "C" first; he played end, then quarter, and finished his career at half.

The selection of Sheldon has been urged by the alumni in the city, which has asked President Bryan and the athletic board of control to try the little maroon. Wallace of Pennsylvania and several other eastern men were considered, but the recommendation of Coach Stagg is expected to give Sheldon the place. Sheldon will begin his duties at Bloomington Sept. 10 if selected.

HANDY TO SWIM IN THE EAST.

New Yorkers Interested in the National Championship at Travers Island.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Not in years have swimmers kicked up such a fuss as they have been doing the last week or so over the national championships to be held tomorrow at Travers Island. As a rule these events are held so quietly even the huckleberry Indians of the N. Y. A. C. are not disturbed, but this year the swimmers really have succeeded in getting themselves talked about and are arousing a lot of interest in the races.

The contests will be a duel between the Trudgeon stroke and its new rival, the "crawl," as C. M. Daniels, who recently returned from Europe, will stick to the trudge, while some of his foes who have developed the new Australian stroke during his absence will endeavor to convince him of its superiority.

A mite from Chicago is going to give some of our swimmers a surprise in the championships. His name is Handy. He certainly is with his hands and feet. Western experts predict he will make our lads look like a bunch of crabs.

Omaha Tennis Tourney.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 25.—W. P. Hayes of Toledo, Ia., state and tristate champion, added another victory to his already long list by defeating C. S. Peters of Chicago in the final round in championship singles in the tournament of the United States Lawn Tennis association today. The Chicago man continued to display his wonderful freehand strokes and fine placing of long shots, but the Iowa man's smashes and fine lobbing finally won the match. Tomorrow Hayes will meet Ralph B. Fletcher of Galesburg, Ill., in the challenge round. Con Younger and his partner, Caldwell of Omaha, lost their match in the semi-final round of the doubles to Sanderson and Fletcher of Galesburg, after the former had secured a lead which should have given them the match. The Galesburg men will meet Peters and Snow of Chicago tomorrow in the final match for the cup.

EXMOOR MEN IN FINALS.

CLEMENT SMOOT AND WALTER EGAN SURVIVE IN MATCHES.

Sole Hope of Glen View Goes Glimmering When Highland Park Players Defeat Phelps Hoyt and W. I. Howland Jr.—Scores Are 4 Up and 2, and 2 Up—Towne and Clingman Remain to Compete for the Directors' Trophy.

Exmoor's right to rank as the premier cup winning club of Chicago was further demonstrated yesterday when Walter E. Egan and Clement E. Smoot won their matches in the semi-final round for the Glen View cup. For the next twelve months the big trophy will be on exhibition at Highland park, in company with many other trophies of the links.

Today the two Exmoor players will battle at 36 holes to determine the first honors of the tournament. Once before the cup went to Exmoor, Walter Egan being the winner. For the last two years it has been at home, thanks to the prowess of Louis N. James and K. L. Ames, while previous to Egan's victory it was retained at Glen View by the late William Holabird Jr.

Glen View's sole hope was destroyed when Smoot defeated Phelps B. Hoyt by 4 up and 2 to play, and Skokie's hope of success went glimmering when W. I. Howland Jr. was beaten by W. E. Egan, 2 up.

Towne Defeats James.

John D. Towne of Glen View and George F. Clingman Jr. remain to compete for the directors' cup. The former won from R. E. James of Glen View, 4 up and 3 to play, and the latter defeated W. H. Bennett of Skokie, 5 up and 4 to play.

For the Lear cup C. Baker of Auburn Park defeated R. Hunter of Mobile, Ala., 2 up, and Chester C. Allen of Kenosha defeated J. V. Houston of Westward Ho, 3 up, 2 to play.

The weather man struck a harmonious key yesterday and all nature seemed gay. A cool wind blew over the course and soon dissipated all signs of the previous day's rain.

The Egan-Howland match, although close, did not scintillate with brilliant golf. Egan, after losing the first hole, won the next two. Egan sliced to the woods at the fifth and lost the ball. Howland made the 320 yard hole in three. A stymie enabled Howland to halve the long hole after a poor approach. Egan won the short seventh in three, taking two putts. At the eighth hole Howland found the long grass and lost. Egan was two up at the turn. Egan took the tenth in four, one under bogey. Eleven was halved and at the next Howland found the river and gave up the hole. Egan, four up. The next two holes were halved.

Egan Finds Bunker.

Egan found the bunker with his third for the fifteenth and lost. Both played poorly at the next hole, Egan pulling his drive and then finding the rough. Howland laid him a stymie and won. Howland drove to the ditch at the seventeenth but Egan hit the long grass and failing to get out gave up the hole. Egan dormie 1. Both sliced to the rough for the home hole, but reached the green in three. Egan made a good putt and won, 5-6. Cards:

Egan, out	6	4	5	4	*	5	3	5	4
Howland, out	5	5	6	4	3	5	4	6	4
Egan, in	4	4	4	6	4	6	7	*	5
Howland, in	4	*	5	4	5	4	5	6

Young Smoot played better golf than the veteran Hoyt. Going out in 40, he was 2 up at the turn. He won the next, but lost the two following holes. Smoot took three of the next four and won. The cards:

Smoot—Out	4	4	5	4	4	6	3	6	4—40
Hoyt—Out	5	4	6	4	5	6	3	5	4—42
Smoot—In	4	5	5	6	3	6	5

Douglas and White in Golf Finals.

Manchester, Vt., Aug. 25.—Findlay S. Douglas of the Nassau Country club, and a former national champion, will meet Albert L. White of the Wollaston Golf club of Boston, and the present intercollegiate champion, in the final match of 36 holes for the president's cup at the Ekwanok club tomorrow. Both players came through two rounds of match play today.

Cricket Games Today.

This afternoon the Wanderers and Hyde Park teams will play their postponed match in the local cricket championship series at Parkside. The Calumets and Metropolitans will meet in an exhibition match at Fifty-second street and Cottage Grove avenue. On Labor day the Wanderers will play a picked team from Chicago at Parkside, the match being a benefit for Ben Aston, the Pullman wicketkeeper who was injured in a recent match.

LATONIA RACE RESULTS.

First race, ¾ mile—Merces, 88 pounds [C. Morris], 7 to 1, won; Judge Traynor, 3 to 1, second; Mabel Winn, 11 to 5, third. Time, 1:16 1-5.

BIG FUTURITY FIELD IS NAMED.

Seventeen 2 Year Olds Carded to Run in Rich Classic at Sheepshead Bay.

BELMONT PAIR FAVORITE.

Woolwich and Bridgeman at 6 to 1 in Night Betting; Rain Makes Track Heavy.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Racing will be resumed tomorrow on the metropolitan tracks with the Futurity, the great 2 year old stake, as the feature, at Sheepshead Bay. Seventeen horses have been named for the event, which will be run over a heavy track; a steady rain during most of the day having turned the six furlongs of the course into a stretch of mud, with the Belmont pair, Woolwich and Bridgeman, favorites in the betting tonight.

The Futurity is the goal toward which the ambition of every horseman points and around which cluster the best traditions of the American turf. Rich in money, it being worth over $50,000, and in memories extending as far back as the great struggle in which Proctor Knott came home a scant winner over the great Salvator, there is more for the winner of a Futurity than any of the other prizes offered by the American racing associations.

Look for Another Artful.

Last year the public pinned its hopes to the Keene colt, Sysonby, now the acknowledged champion 3 year old, but the public was not acquainted with the quality of the Whitney filly, Artful, and Sysonby went down to his only defeat. Last year's Futurity having developed two such horses as Sysonby and Artful, turf followers are looking forward to tomorrow's race with confidence. The 2 year old feature has rarely been won by a bad horse. Dominio, Potomac, Butterflies, His Highness, Ballyhoo Bey, and Yankee are among the best remembered winners.

While there is general disappointment that Harry Payne Whitney's colt, Burgomaster, and John Sanford's Saratoga Special winner, Mohawk II., are not to be among the starters, there is still quality enough in tomorrow's field to maintain the traditions of the race.

W. C. Whitney's Nominations Void.

All of the horses nominated by the late W. C. Whitney became ineligible with his death, through the strict conditions governing the race, a fact which can readily be realized when it is considered that out of the 1,159 nominations with which the race closed in January, 1903, only seventeen horses are named for the actual running. Nomination fees and penalties are heavy, and each of the starters will represent an additional fee of $250 paid on the last day for the privilege of facing the barrier.

Ormondale Is a Possibility.

To pick the winner from the seventeen carded will probably puzzle a great crowd, for no particular colt or filly is regarded as having a reasonably fair mortgage on the prize. Among smart people today, W. O'B. MacDonough's colt Ormondale, son of the famous Ormonde, is regarded as a possibility, chiefly because of some fast work shown recently at Saratoga, but whether or not he can run in the mud is something nobody seemed able to say. Ormondale is a splendid looker. He has been pointed for this race by Tom Welsh, his trainer, and Redfern will have the mount. He gets in with 117 pounds.

Next to Ormondale, August Belmont's Woolwich, a fine colt by Hastings—Woodvine, and Bridgeman, son of Octagon—St. Bridget, are much in favor. Woolwich, because of his sire's ability to travel well in soft going, should be at home on the kind of track that will prevail tomorrow. His best race this season was a victory over the noted First Water in the Expectation stakes, after which he was a head out of the money in the Great American stakes, beaten by Battle Axe, Bohemian, and Jerry Wernberg. Bridgeman tried several times at the Spa, but is still a maiden. While his performances have been disappointing, experts are not inclined to pass him up altogether. It is possible he will show improvement under more favorable circumstances.

Timber Reported on Edge.

H. P. Whitney's Timber, recently purchased from John E. Madden, will not be allowed to run unbacked, from present indications. His races at Saratoga were not up to the standard set erlier in the season on local tracks, but Trainer Rogers has not been extending the colt too much for the reason he is anxious to have him right on edge when he faces the barrier tomorrow afternoon.

J. A. Bennett has held to the belief all along that his filly, Flipflap, has a royal chance and the fact she can fly in the mud strengthened his confidence in her. She is a slow beginner, but a powerful stretch runner.

Sydney Paget has named Jacobite, a gelding by Golden Garter—Flora Mac, who must take up 123 pounds. This youngster won a number of stakes earlier in the year in such a manner that he is regarded as a possible factor on a fast track. Newton Bennington has not named First Water, but will depend on Jerry Weinberg, a strapping big colt by Watercress—Fleurette, who was tried on several occasions, but never won. Weinberg worked in splendid form for the Futurity. Bennington, together with his trainer, Fred Burlew, thinks he can win with any kind of fair racing luck. He is a sluggish colt, who needs just such a vigorous, hustling rider as Frank O'Neill to bring him through his company in a great clash down the stretch.

Kuroki and Oyama to Run.

F. R. Hitchcock's representative is Vendor, a colt by Ogden-Vendor, who must pack 127 pounds, including penalties. He ran some good races, and will be handled by Willie Shaw. James R. Keene has named the two Commando colts, Kuroki and Oyama, both of whom have been tried and found wanting in several races, although early in the campaign it was said they would have the Futurity at their mercy. Fred Burlew, in addition to saddling Jerry Weinberg, will have two starters in his own name in the Madden bred colts, Belmere and Bellsnicker, neither of which have started the turf world with sterling performances.

S. S. Brown's Accountant must pick up top weight, 130 pounds, which includes a penalty for winning the Brighton Junior stakes. This colt has shown much class, but experts believe the weight will prove too much for him. "Father Bill" Daly has decided to start Veronese, who won a cracking good race at the Spa and likes the heavy going.

Bullman to Ride Artery.

William Astor Chanler's colors will be carried by Artery, a green maiden by Ogden-British, a blue blood, hence a half brother to John A. Drake's Britisher. This colt was bred by Madden and sold to Chanler some time ago. As his recent work was excellent it was decided to start him, and Bullman will have the leg up. Zienap, who never started, and Woodford Clay's filly, Running Water, who may be scratched because of a rumored lame shoulder, complete the list.

Sheepshead Entries.

First race, Inaugural steeplechase, handicap, short course, about 2 miles, 4 year olds and up—Pagan Bey, 152 pounds; Nitrate, 151; Phantom, 144; Dick Roberts, 142; Northampton, 138.

Second race, last 5½ furlongs of Futurity course, selling, 2 year olds—Cary, 106 pounds; Blue Pirate, 105; Verbest, 104; Sir Caruthers, Nostromo, 102; Vagabond, Ladsarion, 99; Ingleside, Gentian, Remington, Bauble, 97; Youth, 96; Donora, The Cingalee, 95; Honeywell, 94; Dodina, 90; Expressing, Bribery, 89.

Third race, the Fall handicap, ¾ mile, on main course, 3 year olds and up—Roseben, 129 pounds; Wildmint, 118; Graziallo, 116; Spring, 113; Pretension, Prince Hamburg, 112; Broadcloth, 111; Tokalon, 109; Rose of Dawn, Gold Enamel, 107; Raceking, 106; Preen, 105; Cigarlighter, 98; Workman, 97; Lady Prudence, 90.

Fifth race, 1 mile and 1 furlong, selling, 3 year olds and up—Blue Ribbon, 111 pounds; Stroller, Darie, Lord Badge, 108; Elwood, Jacquin, R. F. Williams, Sals, 106; Ascot Belle, 98; Prosta, 96; Novena, 91.

Sixth race, 1 1-16 miles, on turf, 3 year olds and up—Witan, 108 pounds; Colonial Girl, 121; Judge Himes, 106; Stroller, Pretension, 113; First Mason, New Mown Hay, Memories, Grapple, Tommy Waddell, Deft, Askme, Jocund, Headlance, 111; Sir Ralph, 106; Stamping Ground, Redfriar, Sailor Boy, 106.

MILE IN 2:05 BY DELMAR.

BILLINGS' CHAMPION GELDING IS GIVEN SPEEDY TRYOUT.

Time Fastest Ever Made on Washington Park Track by a Trotter—Conditions Not Favorable, So Exhibition Is Declared to Be Equal to 2:03 on Grand Circuit Oval—Cleveland and Pittsburg Name Candidates for Intercity Meet.

[BY HENRY TEN EYCK WHITE.]

The fastest mile ever trotted at Washington park track was witnessed yesterday, when Major Delmar, champion gelding and the only trotter aside from Lou Dillon with a mark better than 2 minutes, went around the track in 2:05.

It was workout day for some of the fastest horses in the Billings string, but Delmar was the star. His preparation for a fast mile was begun under unfavorable weather conditions, a brisk northwest wind from the quarter to the three-quarter pole made that part of the journey slow. The track, while smooth and dry, was cuppy all the way around. After taking everything into consideration, horsemen agreed that the outfit was fully 2 seconds slower than a grand circuit track on a perfect day, so Delmar was really a 2:03 horse yesterday.

Given Four Preliminary Heats.

Preliminary to the real stepping of the afternoon he was given four heats in 2:35, 2:27, 2:20, 2:15. It was the first time he had been hitched to a sulky this year, and to offset the change from pulling a wagon Trainer Tanner put a two ounce toe weight on the gelding. The mile in 2:05 was done so handily, the last half in 1:01½, that those who held watches at other points than at the wire could not believe their timing was correct until it was confirmed by Tanner.

To cinch the horse up for the exhibition Mr. Billings intends giving with Delmar during the intercity matinée here next Thursday or Friday, Tanner decided to step him one more mile at moderate speed, and let him tramp the final half about up to his limit. Accordingly he went to the half in 1:06 and came home in 1:01½, making the mile 2:07½. After this work Delmar never took a long breath, and his bodily condition could not be improved upon. Tanner said that only on two occasions this year, previous to yesterday, had he speeded the horse at a high rate, once driving him a quarter in :29½, and another day a half in :59¾.

Puzzle to Pick Cup Candidate.

During the afternoon The Monk and Prince of Orange, one of which will start for the Billings stable in the gold cup race next Friday, were worked out to see which was the better, but they made a standoff of it. The Monk went his fast miles in 2:09, 2:08½, while Prince of Orange did the trick in 2:09, 2:09, 2:10½, trotting the first and last quarters of the final mile in :31½ each.

When Mr. Billings reaches Chicago he will select, on this work, the horse that he prefers for the cup contest. Today Tanner will work a number of other horses belonging to Mr. Billings, chief among them being Lou Dillon. The track here does not suit the little mare, and thus far her best effort has been 2:10. It is probable that she will be driven by Mr. Billings during the intercity matinée.

Formidable List from Out of Town.

Secretary Hartwell of the Gentlemen's Driving club received yesterday lists of horses from Pittsburg and Cleveland that will compete in the matinée, and it will be seen that they are a formidable lot for the local trotters and pacers to go against. With the assurance of big fields in each event on the two days' card, it is certain that the racing will be high class in every respect. Starter Stone of Burlington, Wis., who is one of the best known men in this line of work, will look after that end of the entertainment, and the judges' stand will be occupied by practical men, who are familiar with the rules.

The Cleveland club will be represented by F. L. Chamberlain, the Chicago club by Col. John S. Cooper, and Pittsburg by a member of the club from that city, although no selection has yet been made. Daniel J. Campau of Detroit, president of the grand circuit and principal owner of the Detroit track, has been asked to officiate as presiding judge, and it is believed he will accept. In addition to the exhibitions by Lou Dillon and Major Delmar it is more than likely President Hanna of the Cleveland Drivng park will drive his team of trotting mares, Aerolite and Leola, a fast mile.

Many Visitors Are Expected.

That the attendance from outside Chicago is to be something unprecedented in the history of harness racing hereabouts is considered certain. Large delegations from Cleveland and Pittsburg are assured, and word has been receievd that more than 100 horse lovers from Detroit will be on hand. Milwaukee and the rest of Wisconsin will furnish a big crowd, and there will be excursions from Indiana and Michigan on cup day. The local patronage will be large. As to the program, that cannot be definitely announced until next Tuesday, and the entries close Monday night.

The Cleveland and Pittsburg entries, however, are as follows:

PITTSBURG.

Dr. Strong, 2:06; entered in cup race.
Redwood, 2:10¾; entered in 2:10 and 2:07 trots.
Louise Mc, 2:08¾; entered in 2:10 and 2:07 trots.

WASHINGTON PARK MATINEE.

The Gentlemen's Driving club offers a good program of eight events for its regular weekly matinée at Washington park this afternoon. The features of the day's sport will be the race between F. G. Hartwell's Dora Electrite and F. S. Gorton's Carolyn C.; the race between C. K. G. Billings' The Questor, F. G. Jones' Yo San, and J. R. Thompson's Solon Grattan; and the special event, to beat 2:11 pacing to wagon, in which Mr. Billings will send his b. g. Angus Pointer against other time. The best horses, at both styles of going at the track, barring, of course, Mr. Billings' stars, are entered in the various events, and if the track is in good condition the probabilities are Mr. Billings may send either Lou Dillon or Major Delmar once around the course.

West Side Matinee Today.

The West Chicago Driving club will hold its regular Saturday matinée at its track, West Twelfth street and South Central avenue, this afternoon. Four races, 2:40 trot and pace, 2:25 pace, 2:15 trot, and 2:30 trot, are scheduled. Racing begins at 2 o'clock.

One Fare to Hot Springs, Ark.

Plus $2, for round trip, daily, good for 30 days. Summer is the best time for treatment. Ask any ticket agent.

GARDNER WINNER; ALL BETS ARE OFF.

Referee Gives Lowell Man Verdict Over "Buddy" Ryan After 15 Rounds.

CLAIM OF FOUL IS MADE.

Chicagoan Is Twice Hit Low and Refuses to Continue the Battle.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The twenty-five round fight at Colma tonight between Jimmy Gardner of Lowell, Mass., and "Buddy" Ryan of Chicago ended in the sixteenth in a most unsatisfactory manner, Referee Roche giving the fight to Gardner, but declaring all bets off, as Ryan's seconds persistently claimed foul at the end of the fifteenth round.

The fight was a pretty spectacle up to the fifteenth round. Gardner had the advantage in reach and showed greater cleverness throughout, but Ryan rushed in several rounds and had Gardner guessing badly. The first three rounds of the fight were even and pretty to see, because of Ryan's fierce rushes and Gardner's blocking. For two rounds Ryan forced the fighting. Then Gardner came back in the sixth and slaughtered Ryan for two rounds, jabbing him with straight lefts and countering on the head with the right.

Eighth Is Ryan's Best Round.

The eighth was Ryan's best showing. He hit Gardner with several rights over the left eye, making it bleed, and he forced Gardner all over the ring. From this on until the thirteenth it was all Gardner, Ryan receiving heavy punishment about the mouth and nose, but taking the gaff like a major.

Ryan recuperated in the thirteenth and in this and the fourteenth the honors were even. In the fifteenth Ryan showed good work at the start, but Gardner punished him heavily with right and lefts and near the end landed a terrific right and left just on the line of the belt.

The blows may have been foul, but could not have hurt in the vital part, which he claimed they did. Ryan's seconds took the cue of foul and made a great noise, his timekeeper, Gallagher, even jumping into the ring, but Roche threw him out and ordered the fight to go on.

Bell Saves Chicagoan.

Ryan was again dropped to the carpet, when the bell saved him. Roche offered to examine Ryan in his chair, but his seconds refused, and when they saw that Roche had determined to call the sixteenth round, they threw up the sponge. The referee then gave the fight to Gardner, but declared all bets off.

The general opinion of sports at the ringside tonight was that Referee Roche's decision was correct. The referee made a fair offer to examine Ryan during the one minute wait, but Ryan's seconds refused, and there was nothing to do under the circumstances but order the fight to go on when the gong sounded for the sixteenth. Had Roche allowed the claim of foul he would have been put in the same position that Referee Wyatt Earp was some years ago when he gave the decision to Sharkey over Fitzsimmons on precisely such a claim of foul as was made by Ryan tonight.

Roche Shows Fairness.

To show that Roche acted fairly it is only necessary to add that both Ryan and his seconds refused to allow the club physician to examine him after he had been carried to his dressing room. If the blow had landed so far below the belt as he claimed certainly he would have shown positive evidences of it in two or three minutes, and the only fair excuse for his refusal was that the blow did not disable him. After the fight Roche said:

"I gave the decision to Gardner because he clearly outpointed Ryan throughout the fight. During three-quarters of the battle he forced the fighting. From my position in the ring I should not say the blows were foul. From the fact so many who were sitting below the level of the ring and therefore had a better opportunity of watching the blows than I declared that they were foul, I decided to order all bets off. This seemed to me to be the only fair action under the circumstances. I have not heard one, however, say that he believed Ryan received a disabling blow. He was plainly whipped and another round would have finished him."

Hartung Says Blows Were Low.

George Hartung, the timekeeper for the club and one of the best experts on boxing in the city, said: "The blows that Gardner landed were quite low, in fact, they were below the belt. But they were not so low as to produce the effect which 'Buddy' Ryan claimed. If Ryan had not been groggy and practically all in he could have gone on fighting after these blows. In fact, in one of the early rounds he himself landed two blows on Gardner which were fully as low as those which he claimed were fouls."

Gardner by his fighting tonight won the admiration of every man who saw him in the ring. His aggressive fighting against a man who looked ten pounds heavier than himself and his blocking tactics which neutralized most of Ryan's rushes were as fine as anything ever seen in a San Francisco ring. His straight left leads for the face were sure and powerful. What San Francisco fight fans would like to see would be a fight between Jimmy Gardner and the winner of the Britt-Nelson fight.

Nelson Starts Boxing.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Battling Nelson did his first sparring today, Joe Angell being his sparring partner for a few fast rounds. He induced "Smiling" Metzner to get into the ring for a little exercise with disastrous results. Nelson started a quick left for the head of his host, intending to take off his hat. Metzner met the blow head on and it caught him full on the point of the jaw. He went down like a log for the count and got up dazed.

Mowatt and "Kid" Herman Matched.

Tommy Mowatt and "Kid" Herman were matched yesterday to fight fifteen rounds at Grand Rapids, Mich., on Sept. 6. The boys are to weigh 128 pounds at 3 o'clock the afternoon of the fight.

BUSY DAY FOR THE YACHTSMEN.

Columbia Club to Hold Races for Sportsmen's League Cup and Chelsea Clock—Cutters to Compete.

Local yachtsmen will be active today, good cards being scheduled at both lake front clubs. At the Columbia Yacht club the thirty footers will contest in the fourth race for the Sportsmen's league cup and the yachts of the cruiser class will hold their second race in the series for the Chelsea clock. The entries in the cup race are Columbia, Nymph, Gloria, Smuggler, and Privateer. As the competition for the trophy now stands, Columbia leads in points scored with Nymph a good second. The cruiser race will bring together Neva, Charlotte R., Jeanettie, Mawaja, and Vixen. The previous race was won by Jeanettie. The contests will be sailed at 2:30.

Chairman Edward Rosing of the Chicago club regatta committee has arranged a good program of harbor events for the afternoon. The feature of the card will be a race between the four cutter crews of the Illinois Naval reserves. The start will be made from in front of the clubhouse, through the Van Buren street gap, outside the gap through the Twelfth street opening, and back to the starting point. The prize will be a silver cup offered by the club. Among other events will be swimming races and a contest between the yachts of the "pup" class.

During the stiff gale which swept the yacht anchorage early yesterday morning Charles S. Roberts' Illinois broke away from its moorings and drifted to Twelfth street, where it was driven against the piers and badly damaged. The yacht's bowsprit was broken off and several planks staved in. It was taken to the shipyard for repairs.

NO MORE RACES FOR LIPTON.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Sir Thomas Lipton, interviewed on his yacht the Erin today, said: "I am quite as desirous as ever to go on with a fresh challenge for the American cup, but it would be a futile effort under the measurement rules of the New York Yacht club."

REAL ESTATE—FARM LANDS.

FOR SALE—NORTH DAKOTA IS ALL SMILES AND SUNSHINE. And right now is the best time to see it. The farmers from "wheat belts" should come and see North Dakota No. 1 hard wheat, and then realize wheat is only ONE of our crops. The farmers from Illinois and Iowa should come and see our oats, barley, speltz, wheat, potatoes, hay, and live stock, and appreciate our deep virgin soil, that will grow all grains, and which starts in with a fine crop of nutritious grass as a free present to the new settler. We have fine lands in the best farming country, well watered, most of it underlaid with coal, near good neighbors and schools, for $10 to $18 an acre, and [if you come quick] we can locate you on a 160 acre homestead adjoining. Can anything beat that? Better let us show you maps and photos and talk exc. rates to you. You'll never regret it. WM. H. BROWN CO., 131 La Salle-st., Chicago, Ill., or Mandan, North Dakota.

IN THE REAL ESTATE WORLD.

James B. Hobbs has sold the Evanston apartments at the northwest corner of Evanston avenue and York place to John R. Morris for $100,000. The property fronts east and is 131½x144 feet. The sale was subject to an incumbrance of $60,000. The building contains thirty-five flats and five stores.

Transfer of Cicero Lots.

Charles Hermon Ward has purchased from James B. Hobbs the following pieces of property in the town of Cicero for $45,000: Southwest corner of Jackson street and Austin boulevard, north front, 261x600 feet; southwest corner of Jackson street and Humphrey avenue, north front, 288x600 feet; and southwest corner of Jackson street and Lyman avenue, north front, 122x600 feet. Mr. Ward has obtained a loan of $19,000, three years, at 6 per cent, secured by a trust deed given on the property to the Chicago Title and Trust company.

Loan on South Side Property.

Fred E. Lee has borrowed $115,000, secured by a trust deed given to the Berkshire Life Insurance company on property at the northeast corner of Fifty-first street and Grand boulevard, south front, 150x271 feet. The loan extends until Oct. 1, 1910, at 4½ per cent.

Charles Hollanbach has leased to Herman Mishkowski the property at the northwest corner of Paulina and Eighteenth street from Aug. 19, 1905, to April 10, 1917. The rental is $18,415. A three story brick building will be erected on the property.

CONTRACT FOR CONSTRUCTION INVOLVING $15,000,000 MADE.

Pittsburg Concern Undertakes to Build 600 Miles of Track for New Western Pacific Road.

The largest single contract for railroad construction which has ever been awarded in the United States has just been given to William Kenefick and company of Pittsburg for the construction of two-thirds of the Western Pacific, the road which George J. Gould is building to the Pacific coast. The contract is for $15,000,000 for the 600 miles, or $25,000 a mile, and the road is to be completed in three and a half years.

With the completion of this line, George J. Gould will be in control of the first real transcontinental system, reaching from the Atlantic to the Pacific oceans. There yet remains the eastern connection between Pittsburg and the Atlantic coast to be made, but that line will be build before the Western Pacific is finished.

Upon the return of George J. Gould from Europe the matter of a new and more direct route from the Missouri river to Denver for the Gould system again will be taken up, and it is not unlikely that some decision will be reached in the near future. The increase of through tonnage, which is expected to follow the completion of the new line to the Pacific, makes the matter of directness of routes between Chicago and the west of more importance than it ever before has been.

Alton Assumes Ownership of Line.

An official order has been made public by the Alton, by which it officially assumes the ownership of the Quincy, Carrollton, and St. Louis line, on Sept. 1. The line has been operated by the Alton for several years, it having been all this time in the hands of Supt. Ryder as receiver.

Ripley Replies to Criticisms.

Mr. E. P. Ripley, president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fé railway system, replied today to recent criticisms.

"I wish it were true," he said, "that the Santa Fé company is getting or could get anything out of the oil that moves through the Standard Oil company's pipe lines, but unfortunately for us it is not true. The Santa Fé company has not derived benefit of any kind from the advent of the Standard Oil company in the Kansas field. The statements made regarding the Santa Fé company, as well as the conclusions drawn therefrom are absolutely false, except as to certain changes in weights and rates which were proper and justifiable.

Traffic Officials Inspect City Terminals.

Thirty of the leading Baltimore and Ohio traffic officials have been in Chicago for a week on an inspection trip. They were headed by Manager of Freight Traffic C. S. Wight of Baltimore, General Freight Agent L. R. Brockenbrough of Pittsburg, and General Western Freight Agent C. H. Harkins of Chicago. The motive of the visit was to inaugurate a more vigorous and aggressive campaign for new traffic and to determine what facilities are required to care for an increase in traffic.

Poultry Shipper Files Charges with the Interstate Commission Alleging Two Icing Rates in Force.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—E. T. Rainey, a poultry shipper of Thompsonville, Ill., on behalf of himself and other shippers, today filed with the interstate commerce commission a complaint that the Illinois Central railroad has in force a discriminating rate in favor of members of the Central Traffic Weighing bureau.

He alleges that members of the weighing bureau are charged on only 15 per cent of the ice required to preserve poultry while non-members are charged on the full gross weight. More than 200 pounds of ice is needed for every barrel of poultry of about 160 pounds net weight.

The defendant road has been given twenty days to file its answer.

IN THE NEW YORK MARKET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Trade in the dry goods market was conducted on a fairly liberal basis today, both at first and second hands. Firmness was the principal feature. Jobbers continue to do a large business.

Metals—Tin in London experienced a slight reaction after a higher opening and closed at £132 5s for spot and £151 10s for futures. Locally quiet and firm with spot quoted at $33.37½@33.62½. Copper in London firm with the spot higher at £71 12s 6d; futures unchanged at £72. Locally holders were inclined to ask still higher prices, with lake and electrolytic quoted at $16.25@16.50; casting, $15.87½@16.12½. Lead locally quiet and unchanged at $4.85@4.90. In London advanced and closed at £14 2s 6d. Spelter in London unchanged at £25; locally at $5.65@5.75. Iron was firm and higher in the English market, Glasgow closing at 51s and Middlesboro at 48s 4½d. Locally the market is reported firmer.

Butter—Steady, unchanged. Receipts, 9,175 pkgs. Butter in Philadelphia firm; extra western creamery, 22c; extra nearby prints, 23c.

Eggs—Easy, unchanged. Receipts, 8,964 cases. Eggs in Philadelphia firm; nearby fresh, loss off, 22c; nearby fresh, 21c at mark; western fresh, 21@22c at mark.

Poultry—Alive steady; western chickens, 15c; fowls, 13½c; turkeys, 13c. Dressed quiet; western chickens, 14c; fowls, 12@12½c; turkeys, 13@17c.

BROKERS ACCUSED BY WOMAN.

She Says Newell C. Knight and Reuben H. Donnelley Have Conspired to Prevent Collection of Debt.

In a bill filed in the United States Circuit court yesterday Mrs. Amanda E. Stichtenoth charges that Newell C. Knight and Reuben H. Donnelley, members of the defunct board of trade firm of Knight, Donnelley & Co., have conspired with Sidmon McHie to defraud her.

McHie is the owner of an alleged bucket shop concern. Mrs. Stichtenoth obtained a judgment against him, an attempt to levy on which met with failure. A bill for a receiver for all the assets of McHie then was filed.

According to the latest action Knight, Donnelley & Co. owe McHie $32,629 or more, and unless the brokers and Edward C. Potter, receiver of their property, are made parties defendant for the action against McHie, Mrs. Stichtenoth will not be able to collect the amount owing the latter.

STOCK MARKET CONFUSED

READING'S GYMNASTICS ILLUSTRATE WALL STREET TONE.

[BY A SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The stock market today was confused and irregular. Interest naturally centered around Reading, which opened at a fractional decline, but speedily recovered. Its movements during the day, however, were illustrative of the market's general tone. Following its early recovery the stock made a gain of 1⅝, only to fall 2¾ points below its closing price of yesterday. The market became feverish with declines of 1 to 2½ points in a number of the more active issues, including Union Pacific, Louisville and Nashville, Northern Pacific and Northwestern.

Commission houses had an abundance of selling orders and some of the best known brokerage firms were open sellers of the active list. This was especially true of Union Pacific, which was carried down over 2 points with scarcely a halt. Most of the selling of Reading came from the same sources. The break in Erie caught many stop orders and there was an all around unloading of weak bull accounts. Business dwindled in the late session and the closing hour was the dullest of the day. A feature of the afternoon was a slight flurry in call money, which sent the rate up to 3½ per cent. Little was loaned at this figure, but considerable amounts were put out at 3 per cent. The rise resulted from demands of belated borrowers.

Bonds were heavy. Total sales, par value, $3,105,000. U. S. 2s advanced ¼ per cent on call.

Money on call firmer and higher; 1¾@3½ per cent; closing bid, 2; offered at 3¼. Time loans steady; 60 and 90 days, 3@3½ per cent; six months, 4. Close: Prime mercantile paper, 4@4½ per cent. Sterling exchange, easier with actual business in bankers' bills at 486.55@486.60 for demand and at 484.65@484.70 for 60 days' bills. Posted rates, 485½ and 487½. Commercial bills, 484¼. Bar silver, 61½c. Mexican dollars, 48½c. Government bonds, firm; railroad bonds, heavy.

SHORT LINES TAKEN IN.

WHEAT PRICES REBOUND WHEN LEADING BEARS COVER.

Pit Offerings Are Light, Even When Northwest Markets Show Weakness—Smaller Argentine Shipments and Light Receipts All Pit Influences—Corn and Oats Markets Have a Dull Day—Provisions Up Sharply, Then Down Again.

There were too many shorts in the wheat pit yesterday. Offerings in the pit were light throughout the session, and this condition of affairs had more to do with the final state of the market more than the news of the day. Prices moved off ⅛@¼c for the distant deliveries and ¼@⅜c for the September shorts after the opening, but little wheat came on sale under 80c for the latter and at 81½c for December and 84½c for May, and commission houses had fair buying orders.

When a leading bear house started to cover other shorts were not slow to follow their lead, and the market marched up ⅞c from the low point for September and ⅝@¾c for the deferred months, closing at about best prices. At the last September was ⅛@⅜c higher for the day at 80⅝c, December ⅛c higher at 82⅛c, and May ⅛@⅜c higher at 85c.

The early softness of prices was due in part to a decline of ½@1c at Minneapolis, the forecast of clear weather in that direction, except for showers in the Dakotas today, and smaller cash premiums and larger offerings to arrive in the northwest markets. The effect of this news was partly offset by the unexpectedly small showing of Argentine shipments for the week at 1,856,000 bu, against 3,200,000 bu estimated. Crop news from the northwest was bearish, one authority estimating that 85 per cent of the crop in the three states will be cut by tonight, and another saying the Red river valley is good for 12 to 14 bu to the acre in spite of the excessive rains and other hardships the plant has met.

Southwestern Receipts Keep Light.

The movement to market centers in the southwest continues to run under the aggregate of last year at this time, and messages from that direction gave no indications of an immediate change in the situation. The two markets received 337,000 bu, compared with 600,000 bu last year, and the northwest points had 174 cars against 197 cars last year. Local receipts were 59 cars, and at all primary markets the total was 643,000 bu, compared with 870,000 bu last year.

Southwestern cash markets were higher, and St. Louis reported a sale of 35,000 bu No. 2 red to Louisville mills at 5c over September. Local cash sales were 57,000 bu, the bulk sold for New York delivery at ⅛c under September in store. Minneapolis stocks are estimated to decrease 700,000 bu for the week. Unofficial Indian shipments were 800,000 bu, compared with 976,000 bu last week. The Modern Miller said rains had interfered with winter wheat seeding. Minneapolis closed steady for September, and ½c up for deferred deliveries and southwestern prices ended ⅛@⅝c higher. New York reported 144,000 bu Manitoba wheat sold for export, and clearances were 130,000 bu. Liverpool lost the Thursday advance, closing ⅛@¼c lower, Antwerp lost ⅝c, and Paris ¾@1½c.

There was a little open selling of September by Valentine early, by pit traders, and by northwestern houses, who still were busy with spreads. Daggett, Pringle, Brosseau, Rosenbaum, and Logan-Bryan sold at 80c and under. Buying around bottom by Pringle in person and by his house, and by Friedman was influential in starting the market up, and brokers supposed to be acting for Valentine also were buyers. Brosseau was credited with buying on the advance.

Corn Prices Change Little.

Regardless of the fact that the Argentine shipments were corrected to nearly double the figure of Thursday, corn started with considerable buying force in both old and new crop months. The old September firmed to 55c on first trades, but leading longs in that month evidently are not ready for fancy prices and offered enough to check the advance and give the price a backset. After selling most of the day around 54⅝c the close was a shade lower for the day, at 54⅝c. New crop months made only fractional changes all day, and closed heavy at 46c for new December, and 43⅞c for May.

The shipping business was less active for today, with sales 100,000 bu. The seaboard reported 80,000 bu for export. There was an absence of selling pressure by the cash and elevator people. The weather was favorable for the rapid growth of the crop, but hot winds still were heard from in Kansas. Receipts were 270 cars and the estimate for today 278. Primary markets received 569,000 bu, shipped 423,000 bu. The early selling which checked the advance in September was by Farnum, presumably for the Bartlett-Frazier house. Harris-Scotten sold the same month moderately. Rosenbaum Grain company sold new December. Buying was scattered.

Small Range in Oats.

There was a loss of barely 1-16c in all deliveries of oats and less than ¼c range in prices all told. The first hour was marked by fair sales against country purchases on the part of the cash trade led by Armour, Bartlett, and Northern Grain company. The commission trade has just enough buying orders to absorb the offerings without disturbing prices. The receipts were lighter, at 227 cars, and for Saturday the estimate is 225 cars. Oats on the sample table ruled steady, and shipping business amounted to 175,000 bu, including 25,000 bu for export. New York confirmed 80,000 bu sold for export. Wrenn led the early buying of May, and it was this house that was credited with buying for Lichtstern the day before.

Provisions Up, Then Sag Back.

Several traders who have been standing out on short lines in provisions seemed to realize the strength of the market's position and became good buyers at the opening of the session. Pork prices had the strongest upturn, gaining 25@30c. Lard prices were marked up 10c, and ribs at best points were up 5 to 7½c higher. Pork reacted about 10c from the high point at the close, and other products rested at about Thursday's figures. Early trading showed considerable local and outside buying independent of the packers. Robinson filled a large buying order in October lard for some packing interest. Receipts of hogs were 18,000, and an early advance of 5c was lost later. For today the hogs are 11,000. Western packing points received 49,500 hogs, compared with 46,200 last year.

Rye, Barley, and Seeds.

Rye ruled steady for cash, No. 2 carlots selling at 60@62½c and No. 3 at 58c. September was 58c bid and December sold at 59c, closing bid at that price. Receipts were 8 cars.

Barley was steady. Malting grades ranged from 38@47c, fancy quoted at 50c, feed 36@37c, and screenings 24@36c. Receipts were 4 cars.

Flaxseed was 40@50c up for No. 1. To arrive sold at $6.10, and spot was $1.09 bid. No. 1 northwestern was $1.16. Receipts were 3 cars here, 6 at Minneapolis, and 3 at Duluth. Timothy seed offerings were small, and country lots were quoted from $2.50@3.80, according to quality. September was $3.75 bid and March $3.65. Old clover seed was nominally $12.00.

INTERESTING TRADE GOSSIP ON 'CHANGE.

Watson of Minneapolis sent out the detailed crop report of H. V. Jones yesterday. Jones is unabashed by the array of experts who are 65,000,000 bu to 75,000,000 bu above him in their estimates, his figures being 624,000,000 bu. Of spring wheat he says: "Black rust spread quite generally over central Minnesota and later over northern Minnesota and perhaps half of North Dakota. It manifested itself differently this year than last, but it has done effectual work in the loss of 30,000,000 bu from the promise of July 20 to 25. We think 205,000,000 bu fairly represented its promise in the straw, but this was based on the length of the straw and the long heads. Observers failed to examine the wheat closely enough to discover that it was not filling properly and that the head was being blighted on all sides. As the heat reached the early dough it took on a muddy color on top of an unnatural yellow straw. Big wheat never bears that appearance. When the grain was taken into the hand there was a great amount of chaff in every instance. The berries were uneven in size over large areas. In many instances yields will be cut in two from the promise of the straw in the field, and these yields will develop when the grain is thrashed, while in scattered instances fields are a total loss from black rust, which attacked them with the vigor of last year." Jones raises his estimate of the 1904 corn crop to 2,100,000,000 bu, against the previous estimate of 1,900,000,000 bu, which received little attention because the government and other authorities put it at 2,500,000,000 bu. Jones defends his estimate as follows: "The government, the Price Current, and Mr. Snow were 400,000,000 too high. The state reports prove this, the price of corn proves it. The corn is not in the country and never was."

Sales of cash wheat aggregated 57,000 bu, including 40,000 bu No. 2 red at ⅛c under September in store, to go to New York, presumably for delivery on September contracts, and 2,000 bu choice turkey hard at 9½c over September, f. o. b., the rest mixed lots. Premiums on all but spring wheat were fully maintained. No. 2 red, 1½@2¼c over September; No. 3 red, ½c under to 1½c over, and No. 2 hard 1@10c over. No. 3 spring, which would have brought 97c the day before, sold at 95c, f. o. b., and No. 4 spring at 90c. The southwestern markets were higher; St. Louis, ½c up at 85½@86c for No. 2 red, 82@84½c for No. 3 red, and 82½@87c for No. 2 hard. A lot of 35,000 bu elevator No. 2 red sold to Louisville at 5c over September, f. o. b. Louisville. Kansas City reported 5,000 bu No. 4 turkey hard sold to Minneapolis at 77c, a lot of No. 2 turkey at 84c, and No. 3 at 81c. No. 2 red was 82@83½c. Minneapolis was 1@2c lower on to arrive lots; No. 1 northern, for delivery by Sept. 5, 88c bid, against 90c Thursday, and 3c over September for 20 day arrival. New No. 1 northern sold at 97c@$1.00; old No. 1 northern was $1.06. At the seaboard there were sales of 144,000 bu Manitoba No. 1 and No. 2 northern wheat for export to the united kingdom, October-November shipment, the No. 1 northern c. i. f. Buffalo at 5c under New York, December, or 92⅞c c. i. f. Liverpool. A good demand was reported for hard wheat, but small offers prevent business. Few foreign bids for soft wheat were noted.

John Washburn of Washburn-Crosby of Minneapolis wired J. W. Bodman: "Just returned from a grain inspection trip. We will get 200,000,000 bu wheat up here. If weather continues good it will run over 200,000,000 bu. The Red river valley, where we expected a poor crop, is good for 12 bu to 14 bu to the acre." A. I. Valentine, who was with the Washburn-Crosby party, returned yesterday. He said: "There is no doubt about the prosperity of the northwest as shown by the fine appearance of country towns and farmhouses. We visited the big farm at Larimore and saw thirty-eight machines, with two to four horses each, working in one field. This field will go about 22 bu of No. 1 northern to the acre, and the whole farm of about 10,000 acres will go about 16 bu."

Shipping demand for corn on the advance was slow, sales the smallest in weeks, only 100,000 bu being reported in small lots. No. 2 corn sold at 2¼c over September, c. i. f. Buffalo, the smallest premium in some time. At the seaboard there were export sales of 104,000 bu, including 56,000 bu at 51½c for last half January shipment. Sales of oats in the local market were 110,000 bu, including 25,000 bu for export, and the seaboard said export sales were 100,000 bu. A lot of 100,000 bu feed barley was sold abroad at New York.

It looked as if the small estimate of Argentine shipments of wheat, which was one of the chief bull cards of Thursday, had been mixed in transmission with that of corn. The estimate was given as 3,200,000 bu and yesterday's report showed only 1,856,000 bu shipped for the week, while corn shipments were 3,697,000 bu, against an estimate of 2,000,000 bu.

Northwestern advices were of larger country offerings and lower bids for wheat to arrive, but the southwest reported acceptances small and notices of consignments not plentiful. A message from St. Louis to Lindman said: "Bids are 4½c over December and we do not get acceptances. There are good sales of No. 2 red to mills at 5c over September."

"Rains to some extent have interfered with the seeding of winter wheat," says the Modern Miller, "yet this work is well advanced and the soil is in unusually good condition to start the growth of the crop. The movement of wheat to market continues small. A return to dry weather will cause an increase in the movement."

Exports from both coasts and Canada, as reported by Bradstreet's, are:

	Wheat and flour, bu.	Corn, bu.
This week	1,170,000	987,000
Last week	1,069,000	1,177,000
Last year	1,840,000	736,000
Since July 1, 1905	7,877,000	8,062,000
Same period in 1904	11,389,000	4,509,000

Export sales of No. 2 red by a local house again were circulated, and straightway denied by the house in question. It being said that offers of that grade to Liverpool had brought only a quotation 2¼c under the asked price.

A cargo of 80,000 bu No. 2 red was loading yesterday at the National and Union elevators on the river, to go to Buffalo and thence to New York by canal.

Duluth wired Pringle-Fitch-Rankin: "It is claimed that 85 per cent of the wheat in the three northwestern states will have been out by tomorrow night."

Estimated receipts for today are: Wheat, 62 cars; corn, 278 cars; oats, 227 cars; rye, 6 cars; barley, 13 cars; hogs, 11,000.

There were charters for 200,000 bu corn to Buffalo at 1¼c.

ON THE LOCAL EXCHANGE.

CHICAGO STOCK PRICES GENERALLY ARE STEADY.

American Can Shares Are Moderately Active — Chicago Edison Hangs Around 157 for Trades in Small Lots—Kansas City Railway and Light Preferred Closes at 88—The Money Market Is a Shade Firmer—Commercial Banks Lend Below 4½.

Chicago stocks generally were steady yesterday. There was no sympathy with the movement in New York. American Can shares were moderately active. It appears that the recent firmness in price is due largely to miscellaneous trading and not to efforts by insiders.

Chicago Edison hangs around 157 for trades in small lots. "As far as known there are no pending developments. Diamond Match was firm at 144. Some of the former holders of National Biscuit preferred, since selling out their stock in the Biscuit company, have been investing in Diamond Match.

Kansas City Railway and Light preferred closed at 88. It has been pointed out several times that this preferred stock looks attractive for the small investor. The shares pay 5 per cent, and at this price and with the company's prospects, the stock looks more attractive than the ordinary 5 per cent bonds.

In the bond department Chicago Pneumatic Tool 5s were firm, closing at 76½.

Money a Shade Firmer.

The local money market is a shade firmer. The commercial banks have generally discontinued buying outside paper at anything better than 4½ per cent. For their own customers they are obliged to lend below this rate. It is believed, however, that they are not making a lower quotation than 4 per cent and putting out a great many more 4½ per cent loans than a fortnight since. The trust companies always lend at a shade lower rate than commercial banks.

Bank Statement Forecast.

Known movements of money indicate a loss in cash by the banks of $3,320,800. Of this amount $1,028,800 was to the interior, against $4,412,800 last week. The loss to the subtreasury this week is $2,282,000.

Reading Corner Is Denied.

Complete denial is made of the story that a corner in Reading is contemplated. It is ridiculed in substantial quarters and the information is such as to warrant belief in the denials.

New Deal for Stock Exchange.

A committee of the Chicago stock exchange has been appointed to consider the question of moving the exchange to the building which David Mayer is erecting in Jackson boulevard. Mr. Mayer is desirous of having the exchange as a tenant and has offered what is considered advantageous terms. Meanwhile the owners of the Chicago Stock Exchange building will be consulted in the matter of what terms they may offer to retain the exchange in its present location. The present lease of the exchange expires in 1908. The rental for the full term of fourteen years was $1 per year, the building company believing occupancy by the exchange and the right to use the name of the organization a valuable consideration. But the space occupied has an estimated value for rental purposes of $25,000 per annum.

The quarters are larger than needed and the members do not feel they could pay so much. Whether the exchange remains in its present location will depend upon how desirable its retention is deemed by the owners of the building. The matter is expected to be decided within a comparatively short time.

The annual report of the Allis-Chalmers company is expected to show some earnings on the preferred stock. However, dividends are not in sight, though it is reported the company has booked business for one year ahead.

President J. B. Forgan of the First National bank has sent word he will be back at the bank next Monday.

General Financial News.

The Sinaloa and Durango Development company of Millbrook, Dutchess county, has been incorporated at Albany, N. Y., to take over the business of the Miller & Sibley Mining and Smelting company and the Gurney Mining and Smelting company, operating in Mexico. The capital is $2,000,000, and the directors are: Kenneth K. McLaren, John R. Turner, D. Stafford Mantz, Louis D. Dailey, James H. Woods, Tracy S. Buckingham, and L. H. Gunther of New York.

The American Cereal company has leased several mills in Illinois with a total capacity of 800 bushels per day to supply the output cut off by the burning of the company's plant at Cedar Rapids.

The Pittsburg Coal company is to have a rival in the Pittsburg-Buffalo company, a concern organized to develop 15,000 acres of coal lands in Washington county. It is proposed to open eight mines, and work on railroad extensions through the property of the company will begin at once.

According to the statement of the receivers the receipts and expenditures of the Kirby Lumber company for the month of July were as follows: Balance, July 1, 1905, $43,672. Receipts for July, $380,731. Total, $424,403. Disbursements for July were $338,484, leaving a balance of $85,919.

It is reported the Iroquois Furnace company at South Chicago will build another blast furnace, to cost $1,000,000. The furnace will have a capacity in excess of 300 tons daily, making the total pig iron output at the Iroquois furnaces over 600 tons a day. It will require a year to build the plant.

The Kansas Natural Gas company, one of the T. N. Barsdall interests, has purchased the People's Gas company of Coffeyville, Kas., the consideration being in excess of $1,000,000. The Kansas Natural Gas company is a Delaware corporation, with a capital stock of $12,000,000, and was admitted into Kansas to do business after a fight in the courts.

Changes in Steel Foundries.

It is reported from New York that when the directors of the American Steel Foundries meet in the near future a change in the list of officers is likely to be made. It is expected that Vice Presidents George B. Leighton and W. D. Sargent will tender their resignations and will be replaced by men selected by W. V. Kelley, who was recently elected president of the company. Mr. Kelley, who succeeded Charles Miller, has already made changes in various departments. The company is reported to be doing a good business.

Oppose Use of Trading Stamps.

At the convention of retail merchants of Pennsylvania, held at Philadelphia, practically without exception the use of trading stamps was condemned in the reports of local associations. Delegates making reports told how that form of premium business had either been driven out of their towns or was being rapidly eliminated.

IN THE BOSTON MONEY MARKET.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Boston coppers were not as active as on Thursday and were influenced by conditions in New York, but local trading was above the average. Amalgamated was the leader. Most coppers were down a fraction. Union Pacific and the steels were in demand at a recession. Call loans, 2½@3 per cent. Time loans, collateral, 3¾@4½ per cent. Time loans, mercantile paper, 4¼@4½ per cent. Clearing house loans, 2 per cent.

IN FOREIGN MONEY MARKETS.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Money today was in better demand, but with a hardening tendency, which similarly affected discounts. The stock exchange was less cheerful. Consols eased at the close. Americans yielded to selling pressure and closed weak. Japanese and Russian securities weakened on profit taking and on unfavorable news from Portsmouth. The former steadied later. Copper shares were strong in sympathy with metal market.

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—All departments of the boerse today operated hesitatingly. The weekly statement of the Imperial Bank of Germany shows the following changes:

	Marks.
Cash in hand, increased	25,000,000
Treasury notes, decreased	120,000
Other securities, decreased	9,560,000
Notes in circulation, decreased	20,160,000

PARIS, Aug. 25.—The bourse today opened firm, but under the influence of contradictory news from Portsmouth soon showed hesitation. There were some realizations. Russian securities were erratic. Bonds of 1904 gained a franc, while 4s of 1901 declined slightly. The market became steady and firm towards the close. Russian imperial 4s were quoted at 89.20 and Russian bonds of 1904 at 508.

A SNAP IN Zinc Mining
Zinc ore is now bringing over $55 a ton. Consumption exceeds production. Legitimate mining in this field is yielding enormous profits. We have just proven up a prospect that will earn from $600 to $1,000 a week when opened up. Cost of this work, including mill, will be from $10,000 to $12,000. We will sell the prospect for $6,000, or give a two-thirds interest to parties who will develop it. Can be put on dividend basis in about four months. Particulars to responsible parties.

PROPOSALS FOR CLOTHING AND EQUIPAGE—Chief Quartermaster's Office, Federal Building, Chicago, Ill., August 18, 1905. Sealed proposals, in triplicate, subject to the usual conditions, will be received at this office until 12 o'clock M., September 18, 1905, and at that hour opened for furnishing and delivering at either the Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, Boston, or New York depots of the Quartermaster's Department, U. S. Army, free of drayage and securely packed for shipment, the following articles of Clothing, Equipage, and Materials, they being the same for which bids will be opened at each of the depots above named, viz.: 5,000 Barrack Chairs. At either the Chicago, St. Louis, Philadelphia, or Boston depots, of 10,000 iron bedsteads, single, and 5,000 bedstead casters, extra, they being the same for which bids will be opened at each of the depots above named. At either the Chicago, St. Louis, San Francisco, Philadelphia, New York, or Boston depots, of 5,000 pairs of Gymnasium Shoes, they being the same for which bids will be opened at each of the depots above named. All articles must conform to existing standard samples and specifications. Standard samples can be seen at this office and specifications obtained here. Quantities specified are subject to increase of 20 per cent if desired by the Department. Both early commencement and completion of deliveries are absolutely essential, and bidders must state how soon they can commence delivery, and the rate per day and week until final completion of contract, including also the 20 per cent increase of same, if required. The Government reserves the right to reject or accept any or all proposals or any part thereof, as the interests of the service may require. A GUARANTEE in 10 per cent of the value of the articles bid for must accompany each proposal. Certified check will be accepted in lieu of written guaranty. UNGUARANTEED bids, bids based upon samples differing from standards or specifications, or bids for delivery at places other than specified above will not be considered. Preference will be given to articles of domestic production or manufacture, conditions of quality and price (including in the price of foreign productions or manufactures the duty thereon) being equal. Bidders, or their representatives, are invited to be present. Bidders are warned against collusion for maintaining prices. Bids upon less quantities than advertised for will be considered. Bids received after the hour set for opening will not be considered. Blanks for proposal and full information will be furnished upon application to this office. Envelopes containing proposals to be endorsed "Proposals for Clothing and Equipage to be opened at 12 o'clock M., September 18, 1905." M. C. MARTIN, Chief Quartermaster, U. S. Army.

PROPOSALS FOR PURCHASE OF INDIAN Timber, Department of the Interior, U. S. Indian Service, White Earth, Minn., August 14, 1905. Sealed proposals, plainly endorsed on the outside of the envelope "Proposals for the purchase of timber on the allotted lands of the White Earth Diminished reservation," and addressed to the U. S. Indian Agent, White Earth Agency, White Earth, Minnesota, will be received until 12 o'clock noon, Central Time, Tuesday, September 5, 1905, for the purchase of stumpage of ALL THE MERCHANTABLE timber of the kinds or classes hereinafter mentioned, standing or fallen, on the lands that have heretofore or may hereafter be allotted to Indians of the White Earth Diminished reservation. It is estimated that there are 90,000,000 feet of white pine, 80,000,000 feet of Norway pine, 20,000,000 feet of jack pine, 35,000,000 feet of oak, 20,000,000 feet of elm, 15,000,000 feet of basswood, 10,000,000 feet of maple, and 5,000,000 feet of ash on the lands of the said diminished reservation. Each proposal must cover all of the classes above mentioned. Proposals for the timber should be at a rate per thousand feet. Any proposal not covering all of the classes mentioned will not be considered, and the successful bidder will be required to comply in every particular with the rules and regulations approved by the Secretary of the Interior on August 7, 1905, prescribed in accordance with the provisions of the Act of April 21, 1904 (33 Stats., 189-209), to govern the sale and cutting of timber on said allotted lands, and each and every bidder must enclose with his bid as evidence of good faith, a certified check on some solvent national bank, in the sum of $2,500, payable to the U. S. Indian Agent, White Earth Agency. If the successful bidder fails, neglects, or refuses to comply with the terms of his bid to furnish within a reasonable time from date of notice of its acceptance, or to furnish sufficient bond in a sum to be fixed by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs guaranteeing faithful compliance with the terms and conditions of such contracts as may thereafter be entered into by such successful bidder with the allottees of said reservation, the check deposited as evidence of good faith will be forfeited to use and benefit of the allottees of the White Earth Diminished reservation, Minnesota. The right to reject any and all bids is reserved. For full information, including a copy of the regulations, apply to the undersigned. SIMON MICHELET, U. S. Indian Agent.

PROPOSALS FOR MATERIALS. Department of the Interior, U. S. Indian Service, Crow Creek Agency, South Dakota, August 21, 1905. SEALED PROPOSALS endorsed "PROPOSALS FOR BUILDING MATERIALS" and addressed to the undersigned at Crowcreek, South Dakota, will be received at this agency until one o'clock p. m. of September 19, 1905, for furnishing and delivering about 145,900 feet of assorted lumber, 250,000 shingles, 11,650 pounds nails, assorted, 15,000 pounds building paper, 20,000 brick, 6,250 pounds white lead, 112,500 lath, 300 barrels lime, oil, paint, hardware, etc., a full description of which can be obtained from the undersigned. Bidders will state specifically in their bids the price of each article to be offered under contract. All articles so offered will be subject to rigid inspection. The right is reserved to reject any or all bids, or any part of any bid if deemed for the best interests of the service. Each bid must be accompanied by a certified check or draft upon some United States depository or solvent national bank, made payable to the order of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, for at least 5% of the amount of the proposal, which check or draft shall be forfeited to the United States in case a bidder receiving an award shall fail to execute promptly a satisfactory contract in accordance with his bid; otherwise to be returned to bidder. Bids accompanied by cash in lieu of certified check will not be considered. For further information apply to H. D. Chamberlain, U. S. Indian Agent, Crowcreek, S. D.

Office, Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C., August 23, 1905. Sealed proposals, in triplicate, will be received at the office of the General Purchasing Officer, Isthmian Canal Commission, Washington, D. C., until 10:30 A. M., September 22, 1905, at which time they will be opened in public, for furnishing the above mentioned articles. Blanks and full information may be obtained from this office or the offices of the Assistant Purchasing Agents, 24 State Street, New York City; Custom House, New Orleans, La.; 36 New Montgomery street, San Francisco, Cal.; and 410 Chamber of Commerce Building, Tacoma, Wash., also from Chief Quartermaster, Department of the Lakes, Chicago, and the Commercial Club, Mobile, Ala.—D. W. Ross, General Purchasing Officer.

TRADE OUTLOOK IS GOOD.

DUN & CO. FIND THE CONDITIONS ARE ENCOURAGING.

Business in the Chicago District Generally Reflects Well Sustained Volume and Further Strengthening in Leading Manufactures and Distribution—Primary Markets Are Well Attended—Purchasing Power Seen to Be Advancing.

The weekly review of trade in the Chicago district published by the R. G. Dun & Co. mercantile agency, will say:

Business generally reflects well sustained volume and further strengthening in leading manufactures and distribution. New demands lay more pressure upon iron and steel facilities. Rolling stock is in sharp demand, and jobbing branches in staple wares are increasingly active with an enlarged buying of fall and winter necessaries. Advices from the interior maintain an encouraging tone, based upon excellent agricultural conditions and heavy consumption of goods. The purchasing power is seen to be advancing, and the best indications prevail as to the immediate course of trade.

Primary markets have been well attended and transactions are of good character in the principal foodstuffs, prices being only in two commodities lower than last week. Railroad traffic is unusually high in both freight and travel, and earnings of Chicago roads show steady gains. Iron ore shipments were resumed after a short interruption, and with the transportation of grain, forest products, fuel, and general merchandise, lake carrying exceeds all previous experience.

Wheat Receipts Are Lighter.

Lighter receipts of wheat and smaller outgo of corn account for a decline in the total quantity of grain handled at this port, but, notwithstanding this, the showing is large, 11,121,490 bushels, comparing with 13,171,757 bushels last week and 9,250,984 bushels a year ago. Other receipts were heavier in wool, dressed beef, flour, butter, and cheese, and lower in cattle, sheep, and eggs. Receipts of lumber were 57,796,000 feet, against 47,908,000 feet last week and 35,413,000 feet a year ago.

Leather sales were of good volume, the demand being well distributed. Shoe factories booked additional contracts for future output, and capacity is engaged well ahead, prices being more equitably based upon increased cost of material. Other leather consumers report satisfactory orders coming forward, particularly for belting and specialties.

Activity on Board of Trade.

Board of trade operations reached a considerable aggregate and in view of recent heavy marketing quotations held up surprisingly well in the breadstuffs division. Receipts of grain, 7,011,351 bu, compared with 5,510,261 bu a year ago, an increase of 27 per cent. Shipments were 4,110,139 bu, against 3,740,723 bu, a gain of 9.9 per cent. The domestic demand for flour and provisions became stronger and sales for September shipment were large. Live stock receipts, 271,882 head, compared with 231,691 head last week and 265,374 head a year ago. The market made distinct improvement in the absorption of choice beeves.

Bank clearings, $171,400,030, exceed those of the corresponding week last year by 10.1 per cent.

Failures reported in the Chicago district were 15, against 20 last week and 28 a year ago.

Fall Trade May Break Record.

New York, Aug. 25.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade tomorrow will say:

"Distribution of autumn merchandise is in progress unusually early this year, and the volume of forward business is so heavy that the last half of 1905 promises to establish a remarkable record of commercial activity. Current retail trade is well maintained, and there is little complaint regarding collections. More labor disputes have reached settlement and no serious controversies are threatened.

"With scarcely an exception plants are working close to full capacity, with little idle machinery, except where alterations or improvements are in progress, and contracts on hand far exceed those held at this date in 1904. Encouraging crop prospects provide a large share of the good feeling.

"Failures this week numbered 190 in the United States, against 150 last year, and 27 in Canada, compared with 30 a year ago."

Activity in All Lines.

Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

"Dry goods of all kinds, but especially cotton fabrics, are in active sale, with buyers eager to secure supplies. Shoes, millinery, hats, clothing, and hardware are relatively active, and groceries show improvement at most markets. House trade is in larger volume at all larger centers west and east, stimulated by excursions at low rates."

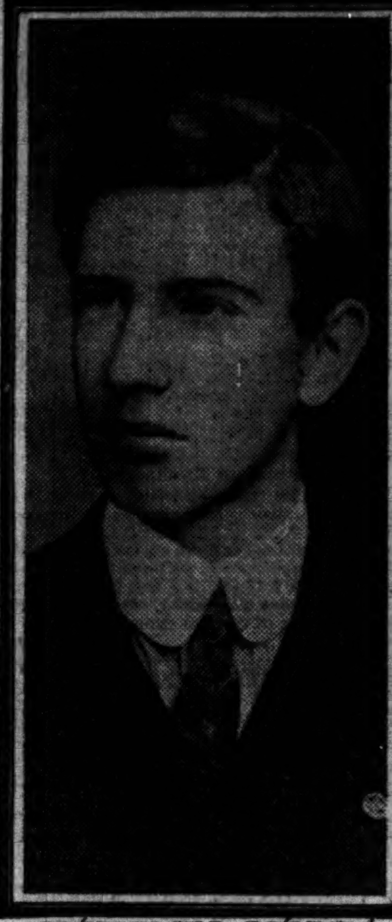

Bank Clearings of the Week.

The following table, compiled by Bradstreet, shows the bank clearings at the principal cities for the week ended Aug. 24, with the percentage of increase and decrease as compared with the corresponding week last year:

Loses His Own Life to Save a Woman.

BENJAMIN DENNIS

The funeral of Benjamin Dennis, 18 years old, 929 Courtland street, who was drowned last Tuesday at Pine Glen farm, Wisconsin, was held yesterday. He was the son of Dr. E. J. Dennis, and lost his life in attempting to rescue a servant of the family, Sophia Bloomgren, who had gone beyond her depth while bathing in a river. The girl also was drowned.

WHISKY FLOATS ON THE RIVER.

Barrels of Liquor and Baby Carriages Are Set Adrift by Sinking of Lighter.

Wharf rats and river boatmen reaped a rich harvest yesterday when packges of groceries, furniture, and merchandise of all descriptions were borne along by the current toward the drainage canal, following the sinking of lighter No. 2 of the Merchants' Lighterage line just below Rush street bridge early in the morning. All during the day a more or less steady stream of valuable goods, ranging from barrels of whisky to baby carriages, floated up the river.

The barge, in tow of the tug Sill, had just passed through the draw of Rush street bridge when it began to list to one side. Many longshoremen were on the boat, and as they felt it sinking beneath them they added their howls to the screaming of the tug's distress signals.

The wreck is believed to have been caused by the overloading of the lighter, and the loss is estimated at from $10,000 to $15,000.

BOY VANDALS WORK RUIN.

CITY PAYS $10,000 A YEAR FOR SCHOOL WINDOWS.

Architect Perkins Says It Would Cost Less to Hire Detectives to Watch Buildings than the Amount Paid to Replace Broken Panes of Glass—Trouble with Metal Lathers' Union—Speculation Concerning Membership of New Committees.

At the meeting of the buildings and grounds committee of the board of education yesterday it developed that it costs Chicago $10,000 a year to replace glass of school windows broken by mischievous boys and other persons. Architect D. H. Perkins suggested that the board would save money by hiring a force of detectives to watch the schools.

The parents of a youth charged with breaking windows appeared in the committee room to protest that their son had not broken the glass. The boy said he could furnish the names of two boys who had deliberately thrown stones through the windows of the Horace Greeley school.

Trouble with Labor Union.

Architect Perkins informed the committee that the work of constructing the Altgeld school has been interfered with by the action of the Metal Lathers' union. It appears that the "T" irons on which the metal lath is placed were set by members of the Bridge and Structural Iron Setters union, although there was no agreement between the unions that the lathers should do all the work. The lathers notified Mr. Perkins that all the lathing now in place must be torn down and the "T" irons placed by the lathers' union or they would not continue with the work. The matter was referred to Mr. Perkins and Trustee Harding, the latter labor's representative on the board.

Trustees Duddleston and Well offered a report recommending that the property at Robey and Polk streets, in the Potter Palmer subdivision, be purchased as a site for a school for crippled children. The property is valued at $25,000.

Gossip of New Committees.

It was reported that Miss Jane Addams will be appointed chairman of the school management committee by President Tilden at the board meeting next Wednesday night. Miss Addams is regarded as one of the few members of the board who are in a position to conciliate all the opposing factions. Friends of Dr. E. C. Dudley, who nominated Mr. Tilden for president and who was regarded as the member most likely to be named for the post, still persist that their candidate will be decided upon. The new school management committee, it is said, will consist of Miss Jane Addams, E. C. Dudley, R. A. White, P. Shelley O'Ryan, Mrs. W. C. H. Keough, Dr. Cornelia De Bey, Mrs. Blaine, E. F. Rowland, M. J. Spiegel, and Charles O. Sethness.

It is conceded that Charles A. Plamondon will be made chairman of the buildings and grounds committee and that the other members of the committee will be Trustees Chvatal, Kuflewski, Fetzer, Shields, Hayes, Duddleston, Well, Harding, and Ritter.

The chairman of the finance committee, it is said, will be John C. Fetzer. In addition to the president, who is a member ex-officio of the committee, Dr. J. F. Chvatal will serve with Fetzer.

I HAVE NO FREE PROPOSITION, CHEAP OR TRIAL TREATMENTS, no pay-until-cured catches, or similar devices to sell medicines, belts, etc. An honest doctor of recognized ability does not resort to such methods. My education, my experience, my reputation condemn all such quackery. I will make you no false promise as to curing your case in a short time, knowing it will take longer, as I promise nothing but what I can do, and always do what I promise. I cure the cases that others cannot cure.

I guarantee a COMPLETE, SAFE and LASTING CURE in the QUICKEST POSSIBLE TIME, without leaving injurious after effects in the system and at the lowest cost possible for HONEST, SKILLFUL and SUCCESSFUL TREATMENT. I cure

CUTICURA GROWS HAIR

ONE CAKE OF CUTICURA SOAP

A. W. Taft of Independence, Va., writing under date of Sept. 15, 1904, says: "I have had falling hair and dandruff for twelve years and could get nothing to help me. Finally I bought one box of Cuticura Ointment and one cake of Cuticura Soap, and they cleared my scalp of the dandruff and stopped the hair falling. Now my hair is growing as well as ever. I am highly pleased with Cuticura Soap as a toilet soap. (signed) A. W. Taft, Independence, Va."
